QUAY INFORMS THE PRESIDENT OF CONDITIONS

Was a Fellow Passenger Part of the Way Over Roosevelt's Route.

PRETTY INCIDENT AT HARRISBURG

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 19.—President Roosevelt's train from Jersey City arrived here at 10:33 p. m. The president, who had not retired, found several thousand people assembled to greet him. They gave him hearty cheers when he appeared on the platform of his car. The president delivered a short speech of thanks for the greeting and was cheered when he concluded.

President Roosevelt left Jersey City at 2:20 this afternoon on his way to Cincinnati, Detroit and the northwest. At the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City a special train consisting of six Pullman cars was waiting.

Senator Quay rode with the president from Trenton to Germantown. The senator discussed the Pennsylvania situation with the president, his talk being supplemental to the conference the president had with Senator Hanna and the other senators at Oyster Bay Tuesday. The senator talked over the political conditions in this state and touched briefly upon the coal strike. He did not, however, intimate that he desired the president to take any steps toward ending it.

At Powelton Junction Commissioner of Immigration Sargent came aboard the train at the president's request and left it at Harrisburg. The president is to deliver an address before the employers and employes convention at Minneapolis next Thursday morning, and desired to consult with Mr. Sargent regarding the labor situation in the northwest.

The presidential special reached Harrisburg at 7:10, and after a five-minute stop, pulled out for Pittsburgh. A large crowd greeted the president at the Capital City and gave him three hearty cheers. He responded with a few words of thanks.

Little Sarah McCullough, the sweet-faced daughter of Democratic City Chairman John N. McCullough, desired a closer view, so her father pushed through the crowd just as the president was saying how much pleased he was with the reception given him. Catching sight of the little girl, his smile lit up brighter than ever, as he waved his hat to her and cried:

"Hello, there, pettie," and turning to the crowd, he said: "I have a great collection of those at home, myself."

Practically all of the Harrisburg police force was at the station, half of them being in citizens' clothes. Every precaution was taken to prevent disorder.

President Roosevelt and his party passed through Pittsburgh this morning. Engine No. 2015 pulled the eight coaches of the president's special into the Union station just two minutes after the scheduled time, it was 1:32 when the train arrived, and it departed for Cincinnati just a few seconds past 2 o'clock.

President Roosevelt slept while the train lay at the Union station. He retired shortly after 11 o'clock after reading several magazines and smoking a cigar.

There was a large number of detectives and police at the station to watch the train while it was here. When it stopped a number of secret service men immediately surrounded the president's coach, the Colonial. The train will be guided to Cincinnati by Engineer Patrick Hardigan and Conductor William Johnson. M. F. Bradley, superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad police, will look after the president's safety as far as Toledo, O.

BELGIAN QUEEN DIES SUDDENLY AT HER DINNER

WAS AN INVALID FOR THREE YEARS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Spa, Belgium, Sept. 19.—Marie Henriette, queen of the Belgians, died here suddenly tonight at 7:50 o'clock. Neither her husband, members of her family nor her doctors were present at the time.

She was seated at a table, eating a light dinner, when she was seized with an attack of syncope. Dr. Guillaume, who in the course of the day had remarked upon certain disquieting symptoms in the queen's condition, was summoned immediately, but the queen was dead before he arrived. Two members of her suite were with her during her last moments.

King Leopold had left Bagneres-de-Luchon, France, for Spa and other members of the royal family have been telegraphed for. M. de Smet de Nayer, the

MARIE HENRIETTE,
The Dead Queen of the Belgians.

Belgian premier, will arrive here tomorrow.

Queen Marie Henriette was a daughter of the late Archduke Joseph of Austria. She was born August 23, 1836, and was married August 22, 1853, to Prince Leopold of Belgium, son of King Leopold I., who ascended the throne at the death of his father as Leopold II., December 10, 1865.

The queen was noted for her piety and charity, and, in recognition of her devotion to the church, the pope sent her about nine years ago a notable token of his high esteem in the form of the Golden Rose of Virtue.

The queen was also a noted horsewoman. She had been ill for about three years past of a malady of the heart, and in recent months her condition had been so serious that little hope of her recovery was entertained.

THE REV. J. J. BEACOM DEAD.

Noted Devine Passes Away at Coraopolis Home.

The Rev. John J. Beacom, treasurer of the board of freedmen, died at 11:15 o'clock last night at his home in Coraopolis, aged 66 years. Mr. Beacom two years ago suffered a stroke of paralysis and since that time had been incapacitated from active work in his office. He is survived by his wife and two children, Frank H. Beacom, clerk in the local internal revenue office, and Miss Mary Violet Beacom, who resides with her parents. Mr. Beacom was born near Murraysville, Westmoreland county. His first pastorate was in the Mingo Presbyterian congregation in Washington county. He afterward occupied the pulpits of the Montour and Forest Grove churches jointly, and on relinquishing charge of the work at Montour was pastor of the Forest Grove church for 25 years. Six years ago he was elected on the freedman's board. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

EIGHTY KILLED IN A PANIC IN NEGRO CHURCH

Fight Started Stampede and Victims Were Crushed Dead.

MANY OTHERS WERE INJURED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 19.—In an awful crush of humanity, caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Negro Baptist church at Avenue G and Eighteenth street tonight at least 80 persons were killed and as many more seriously injured. The catastrophe occurred at 9 o'clock, just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the national convention of Baptists, and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction, and the ambulance service of the city was utterly incapacitated to move them until after midnight.

Dozens of dead bodies were arranged in rows on the ground outside the church, awaiting removal to the various undertaking establishments, while more than a score were laid out on the benches inside.

The church is the largest for negroes in Birmingham, and the pastor says that at least 2,000 persons were in the building when the stampede began. Instructions had been issued to allow no more to enter, but the negroes forced their way inside the building, and were standing in every aisle, even the entrance to the church being literally packed.

Fight Started the Panic.

Just as Booker T. Washington concluded his address, Judge Billou, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in an altercation with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat, and, it is said, a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried, "They're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire," the congregation rose en masse and started for the doors. One of the ministers quickly mounted the rostrum and urged the people to keep quiet. He repeated the word "quiet" several times and motioned his hearers to be seated. The excited congregation mistook the word "quiet" for "fire" and renewed the struggle to reach the doors. Men and women crawled over benches, fought their way into the aisles and those who had fallen were trampled upon.

The ministers tried again and again to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass of humanity. The screams of women and children added to the horror, and through mere fright many persons fainted, and as they fell to the floor were crushed to death.

Negroes who had reached the top of the steps were pushed violently forward and many fell. Before they could move others fell upon them and in 15 minutes persons were piled upon each other to a height of 10 feet. This mass of struggling humanity blocked the entrance and

LACK OF WATER CAUSES DAMAGE TO WIRE PLANT

LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT $100,000

Fire damaged the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, South Eighth and Ninth streets, last night to the extent of about $100,000. The blaze was started about 9:40 o'clock by the explosion of a lantern carried by Michael Schmutzer, night watchman at the plant, whose hands, face and arms were burned by the explosion and in fighting the flames at the beginning of the fire.

The portion of the plant destroyed consisted of the barb-wire department, a three-story brick building, the warehouse, a wooden building covered with sheet iron and a small stable. Each of these was totally destroyed. In addition, the rod mill at the northeast corner of the plant and another warehouse were damaged by the flames, which were, however, extinguished in time to save these buildings from total destruction.

It was only with the greatest difficulty that the fire was kept within the one block and the portion of the plant where it originated. The flames shot high and the doors being saturated with oil burned like straw. All the surrounding buildings were soaked to prevent their ignition.

There was a great scarcity of water and at times the streams of water were not thrown over 10 feet. In the part of the mill nearest South Ninth street it became impossible to get a good stream and the firemen were compelled to get along as best they could with little or no pressure. The blame is on the Monongahela Water Company, which supplies the South Side with water.

Volunteers Good Work.

The first stream put on the fire was from factory F of the United States Glass Company, which is just across Bingham street from the wire plant. Three lines of hose were put in service from the water pump of that company, the workmen leaving their tasks for this purpose. They did most efficient work.

In less than half an hour from the time the fire started the blaze had spread all over the block occupied by the plant, between the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie tracks and Bingham street and South Eighth and Ninth streets.

Two tanks of sulphuric acid were stored on the tracks of the Whitehall branch of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad, adjoining the plant. The switching crews, seeing the danger from the fire reaching these tanks, succeeded in moving them from beneath the flames.

The whistle of one of the engines in the burning buildings began to blow just at the time when a big crowd had gathered to witness the fire, and the shout was set up that an explosion would follow.

The effect on the people was instantaneous, hundreds of them making a quick rush for cover. The only explosions that actually occurred were of a few barrels of oil in the barbed wire factory.

PENNYPACKER GIVEN CORDIAL WELCOME BY ENTHUSIASTIC ALLEGHENY REPUBLICANS

Splendid Mass Meeting at Old City Hall Last Night Marked Opening of Campaign in Pittsburgh—Pennypacker, Penrose, Littlefield, Smith and Burke Speakers.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA DREW SOME SHARP AND PERTINENT CONTRASTS

With one exception the arrival, reception and entertainment of Judge Pennypacker and those accompanying him took place as planned. The exception was due to Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose, who upset one phase of the arrangements made for their comfort. They did not go to a fashionable club when they got into the city, but registered at a hotel.

It had been heralded that Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose would go to the Duquesne club. This arrangement had been made by County Chairman Robertson, the object being, as he explained, to give the guests an opportunity to rest after their journey.

A half hour before their arrival their names were put on the Hotel Duquesne register with the legend following, "To be here at 2:30 p. m.," and it leaked out that the distinguished guests had made it plainly understood to Chairman Robertson and others who were looking after the local arrangements that they preferred a less exclusive resort than the Duquesne club; that they wanted to be where every Republican would feel free to call and see them if he felt so inclined. That their resolution was well taken was demonstrated by the afternoon's developments. After they had refreshed themselves the doors of their rooms were thrown open and a steady stream of callers filed in and out.

Pennypacker Got Hearty Greeting.

While the judge and the senator were coming up from New Castle Congressman Littlefield was speeding toward Pittsburgh from Boston. The Pennypacker party arrived at the Union station and Mr. Littlefield came in on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at the same time. Recorder Brown and Chairman Robertson were waiting at Union station with a carriage for Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose. There was quite a crowd at the station when the train pulled in and a cheer was raised as the distinguished party stepped into the carriage. The ride to the Hotel Duquesne was uneventful, except that many citizens recognized Judge Pennypacker and waved their hands and lifted their hats to him.

Just as the carriage drew up at the Hotel Duquesne the carriage containing Congressman Littlefield and the committee that had met him, Robert Ostermaier, delinquent tax collector and secretary of the city committee, and Coroner McGeary came up Smithfield street and also stopped at the Hotel Duquesne.

Several prominent politicians were on hand to meet the Republican party's guests. There was a brief interchange of civilities before Judge Pennypacker and Senator Penrose retired to their rooms, while Mr. Littlefield, accompanied by Chairman Robertson, went to the Duquesne club, where rooms had been taken for him. At 7:30 o'clock last evening, just before the distinguished guests started for Old City hall, they were joined by ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, who came over the Pennsylvania railroad from Philadelphia.

Interest Shown in Littlefield.

Much interest was manifested in Congressman Littlefield. When asked if he was a candidate for speaker of the next house of representatives, he said:

"If Speaker Henderson is not in the next congress I expect to be a candidate for speaker. However, that is not the question that is engaging my attention just now. At the present time I am helping to elect a Republican house."

It was shortly after 3 o'clock when Judge Pennypacker, Senator Penrose and Congressman Littlefield were ready for calls. Recorder Brown presented the visitors. For two hours there was a steady stream of callers. Judge Pennypacker has the happy faculty of making friends of all he meets and those who met him were delighted with his manner and his hearty hand grip. Senator Penrose already knew a good many of the visitors and occasionally presented acquaintances to the judge. At 6 o'clock Chairman Robertson led the party to dinner and after that the guests were ready for the evening's work.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM SHOWN ON STREETS

Great Crowds Thronged Route of Parade and Gave Cordial Greeting to the Popular Candidates.

That the grand old party's campaign of 1902 was being opened in Pittsburgh in glorious fashion was apparent throughout the entire downtown portion of the city last night. Voters gathered from all parts of Western Pennsylvania to participate in the demonstration, and the street scenes early in the evening recalled other tremendous gatherings in the historic building in Market street, where the voices of some of the Republican party's most famous sons had been heard. Old City hall was too small to accommodate all who desired to hear the expounding of Republican principles. The thoroughfares along the line of the parade were thronged by those who gathered to cheer the candidates and to absorb enthusiasm to be used in stock later on in the campaign.

There was no attempt at a street demonstration aside from the escort to the speakers from their hotel, and a delegation of South Siders, headed by a band and carrying banners and transparencies suggesting the candidacy of Dr. A. J. Barchfeld for congress. Those who wanted to witness the arrival of the paraders missed obtaining an entrance to the hall, and it was with difficulty that theh speakers gained an entrance to the stage.

The Americus club and the Young Men's Republican Tariff club acted as an escort to the speakers. The route to the hall was short. The interior of the hall, especially the stage, was prettily decorated with the national colors.

Red fire and martial music, the prime elements of a good, robust political demonstration, were not lacking. Dr. Barchfeld did not get an opportunity to speak at the meeting, but his sentiments were voiced on the banners which were carried in the Barchfeld club. One of the legends carried by his shouters ran thus: "The only candidate for congress the South Side ever had."

SALISBURY'S ILLNESS.

The Marquis Says It Is Not Sufficiently Serious to Require His Kinsfolk's Presence.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Lord Salisbury has telegraphed here that his indisposition is not sufficiently serious to warrant the members of his family going to Lucerne.

Lucerne advices today said Lord Salisbury is confined to his room owing to a chill and a slight attack of gout. He probably will be unable to travel for a fortnight, but it is said there is no cause for anxiety. Other dispatches received here, however, say Lord Salisbury's illness is worse than the Lucerne report indicated, although his friends do not consider his case exceptionally grave.

REPUBLICANS AROUSED.

John P. Elkin Says Sentiment Is For State Ticket.

Attorney General John P. Elkin came to Pittsburgh last night on business and stopped at the Hotel Duquesne. Mr. Elkin had just come down from Clearfield county, where he addressed the annual reunion of Clearfield county's old soldiers at the Cherry Run camp meeting grounds.

Nearly 10,000 people were present. Elkin opened the Republican campaign in Clearfield county at Dubois on Thursday night. He said it was a large and an enthusiastic meeting. In his travels through the state, Mr. Elkin said, he had found the sentiment for the Republican state ticket enthusiastic.

The "State of Allegheny" last night again demonstrated its unswerving loyalty and allegiance to the Republican party, it voiced with irresistible force the promise that, no matter how wide and how serious local divisions may be, the people of Pittsburgh realize the importance of, and are determined to support, those policies which have produced the greatest era of commercial and industrial prosperity in all history.

It was a splendid audience, numerically speaking, that welcomed Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican candidate for governor, on this, his first visit to Pittsburgh. Old City hall was filled to its limit. It is safe to assume that the audience was one of Republicans; it would not be fair to say that it was peculiarly representative of either faction now contending for local supremacy. The enthusiasm was in keeping with local traditions, and Judge Pennypacker, Senator Boies Penrose, Congressman C. E. Littlefield and ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith were met with a welcome cordial and satisfying.

Pennypacker Wins Confidence.

National, state and local issues were in turn given eloquent attention. Chairman Clarence Burleigh, always aggressive and forceful, made pungent reference to local ills, as diagnosed by himself, and then threw impressive energy into an eulogistic introduction of Judge Pennypacker, "the next governor of the keystone state."

At first sight the "defender of the commonwealth" won the confidence of his listeners. His personality, his rugged simplicity, his honest directness of appeal went home, and the audience, regardless of individual impression, felt that every word uttered by the Republican gubernatorial nominee was based on honest belief, and the product of personal sincerity.

Probably the most striking reference Judge Pennypacker made was to the municipal charter bill for cities of the second class, enacted by the last legislature. This measure the judge did not commend, basing his disapproval on the ground of violation of the general principles which should govern municipal government.

It was evident that the audience did not follow him in this part of the speech. There were a few cheers and some manifestation of assent, but the great majority listened in silence.

Benefits of Republicanism.

As the speaker traced the rapid commercial progress of Pittsburgh—and no one is more familiar with the story than the eminent jurist—he was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause. Graphically, and with unmistakable clearness, he emphasized the debt owed the Republican party by the people of this county. Its progress and matchless commercial advancement, he said, were the exemplars of Republican principles. That a halt should be had, by reason of political apathy, resulting in a change of national administration, would, in his opinion, be a commercial calamity which a generation would feel.

Senator Penrose was never in better form, and he made telling points in dealing with the issues of the hour. His explanation of the labor legislation enacted by the Republican party, national and state, presented an argument unanswerable from any standpoint. There were few contrasts for the reason that the legislative and congressional records contain no laws prompted and enacted by Democratic administrations. Meeting the personal attacks of Robert E. Pattison, Democratic candidate for governor, Senator Penrose called attention to the statement of the former governor, who is quoted as saying:

"If I am elected governor, there are no acts of mine, during my two terms as governor, which I would undo or change in any particular."

Penrose's Caustic Comment.

Senator Penrose said he had no comment to pass upon a man who openly admitted that he had not improved or advanced in a period of eight years. He thought that, in an age of such rapid mental evolution, it was incredible that any man should remain intellectually at a standstill. The audience indorsed the thought in no unmistakable manner.

The demonstration which greeted the appearance of James Francis Burke, although of machine-made quality, was quite imposing, and was a feature of the evening. It led up to a pronounced factional speech. His speech, as given out in advance, was chiefly devoted to national issues, but that which he delivered was designed for the gratification of the adherents of the local machine. The stock phrases by which the Citizens party is disparged were worked up with all possible rhetorical effect.

Prosperity-Ridden Pittsburgh's Debt.

Congressman Littlefield of Maine, who followed Mr. Burke, bluntly announced that he knew nothing and cared nothing about local dissensions; that the Republican party, nationally, knew and cared nothing, but that it demanded the discharge of the debt owed by prosperity-ridden Pittsburgh to the Republican party.

Ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, for the first time in years, spoke in Pittsburgh under the auspices of the Republican state committee. His argument was the characteristic effort of the man, a clean, clear-cut, comprehensive analysis of the issues as viewed by one who has personally been in touch with the wonderful progress of the country since William McKinley took the helm in 1897.

CHEERS FROM THE START.

Even in Routine Preliminaries Enthusiasm Broke Out—What Robertson and Burleigh Said.

It was considerably after 8 o'clock when County Chairman A. C. Robertson called the big meeting to order. When the distinguished men who were to address the gathering filed in on the stage the great audience rose to its feet and cheered and yelled time and again. Even this roaring form of enthusiasm was too mild for some of those on the stage and they jumped upon their chairs and continued the wild demonstration until Chairman Robertson came forward and requested silence.

The members of the Young Men's Republican club at this juncture marched up the middle aisle of the hall and doffed their silk hats to the celebrities on the stage. The clubmen found no seats awaiting them and were obliged to stand throughout the evening.

Keynotes Were on Business.

A score of banners and placards setting forth some of the keynotes of the campaign were carried forward and displayed for a brief time from the front of the hall. Many of the legends on the banners excited applause.

After the cheering had continued several minutes and the band had rendered an appropriate selection Chairman Robertson came forward and said:

"In calling this magnificent meeting to order I desire to announce the names of 2,000 visiting Republicans. They are selected, gentlemen, not as one of the Pittsburgh newspapers said this morning, from the city directory, but from the ranks of life-long Republicans of this patriotic community—men who have been recognized as stanch Republicans throughout their lives. (Prolonged cheering.) The chairman of this meeting needs no introduction to a Pittsburgh audience. I take pleasure in presenting to you our fellow-townsman, Clarence Burleigh, Esq."

This offered another opportunity for cheering and the audience did not fail to take up the cue.

Burleigh Makes Predictions.

Mr. Burleigh, in taking the chair, said:

"The honor of presiding at this meeting is most fully appreciated by me, and the best assurance I can give is to immediately announce that I shall make no speech—not even a talk, but only present the prominent and distinguished gentlemen who are to address you.

"This is a Republican meeting, held in the interest of the whole Republican ticket in this great Republican county of Allegheny, and I say to you, without fear of all in my hearing when I say that I hope in spite of all internal and external dissensions and strife within this county, its majority for the Republican party will be even greater than in days of yore; that this wonderful industrial center of ours will still be celebrated for its unswerving allegiance to and its almost unanimous support of all the Republican institutions of this country, and that the Republican candidates will all be elected by majorities so large and so overwhelming as to testify to all the land that here in the State of Allegheny the party of the immortal Abraham Lincoln still reigns and that the grand old principles of Republicanism still lives.

"To demonstrate that this is the fact and that the best government for the people can only be obtained by the continuance of the Republican party in power will be the text of the next speaker, a man who for years has occupied an exalted position upon the bench of this state, who has worn the judicial ermine without stain or reproach, whose learning, ability and integrity are conceded by all; and while one of the morning papers, in indorsing Judges Stowe and Cohen, holds 'that a judge once on the bench should be continued there as long as he lives, regardless of politics, unless he is corrupt or incompetent,' still it is the function of politics to remove this man from the bench he so long ornamented and graced, notwithstanding he is neither corrupt nor incompetent, in order to elevate him to the highest office in this old commonwealth—that of chief magistrate of the Keystone State. I present to you the next governor of the state of Pennsylvania, Samuel W. Pennypacker.

PENNYPACKER TELLS OF REPUBLICAN BENEFITS

Takes Pittsburgh as an Object Lesson—Deplores Results of Late Charter Legislation.

There was another outburst of applause as the next governor of Pennsylvania stepped to the front of the stage and looked over the sea of welcoming faces before him. There was no mistaking the cordiality of the reception tendered Judge Pennypacker and the gratified smile that played over his face testified to his hearty appreciation of it all. Judge Pennypacker spoke in part as follows:

Mr. President and gentlemen: We are all of us more or less creatures of habit. For many years some of my leisure time has been devoted to subjects relating to the early history of Pennsylvania and to the collection of books and manuscripts; some of them very difficult to secure, which have a bearing upon and tend to elucidate these and kindrd topics.

"A nomination for the governorship does not all at once change one's methods of thought and ways of looking at life and I find myself even now, instead of dwelling upon the wars in the Philippines and the woes that affect my native state, fixing my thoughts upon a little book in my library. It is entitled "Pittsburgh in the Year 1826," and was I to believe the earliest serious attempt to give a directory and statistical and descriptive account of the city and its people—building, and resources.

Sharp Contrasts Drawn.

"Only three-fourths of a century have since elapsed and persons who were living then are still alive. The city had a population of 10,515 and had hopes of rivaling even Wheeling. John M. Snowden was then the mayor and he received a salary of $200 per annum. The largest municipal salary was that of Ephraim Penniland, the recorder, who received the munificent annual sum of $600, and among the twelve aldehmen we find the well known name of Charles von Bonnhorst.

"There was no literary institution, no public reading room and no theater save a 'wretched and woe begone edifice in Third street now rarely occupied except by occasional itinerant slight of hand professors and rope dancers.' Filthy streets! Villainous smells, licensed swine and other nuisances were peculiarly the characteristics of Pittsburgh. Attempts had been made to light the streets by placing lamps near the watch boxes, but the improvement had been found too expensive, the boxes were abandoned and the lamps were removed.

What Republicanism Has Done.

"This is a meagre outline of the condition of things which existed in your town in the good old days when the Democratic party controlled the affairs of the state and nation. Now, they have severed connections, become the center of those manufacturing interests which have attained their great proportions under the protection of tariffs enacted by that party. In the production of iron and steel she has come to lead the world. The moneys which have been accumulated from her wells of oil and gas, have been in building up institutions of higher education in Chicago and establishing libraries in many an inland village in Scotland and Ireland.

"The population of Allegheny county has increased in 75 years a hundred fold, and all of the people are busy and prosperous. The employers have become wealthy beyond all expectations and the laborers can always find employment at remunerative wages.

Pennsylvania is Exceptional.

"Some years ago a distinguished judge in the Philadelphia court of common pleas was elevated to the supreme court. There he took his place as the youngest in commission of the seven justices. His learning and intellectual attainments made an impression beyond the ordinary, and upon one occasion Judge Paxson, who was then at the head of the court, said it was the only court of which he had ever heard which had a chief justice at each end of it. There are other states of the nation which have great cities where gather their wealth, business, commerce and industries, cities like Boston, New York, Chicago and Baltimore, but Pennsylvania is exceptional in the fact that both upon her eastern and western limits she had a metropolis. She is the only state great enough for the development of two such potent municipalities.

"Pittsburgh is fortunate in her history. Situated where her two rivers unite to flow onward thousands of miles to the gulf, she became in the colonial era the storm center around which the two most powerful nations of Europe played for the mastery of the continent. About her old fort, upon which the eyes of the greatest of contemporary European statesmen were fixed and to which his name was given, the career of the Virginian who became the father of the American people began. She is fortunate in all of her business relations, in her rapid growth and in the bright promises of her future, that it is no exaggeration to say that the whole world pays tribute to her resources and is compelled to give aid to her development. She has not recently been so fortunate in her municipal affairs which have been rent and torn by the struggles of contending factions. She has caught the attention of those who are quick to blame even where they fail to understand, and her controversies have hurt the fair fame of the commonwealth and have threatened injury to the largest interests of the party and the nation.

Intelligence of the People.

"The fundamental thought in the American system of government is that the people shall be trusted to govern themselves through the agency of the representatives they may see fit to choose to make their laws. It is based upon the assumption that the people have intelligence enough to know what they need in the way of legislation and to select the agents who can be depended upon to carry their wishes into effect. It is Mr. Lincoln's trust in the virtue and sense of the common people expressed in governmental action. Devices which are intended to better public conditions by depriving the people of the power to legislate are essentially monarchical since they assume that he who constructs the device can better regulate public affairs than the people themselves.

"Twice in the recent history of Pennsylvania has the party principles been forgotten and violated, and, as often happens, injuries were inflicted by ill-conceived efforts to secure the correction of what were supposed to be manifest ills and the betterment of affairs. The members of the constitutional convention in 1873, chosen by the people themselves as worthy members of the legislature, getting their inspiration from the same source, and having therefore presumably the same average virtue and wisdom, saw what was generally regarded as an extesting and prevalent evil, the too liberal creation of corporations with grants of franchises and the too frequent interference with the affairs of municipalities. The plan they adopted to cure the ill and embodied in the constitution under the provisions of which we now live was to limit the power of the legislature and therefore of the people to legislate, and it was provided that thereafter no special law should be passed creating a charter or local law affecting a municipality.

Municipal Legislation.

"It was a new thought, which reversed our own methods of 200 years and ignored the experience of England, where for a thousand years parliament has been supreme in the way of legislation without any fatal injuries. It was intended to prevent the passage of an unwise law by saying in effect that no law upon the subject should be passed at all. What has been the practical result? The complications of human affairs are limited and ever increasing. New conditions arose with each passing day which no human mind can foresee. No general law could forecast the future needs. Corporations which otherwise would have been organized in Pennsylvania and then subject to our supervision and control and liable to our system of taxation have been instituted in New Jersey, West Virginia and elsewhere wherever the difficulties could be overcome, and transact much of our important business.

"With respect to the provision concerning legislation affecting municipalities it was seen that the wants of a great city like Philadelphia or Pittsburgh were very different from those of a little inland village and that no general act could be framed that would answer for all of them. The supreme court gave a convenient construction to that clause of the constitution which permitted a classification of cities with respect to legislation. So that one city, Philadelphia, could stand in a class by itself. In the main the result has been to add in an interesting way to our vocabulary, but the end sought to be accomplished has substantially failed.

Rights of the People.

"The second instance of interference with the power of the people to manage their own affairs occurred at the last session of the legislature. There was a prevalent feeling, whether justified or not, that evils existed in the way in which the municipal affairs of the city of Pittsburgh were conducted and that attempts to rectify them by the people of the municipality most interested would be futile. Leaders of both Republicans and Democrats alike an act was passed involving the fortunes of Scranton with those of Pittsburgh, since under the interpretation of the constitutional limitation it must apply to all in the class, which deprived the municipal government and deprived the mayor of his office. Under its terms the governor of the state appointed the chief executive, who is called a recorder, instead of a mayor, again confusing the vocabulary, and for whose supposed good the people were deprived of representative government. The unfortunate result has become widely known and stands as a warning against all such legislation in the future.

"The fact that the functions of government are ineffectively exercised furnishes no good reason for depriving the people of the right to control their own local affairs. The ills which may arise are to be corrected by the people themselves, by the use of their diligence and good sense, and no such legislation as that preferred to, no matter how well intended, or what may be the temporary advantage, ought never to be attempted. It is to be hoped that in the near future, for the good of the whole state as well as that of the people who here really form one community may be united in one great municipality with such government as they in view of their needs shall themselves determine."

PENROSE POINTED OUT THE WAY OF PROGRESS

He Enumerated the Great Benefits Afforded the People by Wise Republican Legislation.

Long-continued applause followed Judge Pennypacker's address. He took a seat upon the stage and led the reception accorded the other speakers.

In introducing Senator Penrose Chairman Burleigh spoke of him as a man who needs no introduction, as a man who has faithfully served the Republican party. Senator Penrose's remarks were often interrupted with cheers. He said in part:

"While it has been said that in order to conduct a free government it is necessary to have two political parties, at least, yet the fact is that it is not, as if there was absolutely no justification for the existence of any political organization opposed to the policies and principles advocated by the Republican party. It may be that in the past history of the country the Democratic party has served to a useful, and even a creditable record upon occasions in our affairs, but today it seems to descend to us from the past without a real or a vital issue to sustain its existence.

"On the other hand, the Republican party points to pledges fulfilled, to splendid achievements and to a future glorious almost beyond belief if the party is sustained in the continued management of the affairs of the country. In the words of William McKinley, upon whom to-day is guess what the Republican party will do, the whole world knows its purposes. It has embodied them in law and executed them in administration."

Praise for Pennypacker.

"We present to the people of the state in our candidate for governor a standard bearer who pre-eminently is an exponent of sturdy Republican principles, progressive and conservative. He represents the best thought of a great political party, which accomplishes what it advocates, and advocates what best represents the ideals of the most progressive people in the world. When he is inaugurated governor of Pennsylvania, as he will be next January, he will stand on the spot where, as a country lad of forty years before he slept on his way to the battlefield of Gettysburg, he listened to the guns between Gettysburg and the governorship he has exhibited those sturdy principles of industry, sagacity, good common-sense and generous patriotism as a lawyer and as an honored and respected judge. As a historian no one is more deeply versed in the history of our state or has more learnedly expounded some of its more interesting and salient features.

"We will have a governor who, in the midst of demagogic vituperation and partisan assault and violent and virulent and false assaults upon the Republican party and our political institutions, is pre-eminently a Pennsylvanian and is proud that he is so. Judge Pennypacker's life has been one of toil. Every step of advancement has been a struggle. He can find full sympathy with the purposes of the Republican party and state and nation which has ever been the friend of labor.

What Labor Owes the Party.

"The labor laws of Pennsylvania owe their existence to the Republican party. Pennsylvania stands at the head of the list of all the states in labor legislation. As early as 1869 an act was passed exempting sewing machines belonging to seamstress in this commonwealth from levy and sale and also from distress for rent. And, in the same year an act for the better regulation and ventilation of mines and for the protection of the lives of the miners in Schuylkill county was enacted. Many subsequent acts were likewise enacted providing for the safety and health of persons employed in coal mines, for the preservation of the records of the inspection of mines, for the regulation and ventilation of mines and for similar purposes.

"Then we have legislation to secure laborers a lien for their labor, and legislation in general for the better protection of the wages of mechanics, miners, laborers and others; such as an act in relation to liens for wages, preventing suits, execution and judgments obtained for $100 or less. Then in order that legislation in the future might be based upon adequate information, the legislature provided for the establishment of a bureau of statistics for the subject of labor and for other purposes, which provisions have also been made for the erection and maintenance of hospitals, particularly in the anthracite region, the special purpose of which institutions is to provide for the persons engaged in the dangerous occupation with mining, and in fact, the many acts for the protection of women and children, in order to secure the health, safety and welfare of persons employed in and about the bituminous and anthracite coal mines of the state are too numerous to mention here.

Legislation for the People.

"In 1891 mining and manufacturing corporations were prohibited from engaging in the business of carrying on stores known as "company stores" or general supply stores. In the next session a bill was passed to protect the life and limbs of persons employed in the construction of new buildings in this commonwealth. In the same session we find an act to authorize the corporations organized for profit, under the laws of Pennsylvania, to make allowances or pensions to employes for faithful, long continued service, who in such service have become old, infirm or disabled. And in the same session an act was likewise passed to establish boards of arbitration to settle all questions of wages and other matters of variance between capital and labor.

"In the following session a bill was enacted providing for the safety of persons employed in tenement houses and shops. Labor organizations are protected by legislation in the adoption of trade-marks, labels or symbols, and the badge or emblem of any labor organization is recognized and protected from use of these symbols by unauthorized persons. The state bureau of factory inspection is accomplishing an excellent result along similar lines.

"There is no better way of judging the merits of a political party than by the laws which are passed for the benefit of the great mass of our citizenship, which includes the ranks of labor. The Republican party in Pennsylvania, in this respect can point to high achievements. It is true, that with regard to legislation for the protection of the workers much remains to be done before they receive their full measure of protection and justice, but as can be shown by the utterances of the different states, nearly all protected labor legislation in the United States was first enacted by Republican states and then adopted by way of imitation by the Democratic states.

How Labor Is Protected.

Labor is best protected and is assured higher legal privileges in the leading features of labor legislation, such as creating of labor bureaus, the creating of factory inspection services, the establishing of the eight-hour day, the prohibition of the employment of children under 12 years of age in factories and in mines, the regulation of woman-labor, the regulation of sweatshops, the prohibition of the truck-system, and the regulation of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Massachusetts, than in the Democratic states such as Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Maryland and Missouri. In fact, some of our industries in Republican states are already threatened by the competition of cheap, unprotected and degraded labor in some of the southern Democratic states where child-labor is permitted, where no limitation is placed upon the hours of labor, and where the system of long penalties still to the laboring classes is low.

"Look at the record of congress in respect to some of the great events which have been made in the elevation of American labor. The great revolution by which labor was exalted and the country freed from the curse of slavery was accomplished by the Republican party against the fiercest opposition composed of the combined forces of the Democrats and their allies. The coolie trade was prohibited. Peonage was abolished under Republican presidents.

A Long List of Benefits.

"Hastily glancing down the long list of legislation enacted by the federal congress we recall the legislation for the protection of seamen; the abrogation of the involuntary servitude of foreigners. We recall the first labor contract law passed in 1886 by the house of representatives with every vote against it coming from the Democratic side. We are reminded of the incorporation of national trades unions, and the act providing for the payment of per diem employes for holidays. Then we have the bill prohibiting the contract system of convict labor, and we recall that all the votes against that measure in congress came from the Democratic side—from representatives representing the southern states with their peculiar system of convict labor leased by contract. Then we have the bill providing for boards of arbitration, which passed the house of representatives with 30 Democratic votes against it in 1886. And also the bill passed two years later creating a department of labor, in the enactment of which all the votes against it were Democratic votes.

Where Progress Is Found.

"Under Republican rule, labor in Pennsylvania exhibits an extraordinary degree of prosperity and a great rapidity of advancement. Summarizing the report of the secretary of interial affairs of the state of Pennsylvania for 1900, we find that for every 100 persons who were employed at the end of Cleveland's administration in 1896, the figures being computed from tables taken from a certain number of industries, 141 persons now have employment; that for every $100 paid to the wage-earners in 1896, $161 64 are now paid; that even with the phenomenal increase in the number of persons furnished employment the average yearly earnings have also been increased; that instead of an average of $380 54 to each of 134,790 persons in 1896, an average of $436 33 to each of 190,024 persons was paid in 1900, that in 1899, employment was furnished to 134,000 persons for 270 days, while in 1900, 190,024 persons were employed for 300 days. These figures embracing as they do men, women and children, certainly show a remarkable increase in the brief period of four years in the industrial conditions of this state.

"Much remains to be done in the way of legislation before labor in the state of Pennsylvania, and the people at large, can secure all those rights, privileges and immunities to which the American laborer is justly entitled. Progress must necessarily be slow. We can feel satisfied if it is continuous and steady—if every session much can be done in the right direction. I leave it to the candid consideration of the people of Pittsburgh whether the record of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania or of the Republican party gives greatest assurance of such continued progress in the future."

DISCORDANT NOTE WAS IN BURKE'S TALK

Young Congressional Aspirant Could Not Refrain From a Fling at the Other Faction.

Following the address of Senator Penrose the chairman introduced James Francis Burke as "got an old man like Pennypacker and Penrose," but a young man.

Mr. Burke, the Republican candidate for congress in the new Thirty-first district—Pittsburgh proper—spoke in part as follows:

"In a Republican state, in a Republican county, in a Republican city and in a Republican year, as a Republican candidate I propose to make a brief speech tonight and share in a Republican victory on election day.

"The course of the Republican party is as straight as the beaten path of the noonday sun and as bright with the glory of past achievement and future promise as the jewelled dome of a winter's night.

"The pathway which was blazed through the wilderness of slavery by Abraham Lincoln and made harborous and by the footsteps of Grant, Garfield, Blaine and McKinley of the dead, and Theodore Roosevelt of the living, is surely broad enough and bright enough for any Republican to travel here on earth.

"The Republicans of this community are for but one set of candidates, and they are on the Republican ticket, and will not be misled by the glitter and the glamor of sham reform.

Defines His Stand.

"As a candidate for congress I stand for the continuance of such protection as will guarantee living wages to American labor; for such legislation as will foster and upbuild our merchant marine, and as we are already master of the nations of the earth on the land, we shall soon be mistress of the seas, with our ships bearing the American flag sailing into every harbor in the world.

"I stand for such measures as will improve our inland rivers and harbors, and hasten the completion of the Isthmian canal, in order that Western Pennsylvania may become the chief workshop of the world, supplying the industrial wants of civilization.

"I stand for such policies and practices as will help Charles E. Litterfield to destroy the oppressive power of the trusts and aid Theodore Roosevelt in guaranteeing reciprocity to Cuba and civil and religious liberty to the millions into whose ears we have whispered the music of the Declaration of Independence in the Philippine islands; and for such a staple currency as will guarantee to the milliman, to the miner and the millionaire, with equal certainty, a currency every dollar of which shall be worth 100 cents the world over.

Time for Young Men.

"We are for honesty and economy in the administration of our local, state and national affairs. These are the salient features of a platform upon which every Republican candidate in Allegheny count stands tonight, and as this platform is broad enough, they stand there with both feet.

"This is the young man's era—we alone shall live to reap the harvest of the seed being sown today. Let us be vigilant, lest the poisonous weeds of political corruption attain such sturdy growth as to kill the fair flower of our free institutions. This is far more important to future generations than the selfish question as to who shall hold a few offices today."

LITTLEFIELD TALKED ABOUT THE TRUSTS

Chairman Burleigh was brief in presenting Congressman Littlefield. The audience already knew him and had a warm welcome in store for the prominent Maine statesman. Congressman Littlefield spoke in part as follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to stand upon the same platform from which has spoken the next governor of Pennsylvania, and I am glad, also, to be upon the platform upon which sit three of the next members of the house of representatives. I have an interest in this campaign, in common with the people of this magnificent city of Pittsburgh, and for that reason it affords me pleasure in opening this address to address you as my fellow citizens, and I stand here on this occasion to speak to you in relation to questions that concern us all—Republicans and Democrats, the people of the republic, because I believe that the politics of the Republican party make not only for the welfare of Republicans, but for the welfare of all the people in the country, and it is because I believe in their supremacy and their necessity to the welfare and prosperity of this great republic that I am here this evening at the beginning of this campaign.

Republican Congressmen Wanted.

"Notwithstanding the prevalence of trusts, and the many little impediments to industrial conditions which exist, we face the most prosperous times our land has ever enjoyed. The Republican party today stands upon the same platform that it stood in 1896, when this wonderfully prosperous era was inaugurated.

"We want a return of Republican congressmen. We believe that the Republicans are to control the next house of representatives, and we want the city of Pittsburgh, the county of Allegheny, and the state of Pennsylvania to return Republican congressmen. No portion of this country should be more interested in this continuance of the Republican house of representatives than the people of the city of Pittsburgh and the state of Pennsylvania. We may note the vast wealth of the diamond mines of Kimberley or the gold fields of Cripple Creek, but you will find no place the sun shines on where greater wealth is created than right here in Pittsburgh, and no place in our country receives greater benefits from the sound doctrines of the Republican party. (Applause.)

References to Local Troubles.

"It makes no difference, my friends, what the controversy of Pittsburgh Republicans are. I do not know what your local difficulties may be—I do not care what they are, and the country does not care what they are, but the whole element of the nation that is looking for a continuance of prosperity expects a return of a solid phalanx of Republican congressmen from this great state.

"From this point Mr. Littlefield made no further allusion to local or state issues, except to show how the national welfare depended upon the sending of men to congress from this district who are known to be the friends of the policies of the Republican congress which stood so firmly for a protective tariff, and the support of the doctrines depending thereon.

Mr. Littlefield's talk on the trusts was eagerly anticipated, and his discourse on that topic was novel in many respects. Arguments were introduced which were new to Pittsburgh voters. He talked for more than a half hour and gave a most scathing review of the follies of the Democratic party, devoting his remarks more particularly to the fallacies of the proposed revision of the tariff.

Shibboleth of the Democrats.

"The Democrats are telling us that the protective tariff is the mother of trusts," said Mr. Littlefield, "yet no Democratic statesman has been able to tell why protection is the mother of the big monopolies. Their sages argue like this: First, the tariff is the mother of trusts; second, the tariff is the mother of trusts; therefore, the tariff is the mother of trusts. They never get any father than that. Of course they waste a great many words, but they invariably arrive at the same conclusion.

"Democratic brethren tell us also that the tariff should be revised—this being one of their methods of crushing the trusts. Now, my friends, I am not saying whether or not the tariff should be revised. I am not discussing that point now, but would it not be better if such of course is taken, that the law should be revised by the friends of tariff and not by its enemies?

"Let us see? They say tariff is the mother of the trusts. Let us take the Standard Oil Company for example. This concern has been denied to be one of the greatest of the great monopolies—the supreme court of the state of Ohio declared it such away back in 1888. Does a protective tariff do it any good? There never was a protective tariff on its products.

Democratic Talk Is Absurd.

"The Democrats say, too, that all the disturbances in the anthracite coal regions are due to the tariff. What country wants to send us hard coal free of duty? It's absurd, gentlemen, all this talk they are giving us about the trusts. Why, over in free trade England they are honeycombed with trusts, yet the Democratic statesman say that the tariff is the mother of trusts.

"Monopolies are not new to this year of 1902. They existed long before the Republican party ever formulated a protective tariff, and there is another reason why the tariff has no relation to the trusts. Our Democratic friends say that it gives privileges to the trusts. This is not true. The tariff gives prosperity alike to all industries—to the trusts and their individual competitors, just as the sun shines through the whole universe, giving light to the planets large and small.

"The Democratic formula for curing the trusts, so their statesmen declare, is to take off the tariff until the trusts are forced to repeal. Now take off the tariff and who will go to the wall first, the big corporations with millions of capital, or the smaller individual competitor?

Grotesque Hair-Brained Scheme.

"Let us take the tin industry as an instance. The tariff has been reduced. The individual naturally feels the effect of the market's decline first and is forced to cease the manufacture the product. Then the trust feels the decline and goes to the wall and where do we get our tin? From a foreign trust, of course.

"The Democrats call this statesmanship. I call it the most grotesque, the most hair-brained scheme that was ever proposed, and what is true of tin is true of every branch of America's industries. It is like the remedy a man took to cure his dog of fleas. He poured kerosene over the canine and lighted a match to him, killed the fleas, but what of the dog?

Mr. Littlefield recounted the political history of the country from the inauguration of the McKinley tariff bill and showed how all the industries had grown great under its protection. He concluded in an eloquent apeal for the election of men who were known to be sound on the all-important national questions facing the Republican party.

TELLING POINTS BY CHARLES EMORY SMITH

Ex-Postmaster General Drew Lessons From Republican Prosperity and Upheld National Policy.

In introducing ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, Mr. Burleigh paid him a high tribute. As the hour was late Mr. Smith announced that he would speak but briefly. "We are in this campaign," he said, in part, "to meet every question and issue that may be presented, to meet state and national questions. The Democratic candidate for governor said the other day, and gave as a reason why he should be elected governor, that he found the same conditions existing now as when he was twice elected governor of the state. In view of this opinion of his and his record during the two terms he served, the natural question is, what is the use of electing him again?

"In contradistinction to such utterances from the Democratic candidate you have heard from the Republican candidate, and I venture to say that when the words that he has uttered tonight are read all over the state tomorrow morning, they will knock out the foundations of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania.

Pennypacker's Plainness.

"He has spoken with plainness. I must confess that when he began to speak I thought he was treading on thin ice, but he has plainly and unequivocally explained himself and stands before you as the representative of the rights of the people. We knew him before and we know now that if the people elevate him to the highest pinnacle in the state he will boldly, thoroughly and fearlessly exercise the prerogatives of the great office. (Applause.)

"I ask you here, in this great city of Pittsburgh, to call to mind the contrast between Democratic rule from 1893 to 1897, and the period since Republican rule was re-established. You are to decide by your votes at the coming election whether you will sustain the conditions begun and fostered by William McKinley and continued by the brave, fearless, strenuous and courageous Theodore Roosevelt.

Cause of Prosperity.

"Our Democratic friends tell us that natural conditions and resources brought about these changes, but perhaps our Democratic friends will not mind my mentioning that, while the changes were effected, William McKinley was there; that Theodore Roosevelt is there today; that a Republican congress sat during that time; that Republican policies prevailed and that Republican protection, knocked out by the Wilson bill, was re-established. (Applause.)

"You know that Pittsburgh creates more tonnage than any place in all the world, more tonnage than New York, Chicago, London, Manchester, Birmingham, or any other city on God's footstool. Let me remind you that under Democratic rule the railroad tonnage in the entire United States actually declined. In 1892 the tonnage, expressed in tons per mile, was 84,000,000,000. Under Democratic rule it declined to 82,500,000,000, although the population of the country was increasing; under Republican rule it increased to the astounding total of 141,000,000,000 tons. Nor was this all. Our foreign trade increased as our domestic trade grew. (Great applause.)

An Honored Nation.

"The Republican party has not only given great prosperity at home, but it has given us our great place among the powers of the world. We have established the free republic of Cuba and it remains for us to cement our friendly relations with that country by reciprocal advantages in trade. (Applause.)

"We have carried the flag to the Philippines and have unfurled it there, to stay over the school and the courts of justice, which have given the Philippines greater freedom than they ever before enjoyed. We have recently, through our secretary of state, called on the powers of Europe for justice for an oppressed people in Roumania. (Loud applause.) Our flag enjoys the distinction of an influence among the civilized powers beyond that of any flag in the world."

In his peroration, Mr. Smith told of an incident in Tient-Sin, when the allied troops started on the march to the aid of the ministers of the powers beleaguered in Peking. An American pointing out to an Australian the flags of Russia, Germany, Japan and Great Britain, at last saw the American flag borne aloft on its standard and proudly exclaimed: "That is my flag." It was to him not only the flag of the United States, the flag of his country, the flag of his president, but his own individual flag, the flag whose folds were entwined about his heart. It behooved every citizen of Pennsylvania, the speaker said, every lover of the flag, to vote the Republican ticket at this election.

DEADLOCK STILL ON.

Fortieth Senatorial District Conferees Fail To Nominate.

At the conference of the Fortieth senatorial district at the Monongahela house, shortly after midnight, four ballots were taken without changing the result. Shortly after 1 p. m. a telegram was received from Senator Quay that Charles H. Seaton of Uniontown had been appointed referee. Mr. Seaton is in Pittsburgh and another meeting will be held at the Monongahela house today.

There was also a conference of the Democratic county chairmen of Western Pennsylvania at the Monongahela house, with Capt. John B. Keenan of Greensburg, a member of the executive committee of the state central committee. Among those present were J. B. Head of Westmoreland, James G. Paul of McKean, H. M. Good of Lawrence, C. F. McCormick of Mercer, R. E. Creswell of Cambria, E. Lowry Holmes of Crawford, Charles W. Kulbe of Erie, P. A. Wilbert of Venango, E. W. Cooney of Warren and Col. W. F. Mecklen of Beaver.

Smiley Will Oppose Smith.

FOXBURG, Sept. 19.—The Democratic conferees of the Twenty-seventh congressional district today nominated ex-Representative A. W. Smiley of Clarion for congress.

Bloody Night on Angel Ground.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—During a fight which took place last night in a speakeasy at Angel Ground, near Berrysburg, Barbour county, three persons were killed. Many shots were fired and several other foreign miners were wounded.

The Farmer's Success Depends Upon Freedom from Disease and Suffering.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

IS THE MEDICINE THAT HAS MADE THOUSANDS OF COUNTRY TOILERS WELL AND STRONG.

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold, yet lack that true wealth known as good health.

It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's bubbling fountains and limpid springs, are liable to the same diseases and ailments that come thick and fast to city people. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and blood diseases almost as common in the farmer's family as they are in city homes.

NEITHER HAS ANY INTEREST IN OLD CHANNEL

Smoky Island Suit Dismissed in the United States Court.

PROPERTY OWNER SUED ALLEGHENY COUNTY

Judge Joseph Buffington Lays Down Important Law on the Relations of Municipalities and the Courts.

An opinion was handed down in the United States circuit court, by Judge Joseph Buffington, in which the bill brought by Mrs. Victoria Murray against the city of Allegheny is dismissed. It was one of the Smoky island suits that have been before the courts for three-quarters of a century, the particular point at issue this time being the channel that once existed between the island and Bank lane, now called South Avenue. Incidentally Judge Buffington lays down some law on the relations of muncipalities and the courts.

Mrs. Murray, who lives in Maryland, owns property in Allegheny. She filed a bill to prevent the city from executing a proposed contract with the Pittsburgh & Western Railway Company now pending in councils. This contract provides that in consideration of $20,287 50 on account of the proposed improvement of South avenue, and $15,000 for like work on River avenue, the city shall quit claim its right, title and interest in the land known as the "Old Inner channel" between the south line of Bank lane, or South avenue, and the north line of Smoky island; and further, shall allow the railroad company to lay another track along the Allegheny wharf between Herrs island crossing and the Pennsylvania canal west of Darragh street. A master was appointed who took testimony and reported against the complainant.

In his opinion Judge Buffington says that by this contract Allegheny proposes to quit claim its right to the old channel between the south line of Bank lane and the north line of Smoky island.

Lot Owners Had No Title.

Much of the testimony as to the value of the land embraces the whole island, but the proposed lease only covers the inner channel. In the case of Moorhead against the city of Allegheny the title to the island down to low water mark, as it existed in 1806, was found to be in the predecessors in title of the Pittsburgh & Western Railway Company. This was tried 27 years ago, and the city has acquiesced in the decision. It was there contended that there was a title in the owners of the lots bounded on Bank lane on the main shore opposite the island which might extend to the islands. The supreme court decided that no title to the old channel, now proposed to be released, was acquired by said lot owners.

The court then takes up the question of what title has been shown in the city to the old channel. This channel was not part of the Reserve tract, and the title to it remained in the state. There is no evidence that the state conveyed the title to the city by an express grant. It is contended that by implied grant it was so conveyed by the act of April 14, 1828, and that this contention is for the first time brought before a court of justice. Judge Buffington thinks it incredible that this act should be overlooked in the years of litigation over Smoky island, and finds this was not the case. Judge White, in the Moorhead case, referred to this act as establishing the southern boundary of the borough, which it created, in the center of the river. The act of 1840 made the borough a city with the same southern boundary.

Judge White's Decision.

Judge White said that boundary included Smoky island, but it gave the city no title to the island, merely extended the jurisdiction of the municipality over it. In this opinion Judge Buffington concurs. The act is simply entitled "An act evicting the town of Allegheny," and nowhere purports to convey title. The channel is not embraced in the reservation in the act of 1787; it is not part of the Reserve tract which extended to low water mark on the main land; nor was it included in "the streets, lanes and alleys of the said town and outlots." The city took no title from the state to the channel by the act of 1840. Under decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania the city was not given title to the old channel.

Judge Buffington says further: "It will appear that it is not proposed that the city should quit claim title to any land to the north of the water line and consequently such release should not affect any existing basement or right of access to water along Bank lane. If the fill of the ground or natural conditions render such access physically impossible no one is deprived of existing rights by such release by the city. If present conditions admit of such access to the water the question of such rights is not before us and is not affected by the present case, for the title to the soil underlying such water highway is not in the city, and its release of such underlying ground can in no way affect the existing right of anyone to have access thereto.

"So regarding the proposed release and being of opinion the city has no title to the soil underlying the old channel and boundary by the water line constituting the south side of Bank lane, we see no ground upon which a court of equity should interfere by the drastic power of an injunction to prevent the will of the city legally expressed by action of its councils from being carried out.

"If at any point of Bank lane that highway is the means of an approach to a water highway, the proposed release can in no way affect existing rights of access to such water highway.

Release Is of No Effect.

"The sole purpose of this release is to silence any supposed rights of the city to the old channel and estop it from setting up any claim to it. In view of the fact that the city has no title thereto and that such release rests no title in the railroad, we see no objection to its being made.

"On the other hand, if the railroad claims the land abutting on the south side of Bank lane or Smith avenue and pays the city in whole or part for the improvement of said street, it is not inequitable that the city should release said property.

"As to the grant of the right to lay a second track along the wharf, we see no ground for interference. The control of municipal affairs is vested by law in the proper municipal authorities. So long as the municipal authorities do not transcend their legal powers and no fraud is involved, courts will not interfere in matters of discretion. For courts to substitute their judgment in matters of business and civic administration would be to transfer the control of civic affairs from the cities to the courts. Assuming for present purposes that the title to River avenue, under the plan, dedication and law, is vested in Allegheny city, we think the question of granting the right to lay a second track is a matter of municipal concern. The railroad is a common carrier and as such has public duties to perform. The supreme court of the state in construing the rights of a railroad with relation to the rights of the city of Allegheny over a portion of the Reserve tract, has held that the grant of a right-of-way by the city of Allegheny is in the line of a public use. In the present case the rights to lay one track has heretofore been granted and exercised. It is proposed to add a second. Whether such grant should be made is an open question. Many factors enter into its determination and it is a question upon which there may fairly exist difference of opinion. Such being the case the question is one for civic not judicial determination, and its settlement must be left where the law has vested the power and cast the responsibility, viz: to the people constituting the city of Allegheny, and their agents, the city councils. The bill is therefore dismissed.

EIGHTY KILLED IN A NEGRO CHURCH

the weight of 1,500 persons was pushed against it. More than 20 persons lying on the steps underneath the heap of bodies died from suffocation.

Scenes Were Heartrending.

The white men who were in the rear of the church when the rush began escaped, and rushed to a corner nearby and turned in a fire alarm. The department came quickly and the arrival of the wagons served to scatter the crowd which had gathered. A squad of police was also hastened to the church and with the firemen finally succeeded in releasing the negroes from their pinioned positions in the entrance. The dead bodies were then removed and the crowd inside, finding an outlet, came pouring out. Scores of them lost their footing and rolled down the long steps to the pavement, sustaining broken limbs and internal injuries.

In an hour the church had been practically cleared and the sight which greeted the eyes of those who had come to aid the injured was sickening. Down the aisles and along the outside of the pews the dead bodies of men and women were strewn and the cries of the maimed were heartrending. In a few minutes the work of removing the bodies was begun.

The Shiloh church is located just in the edge of the fashionable residence section of the city and all the physicians living in that part of the town went to the assistance of the injured. As many of the suffering negroes as could be moved by the ambulances were taken to hospitals and the rest were laid out on the ground and there the physicians attended them. At least 15 of the injured died before they could be moved from the ground.

Victims Mostly Women.

Booker T. Washington and several other prominent negroes on the stage were unwilling witnesses to the catastrophe. None of those in the choir or in the pulpit was injured. For a few minutes they attempted to restore order, but seeing their efforts were futile they waited until the struggling crowd had advanced far enough for them to pick up the dead and injured.

Most of the dead are women and the physicians say that in many cases they fainted and died from suffocation. No blood was on any of the victims. They were either crushed or died from suffocation.

The Rev. Dr. T. W. Walker, pastor of the Shiloh church, said tonight: "Shiloh church is a modern brick structure and had just been completed at a cost of $75,000. There are four entrances and the main one is 16 feet wide. Inside the church not a bench was overturned and all those killed died in or about the entrance. The people near the front of the church were not injured in the least."

Mayor William Drennen said: "Most of those who were killed are strangers, but their bodies will be cared for until identified and claimed by relatives."

MISS BIGGAR TRIES TO PROVE MARRIAGE

Also that Heir Was Born Before Death of Her Alleged Husband, H. M. Bennett.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—At a hearing in Long Branch today, witnesses testified in behalf of Laura Biggar, who is contesting the will of Henry M. Bennett of Pittsburgh, that he was married to the actress in Hoboken on January 2, 1898, and a child was born.

Samuel Stanton, a justice of the peace of Hoboken, testified that he had married Miss Biggar and Mr. Bennett January 2, 1898, and identified Miss Biggar, who was in court in deep mourning, as the one to whom he had issued the certificate. The marriage certificate was placed in evidence after a wordy fight between the lawyers.

Dr. John Connolly, consulting physician at a Hoboken sanitarium, testified that he attended Miss Biggar last July, with Dr. Hendricks, and was present when a male child was born. He said he had signed the birth certificate, and also the death certificate of the child, which was called Henry M. Bennett, Jr., and lived only 15 days. Dr. Connolly corroborated the other physician's testimony.

When the hearing was adjourned until next Friday morning Dr. Hendricks was still being examined.

Wilkinsburg Boy Killed.

Lawrence Noland, son of William W. Noland of Wilkinsburg, was killed by a street car in Wilkinsburg last evening. The boy was adding on the rear of a wagon, which was struck by a car at a curve. He fell on the track and his head was crushed.

THE REV. S. G. YAHN.

WILL CELEBRATE HIS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

The congregation of the Church of God, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., will tomorrow celebrate the tenth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. S. G. Yahn. Mr. Yahn is one of the most eminent ministers of the denomination in Western Pennsylvania and has made a splendid record at Mt. Pleasant.

During his term as paster he has preached over 1,500 sermons, conducted 65 weeks of revival meetings and officiated at 92 weddings and 137 funerals. His success in evangelistic work has been marked, no less than 515 members having been added to the church since he became its pastor.

The congregation is at the present time in excellent condition, with Christian Endeavor and missionary societies, a graded Sabbath school, and a prosperous mission among the foreign population of the town.

DETECTIVE HAD BLOODY BATTLE WITH CAPTIVE

Edward Barry May Lose the Sight of One Eye as a Result.

OFFICER CLUNG TO HIS PRISONER

While Attempting Arrest of Two Men Wanted for Highway Robbery One Escaped While the Other Slashed Detective.

While attempting to arrest two thieves in Poplar alley last evening Detective Edward Barry was badly cut on the face by William McCann and the sight of the detective's left eye may be lost by the injury. Detective Barry was struggling with McCann when Jessie N. Sanders, a colored porter in the Park building, slipped McCann a knife, and he slashed the detective on the face. Sanders tried to get the detective's revolver, but was prevented from doing so by Mrs. Sophie Murray of No. 81 Elm street, who snatched the revolver from the colored man's grasp. Thomas O'Donnell, one of the thieves, made his escape during the scuffle, and when Sanders saw that the detective was overpowering McCann he disappeared.

Sanders, O'Donnell and McCann were in the Western penitentiary at the same time.

Wanted for Other Crimes.

McCann was landed in No. 2 police station, and Sanders was arrested later by Detectives Bernard McStay and Albert H. Swinehart and locked up in the Central police station.

McCann and O'Donnell have been wanted by the police for four months, on charges of highway robbery. Information was made before Police Magistrate McKenna and the warrants were turned over to the bureau of detectives.

Detective Barry was sitting in the front room of his home at No. 1212 Bedford avenue last evening and saw McCann and O'Donnell pass. He put on his coat and hat and hurried into the street. Detective Barry saw the men were going to Poplar alley and hurried to that place.

He secluded himself, and as the two men passed he jumped out and placed them under arrest. Both resisted. O'Donnell broke from his grasp. The detective held McCann, as he was the worse man of the two, and they fought and struggled up and down Poplar alley for five minutes.

Bottle and Knife Used.

The detective overpowered his prisoner and started for the patrol box at Wylie avenue and Elm street. Just as he reached the box Sanders hurried to McCann's side and handed him a beer bottle. Detective Barry received a stunning blow on the side of the head from McCann. He knocked the bottle out of his prisoner's hand.

As he did so Sanders handed McCann a knife and the latter began to slash the detective about the face. One of the cuts is on the lower portion of the left eye. The second gash was made back of the detective's left ear and the third slit his cheek for several inches. The wounds bled freely and both men were soon covered with blood.

Detective Barry was taken to Mercy hospital in a carriage and his wounds were dressed. The sight of his left eye will be affected by the laceration. Detectives McStay and Swinehart got a description of Sanders and learned that he worked at the Park building.

They went to that place and found Sanders hiding on the 14th floor. The detectives had no trace of O'Donnell at a late hour last night.

WEALTHY MAN'S SON WANTED FOR MURDER

Pulitzer Woman Is Believed To Have Been Killed and Body Thrown Into Canal.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Warrants were issued tonight for the arrest of William Hooper Young, the son of John A. Young, a wealthy New York man, who is in Europe, for the murder of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer, whose body was found in the Morris canal Thursday. In his father's absence he has been occupying the latter's apartments at No. 108 West Fifty-eighth street. Quickly shipped his baggage and other belongings away from the city and has disappeared.

Young was employed some time ago on the staff of a weekly paper published in Hoboken, called the Crusader. On last New Year's day the members of the Crusader staff held a reunion and on that occasion they stood for a good photograph. This picture has played a singularly interesting part in unraveling the tangled skein of crime. Through the medium of the hitching strap and carriage weight attached to the body it was learned today that the carriage in which the probable murderer drove the body of his victim to the Hackensack meadows was hired from the livery stable of Charles K. Evans, in Washington street, Hoboken. When Mr. Evans tonight was shown a copy of the photograph of the staff of the Hoboken weekly he promptly identified the face and figure of Young as the man who, on Wednesday evening, rented the horses and buggy.

William Hooper Young, it is now believed by the police, is the man whom Mrs. Pulitzer described as having paid her attentions in Mock's restaurant and as having endeavored to press his company upon her in the street, inviting her to accompany him to his Fifty-eighth street flat. Mrs. Pulitzer was killed in a rear bedroom at 103 West Fifty-eighth street, her body thrust into a closet and on Wednesday night the body was packed into a trunk and Young, with the assistance of Albert Boldey, aged 16, the bellboy of the house, loaded the trunk into the carriage.

Two articles belonging to Mrs. Pulitzer were found in the bedroom. One was a linen stock which she had worn around her neck and the other her pass key to her home.

Inquest Into Dr. Wasser's Death.

The inquest into the death of Dr. Daniel L. Wasser, killed at the West Penn Hospital by an injection of carbolic acid, will be held next Wednesday. An autopsy will not be held, as the stories of Nurse Lucy Cole and Orderly Morgan Snyder make the cause of death plain.

LEGAL VICTORY FOR THE STEEL COMBINE

BONDSCHEME INJUNCTION REMOVED.

Vice Chancellor Emery Reversed, but Decision Is Not Unanimous.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 19.—Victory came to the United States Steel Corporation today in the suits which have been brought to prevent its converting $200,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock into the same amount of 5 per cent second mortgage bonds.

The court of errors and appeals this afternoon by a vote of 5 to 8 removed restraint by reversing the decision of Vice Chancellor Emery, who granted a restraining order in the suit brought by Mrs. Miriam Berger of Elizabeth, N. J., an owner of both preferred and common stock. Judges Garrison, Voorhees and Pitney voted to sustain the lower court and continue the restraining order. Judge Garrison is expected to prepare the dissenting opinion. Judge Van Sickle, the court announces, will write the majority opinion.

The decision was rendered after a general conference of the court. No announcement was made concerning the grounds on which the decision was reached.

Another restraining order, which is still unsettled, is the one obtained by J. Aspinwall Hodge and others of New York, but application will be made at once to have this set aside.

CAUSED DAMAGE TO WIRE PLANT

whose lantern started the fire, was painfully burned. He was making his regular hourly round, carrying a lantern, as is his custom. He was at about the center of the building and near some tanks of acid and paint. Suddenly the lantern exploded with great force, throwing blazing oil all about. Schmutzer and several men who were working about the plant tried to extinguish the blaze, but it soon got beyond their control and they were forced to desert the place.

The plant is the old mill of the Oliver Wire Company and was sold to the American Steel & Wire Company for $1,000,000 about five years ago. The day force of men working is of from 500 to 600, while last night when the fire started there were 13 men working. One man was unaccounted for, but it is generally supposed that he escaped safely, as there was time to get out before the fire gained dangerous headway. The wire for the famous Spanish "trocha" across the island of Cuba was rolled in this plant.

HARRISBURG HEARS OF END OF STRIKE

Report That Announcement of Settlement of Anthracite Trouble May Be Made Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Sept. 19.—The Telegraph this evening prints the following: "Information reached the Telegraph through a private source this afternoon that the end of the coal strike was in sight. The report was to the effect that one of the largest firms, whose representatives in New York have been discussing the situation for some time, had decided upon a settlement and an official announcement would be made either tomorrow or early next week. The information seemed to have considerable foundation, and came as an answer to inquiries sent to New York parties regarding the filling of large orders for coal in this city, intimating that the orders would probably be filled sooner than was expected, because of the encouraging prospects of an early settlement."

WILKESBARRE, PA., Sept. 19.—President Mitchell said this evening that if any overtures are received from the operators they will be submitted to a convention of the miners, and the acceptance or rejection of any proposition will rest with the men themselves.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Sept. 19.—Three train crews refused to handle non-union coal from the North Mahanoy colliery today.

The sheriff explained the situation by telephone to Gen. Gobin, who ordered the Eighth regiment to the scene. By the time the soldiers arrived two other engines and crews had arrived from Gordon. One regiment was ordered to mount the cars, and with other soldiers guarding the track for over a mile, the train proceeded.

A. T. DEMOSS, boiler maker; 32, married; Corry and Ann streets, Allegheny.

Will Die.

HARRY E. CHAMBERS, engineer on the Pittsburgh & Western accommodation; aged 30; married; Lincoln avenue, Millvale. He sustained a fracture of the base of the skull and his face and body were multilated; taken to Allegheny General hospital.

Seriously Injured.

C. W. CROSSMAN, express messenger, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh express; cut and bruised; taken to Allegheny General hospital; expected to recover.

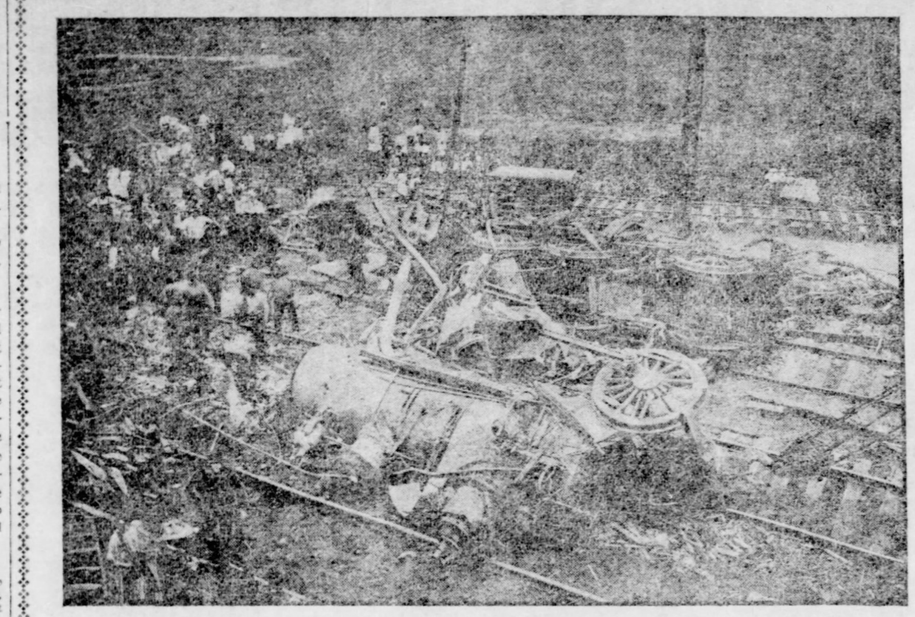
MRS. LOUIS STIFEL of Lawrenceville; passenger, Pittsburgh & Western; cut on face and legs and suffering from shock; taken to the home of F. L. Darlinghouse at Glenmawr.

JOHN HEINL, engineer's helper, Herman Brick Company; struck in the back by flying debris and seriously hurt; taken to his home in Kittanning street, Etna.

UNKNOWN LADY, passenger, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh; cut in the face and otherwise hurt by the collision.

FRED HAUSERMAN of De Haven, passenger on Pittsburgh & Western accommodation; cut about head.

Of the 250 or more passengers on the two trains scarcely one escaped without cuts and bruises, and many will be disfigured for life by great slashes caused by flying glass.



View of the Wreck, Showing the Two Engines Lying on Either Side of the Track.

Neglect Is Responsible.

The cause of the wreck lies in allowing the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh express to run upon the southbound track of the road while the Pittsburgh & Western accommodation was coming south. A derailed car in a freight train between Etna and Wittmer had tied up the northbound track and northbound freight trains had been using the southbound track all morning. The responsibility should not be difficult to locate.

It is said that orders had been given to a flagman to hold the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh train at Etna until the Butler accommodation had passed. This was not done and the wreck resulted. An official investigation will be held today or tomorrow and other facts are expected to be brought out.

The wreck was one of the worst ever seen in this section. The two trains came together at a point where a high bluff cuts off the view for more than 100 feet ahead along the tracks, and there was no time for the brakes to work after the engineers saw the danger.

Fire Added Horror.

The Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh train leaped upon the other engine and the baggage car of the Pittsburgh & Western train was beneath the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh engine. Both locomotives were completely demolished and the baggage cars of each train were split through the center, a side of each car falling in either direction. Fire broke out, but was extinguished by water carried from the brick plant at the scene of the accident.

The men that were killed were found beneath the debris. Escaping steam had burned them fearfully before aid could reach them, and it was not until 1 p. m. that the last of the bodies were brought out from under the wreckage. In each engine there was a third man, in addition to the engineer and fireman. Demoss, who is a boilermaker, was en route to Butler to employ some men in that craft, and was riding in the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh engine, while Brakeman Caugherty, who had been flagging, was riding in the Pittsburgh & Western engine. Both were killed.

Each of the trains was carrying five coaches filled with passengers, and the absence of fatalities among these is explained only by the strength of the cars. Almost every window in the whole train was shattered and the broken glass flew in every direction.

Incidents of the Wreck.

United States Marshal Stephen Stone was a passenger on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh train. He came out unhurt and tells a number of interesting incidents. Riding beside him was a young man from Butler. The instant the wreck occurred and the glass was shattered from the window this man disappeared through the window. The next moment Mr. Stone looked out for him, but he was already out of sight over the hills toward Butler.

Across the aisle was a lady of middle age who was standing on her head in the next seat. In front what the train lacked a standstill. Several passengers helped her back to a normal position. One of her eyes was cut deeply by a broken spectacle and bled copiously.

In the baggage car of the Butler accommodation were several crates of live chickens. The wreck broke the crates. The escaping steam cleaned the chickens of feathers and scattered them to all points of the compass, while the air was filled with their frightened cackling.

A team was passing on the road alongside the tracks. It ran away with the wagon, throwing out the driver.

Fleeing Man Caught.

Heinl the brick works employe, was beside the tracks, when he saw that the two trains would collide. He started to run, but a large piece of steel struck him in the back and brought him to the ground. Debris flew in all directions. The door of the baggage car fell on the wheelbarrow he had been using and a large chunk of iron landed over 200 feet from the wreck.

General Agent N. T. Brown of the American Express Company, which operates on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, hurried to the wreck to save the express matter. Arriving there he located what was left of the express car. Under it he saw the edge of a letter. He gave a boy 10 cents to crawl beneath the car and get the envelope. It contained $200, all safe. This was the only cash express in the car.

A Hungarian of unknown name was arrested for stealing a necktie from a trunk which had been thrown from the Pittsburgh & Western train car.

Neighbors Gave Aid.

People living at the wreck hurried there and gave invaluable assistance to the railroad men in taking out the injured and caring for them.

The railroad company sent a special train to the wreck and carried the dead to Allegheny, where the bodies were placed in Perry Charles' undertaking establishment at Church avenue and Sandusky street and prepared for burial.

A most unusual scene occurred there. A crowd of fully 1,000 persons gathered around the corner and almost precipitated a riot in attempting to force their way into the morgue. In the crowd were many women, as well as relatives and friends of passengers who had heard of the accident.

It required the united efforts of Officers John Bopp and David Jones to keep them back. So large did the crowd become that a Greek moved his peanut stand from Federal street to the corner to gather the trade.

At 5:30 p. m. both tracks had been cleared and trains were again started each way. A force of 250 men had worked steadily for seven hours with a steam derrick, under the direction of L. D. Savage, Pittsburgh & Western trainmaster between Pittsburgh and New Castle Junction.

RUSH TO GET LEARNING.

Great Increase in Attendance at Higher Educational Institutions of Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—At Washington and Jefferson college, Washington Seminary for Women and W. and J. academy the fall term of recitations will begin on Monday.

There are 80 new students at the college, and the total number enrolled is 226. This number will be largely increased. There are 176 students enrolled at the Washington seminary, which is an increase over last year of more than 50. The seminary buildings are overcrowded and a private dwelling house has been rented for a dormitory. There are 102 students at the academy, an increase of 30 over last year.

There are three changes in the Washington and Jefferson faculty. Dr. John Mecklin of Lafayette will be professor of Greek, succeeding the late Alonzo Linn. Dr. H. E. Allen of Chicago will be professor of Latin, in place of Prof. Oliphant. Norman C. Duncan of New York will be assistant to Prof. McClelland in the chair of English. In the academy there are two changes. Charles E. Auger of Toronto, Canada, will teach French and English literature. W. M. Pollard of Amherst will teach Greek. They take the places of Prof. J. R. McCreight and Prof. J. F. Holliday. At the seminary Mlle. Surleau of Davenport, Ia., will teach French; Fraulein Rudeioff of Dresden will teach German, Miss Elizabeth Marsh of Toronto, Canada, will have charge of the art department, Miss Elizabeth Underwood of Bowling Green, Ky., and Miss Sara Perkins of Fort Edward, N. Y., will have charge of the music department.

HUFF'S CONTEST HEARD.

Owing to Nearness of Time Limit, Early Decision Is Expected.

HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The contest instituted by Congressman Joseph B. Showalter of Butler to determine the legality of the certificate of nomination of Col. George F. Huff of Greensburg, Republican nominee for congress in the Twenty-second district, composed of Butler and Westmoreland counties, was heard today by Judge Weiss.

All of the Butler county members of the joint committee were called by Huff's counsel and testified that they did not understand that any action taken by the county committee superseded them or relieved them of their duty to formulate rules under which a candidate for congress for the district might be nominated. Dr. Showalter testified to the action of the Butler county convention placing him in nomination.

The case will be argued tomorrow, and it is expected that the court will give an early decision, as the time limit for filing certificates in the state department expires next Tuesday. Should the court render a decision adverse to Huff after that time, he could get on the official ballot by nomination papers only.

WERE REFUSED PERMISSION.

Bureau of Health Physicians Did Not Examine Brushton Pupils.

The physicians of the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday visited the Brushton school, and endeavored to examine the children to see if they had been vaccinated. Permission was refused, and instead they were handed the certificates of vaccination.

They then asked for and received a list of the pupils, with their addresses, and spent three hours in copying it. The Brushton school authorities say that this was done for the purpose of making a house-to-house canvass. The members of the school board say that they will not tolerate any interference from the board of health, as the vaccination certificates bear the signatures of reputable physicians.

COURT DECISION NECESSARY UPON TECHNICAL SITE

City Solicitor Says Neither Park Money Nor Park Land Can Be Used.

OUTLINE IS FURNISHED OF STUDIES

Prof. Williston, of Pratt Institute, Gives Brief Resume of Ideas Held by Board of Experts—Sites Are Viewed.

City Solicitor Thomas D. Carnahan has furnished Chairman William McConway of the plan and scope committee of the proposed polytechnic school with an opinion that the city cannot use any part of Schenley park for the site of the school. He added to it an opinion that the city cannot use any money which it has on hand to purchase a site, as the money was secured by a bond issue and was to be used for park purposes. This opinion, if sustained by the courts, puts it out of the power of the city to furnish a site unless a bond issue is ordered or the money is raised by direct taxation.

Mr. McConway so informed the councilmanic committee and the committee on plan and scope at the joint meeting of those two committees with the committee on municipal relations of the institute board of trustees yesterday afternoon. The matter was discussed and the following committee was appointed to wait on Mr. Carnahan and go over the matter with him: Henry Fitzpatrick, W. J. Zahniser and President C. S. Crawford. Chairman Gebhart Sahner presided at the meeting.

Sites Were Discussed.

The following sites were discussed and the committee made a personal inspection of them late in the afternoon: the 52-acre tract owned by Mrs. Schenley, north of Fifth avenue, which she has optioned to the committee at $1,400,000; the 32-acre tract, which is part of the other and which is optioned at $550,000; the Ellin-Magee site near the park, optioned at $400,000; the 11-acre tract on Forbes street, optioned at $140,000; the park site, which will cost the city nothing, if it can be used.

After the meeting had been regularly opened, Chairman McConway of the committee on plan and scope, spoke of the action of that committee in having the board of experts prepare a plan for the school, and then came the question of sites. "The committee on plan and scope," said Mr. McConway, "is a unit in preferring the 52-acre tract. The board of experts thought it would be an ideal site, and I favor it personally. It would give the school room to expand.

McConway's Opinion.

"The judgment of the committee is that the 11-acre tract is too small, and it would be a grand thing if the 52-acre tract could be secured. If we cannot get that, the 32-acre tract would have to do. This school is to stand until our grandchildren are in their graves, and the question of the cost will not be considered at that time."

In response to a question by S. J. Wainwright, Jr., Mr. McConway said that he had been informed by real estate men that the price asked by Mrs. Schenley for this property is reasonable. Plans of the various sites were shown to the members of the committee, and Daniel P. Crawford of the councilmanic committee suggested the use of Schenley park property just north of the Murdoch entrance to Schenley park. Mr. McConway then spoke of the opinion that had been furnished by Mr. Carnahan. Mr. Carnahan supported his opinion by the facts in the case, which are that Mrs. Schenley gave the land to the city for park purposes, and that it was so stipulated in the deed of gift and could not be used for any other purpose.

Appeal to Mrs. Schenley.

President Crawford said: "I believe that Mrs. Schenley could be induced to agree to allow some of the property to be used in that way. While the experts did not make any recommendations as to a campus, the park would furnish all the campus that is necessary. You will have to take into consideration that the city will have to issue bonds to get the money to buy property. The filtration question is up now and an issue of bonds is suggested for that also. The question is, will the people vote another bond issue? We must look that question in the face, and I do not wish my remarks to be construed as favoring any property. But we must look the issue squarely in the face."

The members of the councilmanic committee, in the formal talk which followed, showed conclusively that they favor the park property if it can be used, as it will not involve the expenditure of money. Several members of the plan and scope committee seemed to give considerable weight to the arguments in favor of the park site, and if it can be used there is little doubt that it will be recommended by the committee.

Court Decision Necessary.

It was agreed that the expense of getting ready for building purposes would be slight. Mr. McConway produced figures to show that it would cost $180,000 to get the 11-acre tract in shape for building. There would be filling, grading and the building of a retaining wall.

The matter is so hazed by legal technicalities and knotty points that it must be solved by a court decision, and this will involve a great deal of time. The options secured by Mr. Carnahan from Mrs. Schenley expire January 1, 1903, and it is a question whether the matter can be settled by that time.

Mr. Scaife of the plan and scope committee read to the committee the following letter from Prof. Wilson of Pratt institute, giving in brief the ideas of the board of experts as to a technical school in Pittsburgh, the letter bearing date of July 19, 1902, and being prepared expressly for the information of the councilmanic committee:

Outline of Curriculums.

NEW YORK, July 19, 1902.

Mr. William Lucien Scaife, Pittsburgh, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Scaife: Mr. Hammerschlag and I have carefully discussed the recapitulation that you suggested, and have prepared the following for your personal use. We do not think it advisable, however, at this time to attach it to the preliminary report that we submitted on July 5, as it is impossible for us to convey our full thought in this short resume.

First—The Carnegie technical schools would be for young men and women of an opportunity to acquire such special skill or knowledge of science or art which will directly fit them for the industries represented in Pittsburgh.

Second—Both day and evening classes should be provided in all the different lines, so far as possible.

Third—The Carnegie technical schools should be an educational institution, composed of four distinct and separate schools, namely: Schools of science and technology, school of mechanics and artisans, school of fine and applied art, and woman's industrial school.

Three Year Courses.

Fourth—The school of science and technology should offer young men thorough day courses, short three years, in engineering in the application of mechanics and other sciences to manufacturing enterprises; they should include steel manufacture and metallurgy; structural steel design and construction; machine construction and design; applied electricity, power generation and transmission; glass manufacture; clay working and ceramics; gas manufacture, and the refining of petroleum products; the technical side of architecture; applied mining science, etc., etc.

The evening courses should cover the same ground so far as the limited time permits.

Fifth—The school for mechanics and artisans should offer to young men short practical day and thorough evening—in the following manufacturing and building trades: Pattern making, moulding and foundry work, blacksmithing, machine forging, tool making, machine work, etc., and plumbing, blacksmithing, bricklaying, masonry, carpentry, painting, electric wiring, sheet metal and cornice work, steam fitting, and hot water heating, etc.

Many Lines of Industry.

This school should also include evening technical lecture courses for journeymen, in such lines as moulding and foundry work, stationary and steam engineering, pattern making, plumbing, electrical working, etc.

Sixth—The school of fine and applied art for both sexes should furnish practical instruction in applied art, in such lines as pottery and glass design, design applied to stained glass, tiling and mosaic, illustration and book cover design, ornamental metal work applied in iron, brass and copper, interior decoration and furniture design, art typography preparatory to electrotyping, engraving, etching, and other reproducing processes, etc.

It should also offer thorough courses in fine art with specialties, opportunity to specialize in such lines as water color and oil painting, life and portrait painting, sculpture and stone carving, architectural design and ornament, and wood carving, etc.

Work for Women.

Seventh—The woman's industrial school should provide: Thorough technical courses for dressmakers, costume designers, professional housekeepers, librarians, secretaries, etc., etc. Also short trade courses for milliners, seamstresses, stenographers and typewriters, bookkeepers, office assistants, and possibly for compositors, upholsterers, bookbinders, leather workers, etc.

Eighth—A site should be secured of suitable size for the arrangement of the building so as to keep the four schools separate.

Ninth—The urgent demand for education of this character should influence your trustees to establish and start the Carnegie technical schools at the earliest possible time.

Trusting you will find this a help to you in studying the report and that it will be of service for reference, I am yours,

ARTHUR C. WILLISLON.

After the meeting the full councilmanic committee paid a visit to the 52-acre tract owned by Mrs. Mary Schenley, and then went out to Schenley park to look over the site proposed there. The councilmen were greatly impressed with the beauty and fine situation of the park site, and it is altogether likely that an effort will be made to have Mrs. Schenley give permission to the city to use the ground for the polytechnic school instead of park purposes, for which it was given.

BROTHERHOOD TRAIN.

Local Delegates to Convention of St. Andrew Will Occupy It.

The Seventeenth annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will convene in Boston, Wednesday, October 8, and will remain in session until the Sunday evening following.

The national headquarters of the Brotherhood are in this city, having been removed from New York last fall, and the Pittsburgh assembly is making elaborate preparations to send to Boston the largest representation of delegates that has ever attended a national convention. Each of the 24 chapters in the city and its immediate vicinity will be represented by from one to five delegates, and to handle these and their friends who will accompany them, a special train, composed of two or more Pullman sleepers, will be run over the Lake Erie Railroad, leaving the South Side terminal Tuesday afternoon, October 7.

This "Brotherhood Train" will be augmented along its route by cars from Cleveland and Chicago, and at Buffalo it will be met by the men from Detroit and Canadian points.

"FOR ALL CATARRHAL COMPLAINTS"

Pe-ru-na is Most Excellent," Writes Congressman John L. Sheppard.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN L. SHEPPARD.

Gentlemen—"I have used Peruna in my family and find it a most excellent remedy for all catarrhal complaints."—Congressman John L. Sheppard.

THERE are two things that the whole medical profession agree about concerning catarrh. The first is that catarrh is the most prevalent and omnipresent disease to which the people in the United States are subject. All classes of people have it. Those who stay indoors much and those who go outdoors much. Working classes have it and sedentary classes have it.

The doctor finds catarrh to be his constant and ever-present foe. It complicates nearly every disease he is called upon to treat.

The second thing about catarrh on which all doctors agree, is that it is difficult to cure it. Local remedies may give relief, but they fail to cure permanently. Sprays or snuffs amount to little or nothing except to give temporary relief.

Catarrh is frequently located in internal organs which cannot be reached by any sort of local treatment. All this is known by every physician.

To devise some systemic internal remedy which would reach catarrh at its source, to eradicate it permanently from the system—this has been the desire of the medical profession for a long time. Forty years ago Dr. Hartman confronted this problem. He believed then that he had solved it. He still believes he has solved it. He cures thousands of people annually. During all these years Peruna has been the remedy upon which he has relied.

It was at first a private prescription, afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drugstore and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

A Case of Nasal Catarrh of Five Years' Standing Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I recommend it to others."—Rudolph M. Patterson.

A course of Peruna never fails to bring relief. There is no other remedy like Peruna. Its cures are prompt and permanent.

Mr. Camillus Senne, 257 West 129th street, New York, writes:

"I have fully recovered from my catarrhal troubles. I suffered for three years with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief, but at last I have been cured by the wonderful remedy called Peruna.

Mr. Camillus Senne.

"I read of Peruna in your almanac, and wrote you for advice, which I followed. After taking one and one-half bottles of Peruna I am entirely cured, and can recommend Peruna to anyone as the best and surest remedy for any catarrhal troubles."—Camillus Senne."

Hearing Lost by Catarrh—Restored by Peruna.

Mr. William Bauer, Burton, Texas, a Ginner and Miller, writes:

"Some years ago I lost the hearing in my left ear, and upon examination by a specialist, catarrh was decided to be the cause. I took a course of treatment and regained my hearing for a time, but I soon lost it completely. I commenced to take Peruna according to directions and have taken eight bottles in all, and my hearing is completely restored, and I shall sing the praises of Peruna whenever an opportunity occurs.—Wm. Bauer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

New Local Was Organized—A local union of the United Mine Workers was organized at Thoms Run on Friday evening by William Little, a member of the national board of the miners' organization. A large mass meeting was held last night at the Nixon mines in Heidleberg, near Carnegie. Among the speakers were Uriah Bellingham, vice president of the miners' organization, and Duncan McDonald, general organizer of Illinois. The meeting was one of the largest ever held by the miners in that district.

Forty Will Be Immersed—The gospel services in a big tent on Washington avenue near Ninth street, Braddock, will be ended tomorrow. A large farewell meeting will be held at the banks of the Monongahela river, when 40 converts will be baptised by immersion, and the Rev. G. H. Claflin of Allegheny will have charge. The Rev. F. J. Gaskey of Turtle Creek, who has been in charge of the work since it was started in Braddock, will preach in the evening. At the Davis hall on Washington avenue, between Eighth and Ninth streets, a permanent mission will be established after tomorrow. There have been almost 200 converts since the work began.

A NATIONAL TRIUMPH SCORED BY THE GAZETTE YESTERDAY

The formation of immense combinations for the control of the various industries of the United States is spreading and widening every day. The importance of such a movement in any branch of industry makes the details of the merging proposition and the men concerned in the combination matters in which the public is vitally interested.

It is, therefore, the aim of every progressive newspaper in the country to secure and put before its readers this information at the earliest possible moment. The promoters of such an enterprise are not usually willing to give out any information in regard to it until all the details of organization are complete. As a consequence, the securing of accurate information in regard to such a movement is a stroke of newspaper enterprise.

The Gazette yesterday scored a national triumph, for it published full details of the combination now being made of the leading manufacturers of lead and white lead in the United States. The full scope of this journalistic coup can only be realized by considering that out of the thousands of papers in this country, The Gazette was the only one to publish this story.

Through its news bureau in New York the first word came of the great $200,000,000 combination that was to take control of this line of business and combine all the producers into one great firm. It is a daily occurrence for The Gazette to beat its Pittsburgh competitors on many stories of wide interest, but to beat the whole world on an item of such industrial and economic importance is given to but few papers, and they the leading journals of the country.

THE REV. M'CLURE

Writes an Unsolicited Letter Praising the Angelus Piano Player.

The following letter from the Reverend Alfred J. P. McClure, of Philadelphia, voices the sentiments of hundreds of Pittsburgh's best families who use the Angelus:

The Church House,
12th and Walnut streets.
Philadelphia, Pa., July 24, 1902.
Wilcox & White Co.

Dear Sirs:

I have meditated for some time writing to you a personal note expressing my great pleasure in and enjoyment of the Angelus and the Angelus music in connection with the Piano. It has opened up to me a new world of enjoyment. Always fond of music, I have never had an opportunity of becoming familiar with the great productions by as constant repetition as seemed necessary to learn them. The Angelus with the rolls has given me an intimate knowledge of many of the great productions, as well as the pleasure of hearing many minor and lighter works in some intimate way.

Of course, your manufacture of the Angelus and of the rolls is for gain; you are in the business for business reasons, and yet the ultimate result, you must be gratified in knowing, is that the world comes into greater knowledge and light and art and facility through these. It is a fine illustration of the method of Providence, over-ruling the forces and the motives and the energies of the world for good and advancement in His developing process called civilization.

I believe the Angelus is by all odds the best instrument, and I am a strong partisan when convinced, as I am in this case, by test and experience. You have made possible unused resources of pure pleasure and diversion, and I am grateful.

Very sincerely yours,
Rev. Alfred J. P. McClure,
Assistant Treasurer and Financial Agent, General Clergy Relief Fund.

DONAHUE'S RIGHT TO COUNCIL SEAT IS CONTESTED

Court Hears Quo Warranto Proceeding to Oust the Fourth Warder.

FRANKLIN COLLECTOR IS CALLED

Testified the Selectman Paid Taxes There in 1897—Donahue Denies He Voted or Changed His Place of Residence.

The quo warranto proceedings to oust P. J. Donahue from his seat in Pittsburgh select council as a representative of the Fourth ward was heard in common pleas court No. 3, before Judge J. A. Evans, yesterday. When court adjourned all the evidence had been heard. The case will be continued Monday morning. The petitioner is represented by Attorney John S. Weller and John Marron, while Donahue's interests are being looked after by Attorneys W. B. Rodgers and W. J. Brennen.

During the hearing the tax collector of Franklin, this state, was called. He swore that Donahue paid taxes at that place and during his examination the following dialogue took place:

"Are you a Democrat?" asked Mr. Brennen.

"No, sir; I am a Republican," answered the witness.

"Ask him what he is," suggested Mr. Marron to the witness.

"Oh, everybody knows what I am," laughingly answered Mr. Brennen.

"Not lately, they don't," said Mr. Marron, whereupon the court came to the rescue.

Donahue swore he went into the newspaper business at Franklin in 1897; that he boarded at a hotel and later went to housekeeping. He acknowledged he attended a political caucus at that place, but did not do anything "more than some talking." He declared he was registered there but did not vote at the fall election at Franklin in 1897.

A Mr. Whitaker of Franklin testified that he had had a conversation with Donahue in 1897, and that he spoke as if he intended making Frankl in his home. The witness also said he gave Donahue his proxy to attend a Democratic convention, that the latter attended church there and that his children went to school.

A printer testified that he had worked for Donahue at Franklin, and that while his paper was engaged in an election controversy Donahue said they "couldn't run him out of town and that he was going to stay there."

In behalf of Donahue several witnesses were heard to show that he has been a resident of Allegheny county within the past five years, among them being Donahue, who was called for direct examination. He told in detail of his movements within the past five years.

Mr. Weller asked that the court give binding instructions against Donahue. Judge Evans said Mr. Weller's points were pursuasive, but no conclusive, and said the matter was one for the jury. In dismissing the jury until Monday morning Judge Evans said:

"I presume it is not necessary to say to you that it is highly improper to speak to any person about this case. Should you speak to anyone regarding it or allow anyone to speak to you about it, both would be guilty of a breach of the law. But if any person should attempt to speak to you it is your duty to report it to the court."

WILL DEDICATE NEW BRADDOCK SYNAGOGUE

Agudat Achim Congregation Will Tomorrow Occupy Their $20,000 Structure.

The new Jewish synagogue of the Agudat Achim congregation of Braddock, will be dedicated tomorrow with impressive ceremonies. The structure is one of the handsomest in the town. The building cost $10,000, including $4,000 for the site. Work on the superstructure was started last April, and has been hurried to completion. Rabbi Jacob Basil has charge of the congregation. The society from which the congregation has grown was organized in Braddock about eight years ago, with 20 members, and has continued to flourish since its inception until now it has a membership of 75.

The new Synagogue is built of buff brick, extending back from Talbot avenue 200 feet near Eleventh street. It is an imposing structure, of elegant design. The basement will be used as parochial school rooms there will be a large swimming pool for the use of the congregation. The idea was first propounded by Rabbo Basil, and met with general approval from the congregation.

The main auditorium on the first floor of the building, has a seating capacity of about 1,000 with a large gallery extending around three-fourths of the interior, seating 200. Orthodox rabbis from all parts of western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia are expected to participate in the dedication. Rabbi Basil expects to clear the building of all debt tomorrow before it is dedicated. About three-fourths of the funds have already been contributed.

WORK OF METHODIST WOMEN.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Pittsburgh Conference in Semi-Annual Session.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh conference was held yesterday in the Ames Methodist Episcopal church, Hazelwood. Mrs. William D. Yankirk presided. The sessions were attended by about 100 delegates from the several auxiliary societies of the district.

Miss C. J. Carnahan conducted the devotional service at the morning session, and Mrs. C. V. Wilson delivered an address of welcome. Reports from the auxiliary societies showed that excellent work is being done.

Mrs. W. B. Slutz conducted the devotional service at the afternoon session, and Miss Anna Gallimore, a missionary in India, gave an interesting talk on the work in her field.

The treasurer's report shows that during the past year $15,757.39 has been contributed to the conference, which includes the $5,000 thank offering to be used towards the erection of an industrial home for women at Foo Chow, China.

NO DECISION REACHED.

Tin Plate Manufacturers and Workmen Failed to Agree at Conference Yesterday.

The conference between representatives of the American Tin Plate Company and the tin workers continued its session yesterday afternoon at the headquarters of the Amalgamated association in Smithfield street. It was expected that the conference would arrive at a definite conclusion yesterday on the rebate proposition, which has been up twice before, and adjust the tin plate scale. The conference was called by President Theodore J. Shaffer for the purpose of arranging the foot notes of the scale and to have a final discussion on the rebate proposition presented by the manufacturers some time ago, to enable them to secure export trade.

Neither President Shaffer nor any of the conferees would give out any statement on the outcome of the conference. President Shaffer said that the meeting would not be concluded until tomorrow.

The conference committee consists of John Quinn, John Edward, Granite City; John Chappell, George Sadler, New Castle; G. R. Price, New Kensington; Thomas Collins, Connellsville; H. J. Duffy, Martins Ferry, O.; John Duffy, Muskegon, Mich, and W. B. Clark, Sharon, Pa.

VISITORS AT THE EXPO.

Great Influx from Surrounding Points Is Looked For Today. The Musical Programs.

Today promises to be one of the big Saturdays at the Pittsburgh exposition. A number of special excursion trains are to be run and the railroad men say that the numerous advance inquiries at the offices give indications of an enormous influx of suburbanites. Pittsburghers will, of course, be out en masse, for a Saturday night is hardly complete without a visit to the exposition. Four good orchestral programs have been arranged for today, while Mildred Rogers will sing two of her effective solos. The programs for this afternoon follow:

2 P. M.

"Boston Tea Party".....Pryor
Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor".....Nicolai
(a) "The Little Sandman".....Ellenberg
(b) serenade "Bonheur".....Haring
Waltzes from "Der Opernsteiger".....Zeller
"German Patrol".....Ellenberg

4 P. M.

"The Rough Riders".....Laurendeau
Overture, "If I Were King".....Adam
Soprano solo, "Girls of Seville".....
Miss Mildred Rogers.
Scene Grotesque, "Dance of the Skeletons".....

WINDOW GLASS MEN AGREE ON A SCALE

WORKERS WILL GET SAME WAGES AS LAST FIRE.

An Effort Will Be Made to Get Denny Organization to Postpone Opening of Fire.

The second days' conference for the settlement of a wage scale between the wage committee of the Window Glass Workers' association, L. A. No. 300, and the officials of the American Window Glass Company and the Federation of Cooperative Manufacturers came to a successful conclusion yesterday afternoon. The manufacturers after a short discussion agreed to pay last year's wage scale, which was in effect at the end of the May fire, and which is 12 per cent higher than the scale signed by the independent manufacturers and Window Glass Workers of the Denny organization.

It was decided at the conference yesterday that all the plants begin work together on October 15, and run continuously for not less than 32 weeks, and longer providing the manufacturers operating under L. A. 300 agree to do this. This rate of wages was decided at the conference with the proviso that the workers of the Denny organization agree not to start work before October 15. A committee was appointed by President Burns to notify the Denny organization to at once call a meeting of its wage committee and executive board to take action in the matter.

In case the officers refuse to meet or accept the proposition for an advance of 12 per cent in wages the officers and members of L. A. 300 will make an appeal to the rank and file of the new organization to refuse to begin work before October 15, so that all the workers in both organizations may secure the advance.

The officers of the Burns organization entered into an agreement at the conference that if the officers and members of the Denny organization decide that the wages accepted by L. A. 300 are not enough they will allow them to fix the rate of wages for the coming fire no matter how high, providing that it is not lower than the scale now agreed on by the Burns organization or the wages paid at the end of the blast.

If the independent workers refuse this proposition it will inaugurate a war in the glass business and the responsibility will rest with the Denny organization. At present there are something over 300 pots operating and the scale effects many workers.

President W. T. Gray of the National Window Glass Jobbers' association has sent out a call for a meeting at the Cadillac hotel, Detroit, Mich., Tuesday, September 23. The officers of the American Window Glass Company and the Federation company will be present, and will be prepared to state their policy for the coming blast, and to name prices.

MURPHY NEW BOSS OF TAMMANY HALL

VAIN PROTEST AGAINST ONE-MAN POWER.

Big Chief Devery Is Refused a Certificate to Enable Him to Hold a Convention.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.

Tammany hall's executive committee had a strenuous session at the wigwam this evening. Charles F. Murphy was selected as leader of the braves, practically Richard Croker's successor, by a vote of 27 to 8. John F. Carroll being unable to stem the tide in favor of "one-man rule."

The "Big Chief" Devery, who won from John Sheehan and Frank Goodwin in the Ninth district, was practically refused his certificate enabling him to hold a convention to elect delegates to the state convention, which is taken to mean that the fight to prevent Devery's participation in the convention is on in earnest.

After the vote, which resulted in such a decisive victory for Mr. Murphy, was taken, several Carroll men made speeches in which they vigorously protested against "one-man" rule in Tammany hall. They declared that such powers should be vested in the executive committee of 37 members.

Immediately after Murphy's selection was certain a cable message was sent to Richard Croker. An answer was received, it is said, commending Murphy's election and congratulating him.

On a proposition to change the place for holding conventions in the Ninth district for selecting delegates to state, county, senatorial and assembly districts Frank Goodwin demanded that the matter be laid on the table and protested against William S. Devery becoming the accredited representative of the district on the ground of fraud. The matter was referred to the committee on elections.

Approaching Secretary Thomas F. Smith, who was arrayed against him in his fight for supremacy with Mr. Goodwin, Devery in a gruff tone said:

"Mr. Secretary, we want our credentials. We want our credentials, or certificate, or whatever you call it, that changes the place of headquarters of the defeated candidate to ours, where we are supposed to hold our convention to elect delegates to the state convention."

"That matter has been referred to the committee on elections, Mr. Devery," said Secretary Smith, "and I have nothing for you here."

"Oh, that be blowed!" said Devery. "We are here to make a demand for our credentials. We want them now, and we won't make any more demands. You know our address, and unless we get them mighty soon we will hold our meetings in the street, in the open air, and we will name our delegates to the state convention, and all your frills here won't stop us. Good night."

With that the big fellow doffed his hat, bowed to the assembled braves and left the room.

Hoadley's Will Filed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The will of George Hoadley, former governor of Ohio, was filed for probate here today. The value of the property in this estate is given as $215,000, of which $200,000 is in real property. The entire estate goes to the widow. She is appointed sole executrix.

ABOUT EYES.

Glasses Are Not Always Necessary.

Parents are often advised to get glasses for their children by the school authorities who attribute the weak, watery condition of the eyes of the child to some defect in the vision, and do not realize that the trouble may arise from the common practice of coffee drinking.

A case in point, Mrs. C. E. Knapp of Elyria, O., says: "Six months ago we were a family of invalids; my husband, myself and two children were all afflicted with stomach trouble. I would get so faint before it was time for regular meals, and after eating had pain and distress in the stomach, which felt as though there was a hard lump in there. I felt drowsy and stupid most of the time. If I was out in the wind my eyes would water so it hindered me from seeing.

"My son was the worst afflicted. His eyes blurred so they hindered his progress in school and we thought it would be necessary to have them treated. His teacher finally had him bring his reader home with word that I have him read an hour each day out of school. He could not read a paragraph without stopping to wipe his eyes or close them. We were great coffee drinkers, especially my boy, but never thought that was the cause of our trouble until I read an article on the subject in a Cleveland paper.

"We were discussing it at table one day and my daughter said, 'I know it is coffee that hurts me, for when I do not drink it I do not have that lump in my stomach.' My boy said, 'A lump is nothing; every time I drink coffee my fingers prickle just as though they were asleep.' I was both scared and astonished at such information, and told them I had made the last cup of coffee I ever would for home use. I got a package of Postum Food Coffee and tried it for our next meal, and we soon learned to like it and think it better than coffee.

"We have none of us been troubled with our stomachs since we commenced to use it. Our eyes do not water any more when in the wind, our cheeks and lips are red, instead of blue or purple, when we are out in the cold; the drowsy feeling has left and the prickly feeling has entirely left my son. We use it twice a day and give it freely to my 20-months-old babe. We find it better and cheaper than coffee. We cannot speak too highly of its merits, for we know we owe the change in our health to Postum Cereal Food Coffee."

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Rousing Campaign Opening.

No more could have been desired in enthusiasm than that shown in the opening of the state campaign in Pittsburgh yesterday. Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker, Republican candidate for governor, was greeted during the day by the leaders and in the evening by a huge gathering at Old City hall. He was cheered along the route of parade before the meeting and his remarks were applauded to the echo by the thousands who gained admittance to hear them. Other thousands were turned from the doors after the hall was filled. There was no sign anywhere of any weakening in the Republican sentiment of Pittsburgh.

There was an effort on the part of some of the candidates of the old "organization" to divert the demonstration in honor of the gubernatorial candidate to their own advantage. Of the success the public may judge. It will not be forgotten that these men did everything in their power to prevent the nomination of Judge Pennypacker, and their attempt now to attach their interests to his candidacy is belated recognition of his popular strength. Their part in the proceedings was not in the best of taste, but fits in with their design to procure votes by any means that may offer.

The speech of Senator Penrose will give the people something to think about concerning the record of the Republican party in Pennsylvania and in the nation. Those public measures to which he called attention have the advantage of being things accomplished—not mere campaign pledges, such as the Democratic candidates are making about the state. Twice Pattison was tried as governor, and all of his achievements sink to insignificance beside any one of the things done by the Republican party to which Senator Penrose referred.

Congressman Littlefield spoke, naturally, of national issues which enter no less into this campaign than the "state issues" so persistently harped upon by the Democratic spellbinders in the hope of diverting attention from the free silver, free trade record. In his eloquent way he analyzed the Democratic national arguments to the delight of his audience. He proved himself a very effective and polished speaker.

Of the local speakers it may be said they were chosen by the machine for its own purposes. Candidate Burke made a good speech, marred by the injection of a reference to the factional fight in the county, and Mr. Burleigh was guilty of the same offense. This was not courteous to Judge Pennypacker, whose name heads the tickets of both. The people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, however, are familiar with the situation and able to estimate the trick at its true value, knowing the candidates for congress on the Citizens ticket to be at least as good Republicans as Mr. Burke.

Taken altogether the demonstration augurs well for the outcome of the state campaign in Allegheny county, where the state ticket will have the support of every Republican not influenced to the contrary by private interest in the local machine.

Inexcusable Deception.

There can be no satisfactory defense of the attempted concealment by hospital attaches of the cause of the death of Dr. Daniel L. Wasser. The bereaved wife was entitled to a full statement of the facts, but she says she was led to believe at the hospital that her husband had died from typhoid fever, there not being the slightest intimation that his death was due to the accidental administering of carbolic acid. There is no excuse for deception under such circumstances.

It is hard to imagine how carbolic acid could be mistaken for sweet oil, especially in a hospital. The odor of the poison is so pronounced it should be immediately detected by any person endowed with the sense of smell, whereas the oil is practically odorless. A hospital, above all places, should be free from even a suspicion of carelessness, and upon the authorities of such institutions rests the duty of making them so. Fortunately, mistakes like that in the case of Dr. Wasser are of rare occurrence in hospitals, but the safeguards should be so effective that none could occur.

Judge Pennypacker's Speech.

In addressing the people of Pittsburgh Judge Pennypacker gave special interest to his speech by making local history and local political conditions his theme. The contrast which he drew between the Pittsburgh of "the good old days when the Democratic party controlled the affairs of the state and nation" and the Pittsburgh of today was a striking and effective illustration of the truth of his statement that "no community in America has thriven more because of the practical application of the principles inculcated by the Republican party than has Pittsburgh." And the application of those principles has not only favored Pittsburgh, but has been attended by an unexampled prosperity for the whole nation, so that the benefit and influence of the protective policy are now so manifestly general that the old efforts to make it appear that Pittsburgh interests were being favored at the expense of general interests have been long since abandoned. There is no longer any contention that protection is a sectional policy, and it is a salient fact of the political situation that concern in the tariff schedules is more direct, immediate and pressing in other portions of the country than it is in Pittsburgh. The suggestion of tariff revision under Republican leadership causes no tremors or anxiety here. It is true, as Judge Pennypacker declared, that "no other community has greater reason for being faithful in allegiance to the Republican party and earnest in its efforts," but the unselfish patriotism of that attachment is now beyond question. The prosperity of Pittsburgh is not only an exemplification of the beneficial results of protection, but is also a vindication of the national importance of that policy, now that the activities centering at Pittsburgh are seen to be national in their scope and literally world-wide in their economic importance.

The judicial habit of mind is plainly displayed in Judge Pennypacker's comments upon the relation between the methods of state legislation and rights of local self-government. This portion of his address possesses an individuality and an independence of thought that will cause it to be perused with great interest. He touches with characteristic candor upon a great problem of American politics and the tenor of his remarks show how remote is his attitude from that of ordinary partisanship. His criticism of the ripper bill is based upon general principles, and it was never contended that the ripper bill embodied a general principle or was anything more than an exceptional proceeding. The limitations upon action which existed as a result of antecedent legislation justified the ripper bill as an emergency measure, and the advocates of charter reform were not responsible for the subsequent perversion of the movement. That movement will go on until its purpose of good government for Pittsburgh is accomplished. It will reach its fruition, as Judge Pennypacker well said, when "all of the people who here really form one community may be united in one great municipality with such government as they in view of their needs shall themselves determine."

Railroad Improvements.

Discussion has begun in the railroad offices of the winter schedule. Important changes are contemplated by the Pennsylvania system. One idea is to run local trains through, from say Pitcairn to Carnegie, or from Homestead to Greensburg, thereby avoiding the necessity of handling and rehandling in the crowded yards at Union depot. The plan will also enable persons traveling from suburban points on one side of Pittsburgh to go to points on the other side without change of cars. This innovation should be of advantage both to the railroads and the public.

Another important matter ought not to be overlooked. That is, the extension of suburban service. For example, the travel between this city and Greensburg has completely outgrown the facilities given it. Trains are daily overcrowded in both directions. The intervals between are too long. The new town of Trafford City is outside the pale of Pitcairn trains. Irwin, Jeannette and Greensburg are all growing rapidly and more of their people want to travel to the city every day. They ought to have more trains for the purpose, and as the traffic is profitable the railroad people may find it worth while to knit the Pittsburgh region more closely together.

New York at Gettysburg.

Gov. Odell of New York unveiled on the Gettysburg battlefield yesterday an equestrian statue erected in honor of Maj. Gen. Henry W. Slocum, the distinguished soldier who led the right wing of the union army in that memorable battle and contributed so largely to the national victory. The occasion was worthy of the man and of the battle, and of the part sustained by the state of New York in the three-days' conflict. The governors of the great states of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey were present with their staffs and with detachments of the National guards of the several states, together with United States regulars and veterans of the civil war.

Gen. Slocum was a West Pointer who, like Grant, had retired from the army and entered peaceful pursuits, but when the war broke out he promptly offered his services to the government, and turned to excellent account the military education the nation had bestowed upon him. He was not only a brave and patriotic soldier, but gave to the performance of his duty, as Gov. Odell pointed out, an intelligence which insured for him the respect and confidence of his associates and the men whom he led.

Gov. Odell, in his address, said that Gen. Slocum and the brave men of other states need no monument to perpetuate their glory, for the field of Gettysburg and the greater nation stand as the monument to their devotion, their patriotism and their heroism. But monuments are erected as the nation's tribute, and it is fitting that the scenes of their struggles be visited, to show that time has not tempered our love for the brave boys in blue. For the men of the south the governor of New York had appreciative words, which will not be lost upon the surviving wearers of the gray. There are no longer dividing lines in our patriotism, for all are faithful citizens of a reunited country.

The Business Situation.

Money is easier. That is the most marked change from conditions prevailing at the end of last week. New York then had a rate of 20 per cent on call loans, as compared with 7 to 9 per cent at the close of business last evening. The action of Secretary Shaw and a flow of money into New York from all directions speedily relieved the stringency which affected no interests seriously except those of Wall street. The New York stock market during the week has been rather inactive, without great fluctuations in values.

The crop situation was not much altered by the light frosts, though first reports caused a flurry in the grain markets. Damages to corn and wheat have been very slight. These crops are now assured. There is yet some complaint of shortage in farmhands for garnering the harvests throughout the west. This may cause some loss. The total corn for market may be somewhat decreased, also, by the fact that farmers in some sections believe it cheaper to burn corn than coal—one indirect effect of the strike in the anthracite region.

As for the strike, it continues a disturbing element. No apparent progress has been made toward a settlement, though strenuous efforts have been made by various persons. Manufacturers in districts usually supplied by anthracite mines have been retarded in making plans for the future. Additional stress upon the bituminous regions has also been noticeable. In the Pittsburgh region the increased bituminous output has added to the difficulties of the railroads, and other shippers have suffered in some degree from the congestion. Conditions are much improved in the New river district of the Virginias, the strike being practically over and the production of coal increasing. This naturally relieves the pinch at Baltimore and the ports south, a large share of the district's business being the supplying of coal for ocean steamers.

Furnaces continue to have trouble about obtaining an adequate supply of coke, but have maintained high records in production. There has been no marked change in the market for pig or finished products. An event of the week was the purchase in England, for early delivery, of a quantity of high-grade hematite ore. All lines of metal manufacture are sold well into next year for the utmost capacity of the mills, and orders continue to go abroad for prompt delivery.

In the local stock market the feature has been bank and trust company stocks. The trading has been active and the advance in prices most remarkable. New high records have been established for nearly everything on the list. There is no explanation for the movement except the unlimited confidence of the investing public in the future of Pittsburgh and its financial institutions. The buyers have not been governed wholly by present book values.

In general the tone of business is good. There is nothing in sight to mar the future prospect. Of 18 railroads reporting earnings for the first two weeks of September, 15 show large increases over last year, one no change and two a slight decrease. It is believed there is now ample money in the west for moving the crops, and the return movement is expected to soon produce a better situation among the New York banks. Fall orders in the mercantile business are unusually heavy, and all lines are moving well. Bank exchanges in Pittsburgh show large excess over last year, and the same is generally true in less degree of other centers of trade.

The Ford City telegraph operator who put a burglar permanently out of business is receiving many deserved congratulations on the success of his operation.

"You told me," the customer exclaimed, excitedly shaking a small, square package in the druggist's face, "that if I would take a dose of this stuff I wouldn't be seasick!"

"Did you use it according to directions?"

"I did. I took a powder just after I went on board and it made me sick for the entire voyage."

SALUTARY CHECK TO PIER TIPPING

Dismissal of Customs Inspectors Calls Attention to Serious Abuse.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.

Five inspectors of the custom house in New York have been dismissed for taking bribes from passengers. It seems as if the management of custom business at steamship piers in this city never will be brought to a comfortable basis. Only a week or so ago it was arranged that presents for members of the passengers' family could be brought into the country free of duty, and the concession was regarded as a good one. So it is. There is still so much annoyance in passing the custom house, however, that many persons are only too glad to "tip" an inspector to let them through easily and swiftly. In many cases, it is the time wasted which grinds the home-coming traveler more than the payment of duties. The average loyal American recognizes the fact that the revenues of the government are the business of every citizen, and that legitimate taxation should be paid; but he does not like to spend an hour or two on a draughty pier, with grumbling fellow-passengers around him, and inspectors behaving as if they were superior beings. So, when he has an opportunity to get extra attention, purely on a commercial basis, he is willing to pay the price tacitly agreed on, without saying anything more about it. It is admitted that the "tipping" custom is becoming more and more flagrant in this country, and it is not an altogether new thing to give a gratuity to custom officials. It seems that the "tips" have become too frequent or too large now, and Secretary Shaw ordered the dismissal of five men forthwith, with, perhaps, others to follow. Pittsburghers suffer the annoyances of the custom house as much as any other class, and they know that always it has been customary to hand a five dollar bill or two to inspectors in the hope of getting baggage passed quickly and without too rigid an examination. It is not likely that "tipping" will be ever abolished from steamship piers in New York, but it is just as well that the system should be rebuked often enough to prevent the abuse becoming unbearable.

Pie for Bennett Estate Tenants.

Laura Biggar, or Mrs. Bennett, as she prefers to be called, is determined to push her claim to the late H. M. Bennett's property in every way possible. She has had a sensational time of it in trying to collect rents from some of the flat-dwellers on the East Side in houses which belonged to the departed millionaire. The women in the flats have heard that there is a doubt as to the ownership of the property, and with the shrewdness of their kind, they see in this state of things an opportunity to abstain from paying rent. The average East Sider does not pay any more than he can help, and now that the claim of Laura Biggar is in the courts, she finds that it is not easy either to collect rents or turn the recalcitrant tenants into the street. It is troublesome for the ex-actress, but is just "pie" for the tenants.

Daft Over Devery.

One of Devery's spellbinders has gone crazy over the Ninth district victory. He made speeches for "Big Bill" day after day and night after night, and when Devery was declared elected he kept on making speeches. Then he was sent to Bellevue, where he continues to preach about the virtues of the great "pump" statesman of the "four corners."

Menace of the Third-Rail Eye.

From Boston comes the warning that the use of electricity on the "L" railroads engenders an ailment known as the "third rail eye." It is not explained what the nature of the complaint is exactly, but it is described as being exceedingly painful, as if a cinder or steel were in the eye. It is thought in Boston that the burning of soft coal has something to do with the trouble, but the prevailing opinion is that the "third rail" is mainly responsible. Nothing in the way of the "third rail eye" has been reported in New York so far, but we cannot tell what will happen when the full service of electric motors, with the accompanying "deadly third rail," is installed on both sides of Manhattan.

Rides in a Devil Wagon.

One of the up-to-date pleasures of New York is an automobile trip up the Hudson in a public "devil wagon." You pay $2 50 and take your place in a mobile wagonette which holds eight persons and a chauffeur. You are whisked away to Kingsland point, which is 30 miles up the river, whisked back again, and deposited in Madison square, safe and sound (barring accidents), in time for dinner in the evening. These trips are a favorite amusement in these cool days, and the enterprising concern engineering the excursions are making hay as rapidly as possible before rivals come into the field.

The Latest Murder Mystery.

There is one consoling thought in connection with the latest sensational murder mystery in New York. It is likely soon to be unravelled. The police think they know who the assassin is, and all they have to do is to find him. The dramatic features of the affair are so striking that much more than the usual interest is manifested in it. Everyone is talking about the finding of the body, the probability that the deed was committed through jealousy, and all the other elements of the crime. The sensational papers are having the time of their lives. Not since Mrs. Nack and Martin Thorne killed the Turkish bath attendant Goldenrope had there been such a treat for amateur newspaper detectives and writers of penny-dreadful literature. If the strain is not soon relieved there will be an explosion of some kind in Park row that will scatter "extras" all over City Hall park.

Movement to "Down" Devery.

Although Devery declares he will represent the Ninth district in the Democratic state convention, in spite of all attempts to keep him out, John C. Sheehan joins others opposed to Devery in asserting that "Big Bill" shall not reap the fruits of his victory. Sheehan says that money was used illegally to insure Devery's success, and that charges to that effect will go before the committee of credentials. David B. Hill is said to be behind the movement to exclude Devery, and, as has already been shown in The Gazette, Sheehan has reason to be annoyed with the ex-chief, for the story of the "true inwardness" of his campaign is true. Devery sneered today at the efforts making to "down him," as he calls it, and he said with perfect confidence that he would be in convention when it met, laughing at the discomfiture of Sheehan, McGuire, Hill and all the rest of them on the other side.

Baby Hippo Weaned With Pitchfork.

Weaning a baby hippopotamus is not as easy a task as might be supposed. The keepers at Central park zoo had this job today, and they are tired out this evening, with anxiety as well as physical labor. There are three hoppopotami in the managerie—father, mother and baby, named respectively "Caliph," "Mrs. Murphy" and "Lotus." They were removed from their tanks in the open to others in the lion house that they shall be warm in the winter. At the same time, "Lotus" was led to a tank separate from his parents. He is 2 years old and a big fellow for his age. A hippo mother loves her babies as much as does any other warm-hearted creature, and "Mrs. Murphy" roared and plunged when she found that "Lotus" was to live separately hereafter. Gentle persuasions, not altogether unconnected with pitchforks, soothed her in time, however, and tonight all is quiet in Hippo row.

Chinese Woman in Society.

One of the most interesting women in official life in New York is Mrs. Tseng, wife of the newly-appointed Chinese consul at this port. Mrs. Tseng was born in London and in that city was married to Mr. Tseng three years ago. He was at that time attached to the Chinese legation there. Mrs. Tseng is a woman of charming manner and appearance and has been already taken up by society here, although she is of a retiring disposition. She lived in Washington with her husband for some time, and when the couple came to this city to settle down they received so many presents that there were 36 additional pieces of baggage to be brought with them. For the information of Pittsburghers who may happen to meet Mr. or Mrs. Tseng, they pronounce their name as if it were spelled "Jeng."

Police Under Close Scrutiny.

Something of a stir has been created by the revelation that a policeman still on the force served two months in the penitentiary on Blackwell's island for brutally clubbing a citizen without provocation. Commissioner Partridge says that the act was only a misdemeanor and the policeman cannot be dropped from the force for that. The prevailing sentiment, however, is that the city would be safer if the people's nominal protectors bore a clean record absolutely free of such "misdemeanors." Mayor Low is paying greater attention to the running of the police department than has been vouchsafed since Theodore Roosevelt was president of the police board of New York, and many a man in blue uniform is in hourly apprehension that something may drop to his discomfiture.

One on Lillian Russell's Tiara.

Weber & Fields' new extravaganza is not quite the thing yet, and the comedians continue to throw in new gags whenever they can. Peter Daily's latest was induced by the sight of a magnificent diamond tiara on the head of Lillian Russell, which impelled him to remark: "I'm awfully sorry that you've got such a bad headache." "Oh, but I havn't," exclaimed Lillian. To which Peter responded: "Yes, but you have, my dear. Just look at all that chopped ice on your head." And, remember, Lillian Russell never wears paste jewels.

Improving the Transfer Service.

For many, many years it has been a matter of changing cars, with all the bother of transfers, to get to and from ferry stations on the North river down town to Harlem. Pittsburghers who come into New York by the Cortlandt street ferryboats know that it means a tiresome walk up Cortlandt street to the Sixth avenue "L." If they want to go to any point up-town. There is to be a change for the better. Surface electric cars will run from the ferry house direct, taking the passenger up Amsterdam and Columbus avenues to One Hundred and Ninth street. There is another new line from the Christopher street ferry to One Hundred and Sixteenth street, in course of time Manhattan will be able to dispute with Brooklyn the right to be called "trolley town," for extensions are perpetually in progress, and evidently the Metropolitan Street Railway Company is not afraid that the rapid transit tunnel, when finished, will carry all the passengers.

Monday's Amusement Offerings.

Daly's theater will open for the season on Monday with "The Country Girl," and the advance sale of seats indicates good attendance. The same may be said of the Criterion, where we are to have Virginia Harned in A. W. Pinero's new comedy, "Iris." Lulu Glaser will reappear in New York in "Dolly Varden" at the Victoria. John S. Duss announces that his band will play at Madison Square garden on Sunday, the 28th, to wind up his New York engagement. After that he will begin his tour of the country.

From Critic to Playwright.

Franklyn Fyles, for a generation or two dramatic critic on the Sun, is about to give up that work. His resignation has been handed in, and he will most likely drop the work of slaying other people's plays some time next month. Then he will give all his attention to writing plays for his present associates to attack with rapier and bludgeon. Fyles is one of the few realistic and literary characters of the metropolis. Of undoubted cleverness, with a quick appreciation of humor, and the power to express it with the pen, he is one of the most solemn-looking men I know. He may laugh heartily now and then, but he never did it in a theater, no matter how funny might be the words or situation on the stage. He seems to regard being at a play, even if it is a farce, a matter of serious business, and the only acknowledgment of a comedian's efforts I ever saw was an indulgent ghost of a smile. However, he is popular in the literary, journalistic and dramatic set, and it is admitted that there is merit in each of the plays he has so far produced. The one best known is "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which he wrote in collaboration with David Belasco.

E. F. Croker Now Fire Chief.

As was expected, Edward F. Croker, chief of the New York fire department, was this afternoon unanimously elected president of the International Association of Firemen. He succeeds Miles S. Humphreys of Pittsburgh, who was the first of the delegates to grasp Croker's hand in congratulation when his election was announced.

Along the city's side streets when summer time is nigh
I hear the milk cans rattle, I hear the huckster's cry.

I hear the whistles blowing, I hear the ice man's bawl,
I hear the junk man's jingle, I hear the get-up call.

And when the blasts of winter go howling on their way,
I'm wide awake and fearing to turn out for the day.

And if I were a maiden when spring time came my way,
They'd rouse me up right early to be the Queen o' May.

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE GROUNDHOG CLUB.

Fourth Annual Banquet of Punxsutawney's Famous Organization.

Last Friday night the fourth annual banquet of The Pittsburgh Gazette Groundhog club was held on Groundhog knob. It is the custom for the members of the club to take an afternoon off with mattocks and spades and dig up and slaughter a sufficient number of woodchucks for a feast. The animals are cooked by an expert, and while roast woodchuck forms the basis of the feast a variety of other edibles are provided. After the members have eaten copiously and are satisfied the literary exercises begin, which consist of addresses, recitations, songs, etc. At the last meeting H. C. Freas of this place, who is poet laureate of the club, read the following original poem:

We've clubs and clubs, of which you've heard—
The Cornoch club, now it's a "bird."
Its roster's bilge doth far protrude
With names of men both great and good.
The B. P. O. with antlers proud,
Crunch corn and sniff the air aloud.
The Hunters crouch with gun and dog
And soon, forsooth, will raise a fog.
Yet each of these make poor compare
With one, by which all men could swear,
And which we have been pleased to dub
The Pittsburgh Gazette Groundhog club.
The personnel of whose elect
Is classicer than you suspect.

That for each digit held aloft
A groundhog dwells within this croft."
Quoth Lemon Chambers, "Mark the brute,
He goeth now to shoot the chute.
He hits the earth. I'll bet a cent
I know which way the hole is bent."
And then with ear and finger thumps
He casteth round among the lumps.
The hole below, as I had hoped,
Most happily hath telescoped.
Stink here thy shaft." Bill Jordan shed,
"Clink, clunk," his trusty mattock said.

Said Bill, round blanching with a leer,
"I see the lusty propheteer,
Sans typewriter, sans quill, sans ink,
Will spare his bones? Well I don't think——!
Thou obese rascal, weather seer,
Thermometers ascend right here,
And ere the shadows much increase
Your length will sizzle in hot grease."
Then "Woody" spake thus from his den:
"Say are you ready, gentlemen?
I sabe that same old "skin" game
Which gave your fair extended fame.
Two lovely deuces and an ace——"
Here someone promptly closed his face.

Thus Col. Chambers' consommes
And woodchuck soup, bears bouillonaise,
And, by this longhorned gravy spoon,
Our souls do now to his attune!
On yesterday Court Hoover spake,
"Egad! The shadow's in the wake,
The odor wafted from yon hill
A woodchuck flings. It is his will
That we, as ancient Orient
He beckoned by a cinch portent.
Sit aft of me ye scienced rubes.
I'll drive you up to Luther Grube's,
And by this whin and "Tom" and "Bob"
I'll land ye all on Groundhog Knob.

Soon three more "Woodies" shuffled off,
Their pelts lay by the water trough,
Their hams and broth do satiate
The Clubman's maw and greasy pate,
And here's a toast, lest we forget,
Their patron saint the Old Gazette.

"Gadzooks? Look yond." Dad Hoover said,
"A woodchuck beckons with his head,
Four chubby thumbs, unmanicured,
He wigwags with, I am assured

THE DEATH ROLL.

Attorney John J. Mitchell.

John J. Mitchell, the oldest practicing lawyer at the Allegheny county bar, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 178 Fourty-second street, Lawrenceville, of old age. He was 83 years old and had been a member of the local bar since 1837. Mr. Mitchell was a son of Lawrence Mitchell, a tailor, and was born in Pittsburgh June 9, 1819. He was a descendant of a French family which spells the name "Michel." He had always been a resident of this city and one of his dearest recollections was that he was one of the boys who was patted on the head by Gen. Lafayette when he visited Pittsburgh in 1824. For many years Mr. Mitchell was a partner of Judge Samuel Palmer. He had been engaged in many important cases and his opinion for many years had often been sought by the younger members of the bar. One of the most interesting possessions of the family is the diary kept by Attorney Mitchell since he was a young man. Mr. Mitchell's law office was on the present site of the new Frick building in Grant street, and when the old buildings were razed to make way for the new skyscraper, Mr. Mitchell's family induced him to give up office work. Since then he made it a practice to go to the court house at least three times a week to look after the interests of his clients, who consulted him at his home. Attorney Mitchell was the father of 20 children, of whom 18 are still living, among them being Charles E., James A., William R., Lawrence A., Francis F., Henry N., Mrs. Mary C. O'Malley, widow of Attorney John F. O'Malley; Mrs. Annie M. Dienelt, wife of Dr. Walter Dienelt of Alexandria, Va., and the Misses Agnes, Nellie, Augusta and Anna, at home. Attorney John M. Mitchell, who died about 10 years ago, was a son. Mr. Mitchell's family is one of the oldest in this section, his father having settled in Pittsburgh in 1802. Mr. Mitchell's father was shipwrecked near the West Indies and after landing in New York came down the Allegheny river on a raft. He settled in Lawrenceville and was the first alderman of that borough. Attorney Mitchell was the holder of considerable real estate in this city and his diary shows that in 1865 he sold the lot adjoining the Dollar Savings bank to that institution for $5,000. He was an active member of the Roman Catholic church and was an altar boy at the time of the death of the Rev. Charles B. McGuire. When the monument was erected to the dead priest in St. Mary's Catholic cemetery about four years ago Mr. Mitchell delivered the address.

Obituary Notes.

Thomas F. McFarland died at his residence near Sharon, Thursday night, after a long illness, aged 74 years. He was a wealthy farmer and is survived by four sons and one daughter.

Samuel Snodgrass, Sr., an old resident of Donegal township, Washington county, died Thursday night, aged 82. He was a Republican and for 28 years was postmaster at Donley.

George Davis, a prominent merchant of Washington, Pa., died yesterday, aged about 65. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Martin Davis, and four daughters, Mary, Annie, Elizabeth and Nettie, all at home.

Tom Costigan's Job.

From the New York Evening Post.

The talk turned to some of the old-time politicians, and "Big Tom" Costigan, generally known as "Fatty," was mentioned. "An old friend of Costigan's went to Ireland a few years before the old man's death," William Travers Jerome was moved to relate. "There he met Costigan's mother and was asked by her how Tom was getting on.

"'Sure, he be doin' fine,' she was told.

"'An' what's the job he's got now?'

"'Sure he be runnin' a big paper. He's editor of the City Record, a great big paper in New York.'

"Mrs. Costigan smiled delightedly: 'Ah, an' sure I always knew Tom'd get along. Just to think of his bein' 'way up in literatoor!' "

THE PATTISON PRESIDENTIAL BEE BETRAYED

A Parson-Chairman Innocently Does It, and to Campaigner's Chagrin.

STATE ISSUE PRETENSE GIVEN AWAY

The Democratic Band Wagon Travels Through Bedford and Somerset—Fusion Scheme Under Banner of Gen. Koontz.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY.
Staff Correspondent.

Bedford, Pa., Sept. 19.—When preachers get into politics they quite often tell the truth, and just as often cause embarrassment for the men they think they are helping. This happened at Hyndman today, when the Rev. A. R. Kremer, the presiding officer, announced that it was the intention of the Democratic party to make Robert E. Pattison governor of Pennsylvania and then give him two terms in the presidential chair.

The campaigning party did not desire its plans officially announced, and the spellbinders are sorry tonight that the minister was asked to preside. There have been reports that if Pattison could get enough Republican votes to elect him governor his re-election would be paraded as a great Democratic victory and make him the logical candidate for the presidency in 1904. With a record of having been thrice elected governor of Pennsylvania the Democrats of the state would have a good argument to use in the national convention.

Desired the Ambition Concealed.

Of course, the managers of the party and Pattison have not been talking about the future. They aim to entice Republicans from Pennypacker, and to do this they are getting as far away from national politics as possible. It is not convenient for either of the candidates to talk about Bryanism or free silver, so they discuss what they term state issues. This consists chiefly of attacks upon the "machine" and Senator Quay. The voters have been hearing this so often from the men who have been worsted by Quay in battle, that they are growing tired of it.

The Rev. Mr. Kremer is pastor of the Reformed church, and the local Democratic committee at Hyndman thought it would give the meeting tone to have him preside. He was at the train to meet Pattison and Guthrie and took dinner with them. Immediately after the meal the spellbinders adjourned to a vacant lot where a stand had been erected.

A few minutes before the speechmaking there was an alarm of fire from the other end of town, and most of the residents of Hyndman went to see the blaze. About 100 men, women and children remained to hear the addresses.

How the Parson Put It.

The Rev. Mr. Kremer told the audience that he had not been informed until last night that he was to preside, so he was not prepared to make a long Democratic speech. He said enough to give Pattison the shivers and to cause Guthrie considerable worry. The truthful old preacher thought he was paying the ex-governor a pretty compliment when he said:

"Pattison has twice been governor, and he will be again. There is an unwritten law that no man shall be elected president of the United States a third time. No such law exists with reference to the governorship. I would not want to see him elected a fourth time, because we have in store for him a greater honor than any of these. We hope to see the day when Robert E. Pattison will sit in the white house and occupy the presidential chair for eight years."

The face of Pattison was a study. He knew the parson had made a political break. In another minute he was before the audience and endeavoring to wipe out the memory of the preacher's words. After this complimentary paragraph he guided his audience back to those alleged state issues.

How Pattison Parried It.

"It is quite an honor to have the distinguished presiding officer which you have given to us for this meeting. He need make no apology because of his profession to preside at such a meeting as this. One of the bravest and most distinguished soldiers of the American revolution was the fighting parson, Muhlenberg, who went all through that war for the maintenance of the nation. He who has been of the profession of a clergyman has ever been foremost either at the front or at home, showing a loyal devotion to his country. It is therefore a gratification to have the gentleman as our presiding officer."

Pattison had this to say of his record: "I first came to you nearly 20 years ago, and you need have no question as to the record I have made." Pattison appealed to the voters to come out on election day and roll up a majority for him outside of Philadelphia that would insure his election.

Mr. Guthrie is always exercised about what he terms the machine. Today he became a trifle revolutionary, when he said:

"Unless the people make up their minds that they will have their rights and their franchises and their privileges insect, they will come to such a condition before long that they may not be able to get back without a struggle that will daze the peace of the commonwealth."

Men Who Received the Party.

The campaigners were met at Huntingdon this morning by these Bedford county Democrats: County Chairman Frank E. Colvin, H. D. Tate, private secretary to Pattison during the governor's last term; E. F. Kerr, Maj. Robert C. McNamara, Frank Fletcher, Patrick Hughes, Dr. S. H. Gump, D. S. Horn, Lewis Sampe, John T. Miller and ex-Representative E. S. Doty. The committee accompanied the party to Hyndman and Everett.

The campaigners went from Hyndman to Everett, where an openair meeting was held. The candidates were met at the station by a reception committee, consisting of John T. Matt, James T. Boor, Capt. P. C. Morgan, E. M. Koontz, ex-Congressman Joseph E. Thropp, Capt. R. W. Cook, W. W. McDaniel and M. D. Barndollar. The last four men are Union party supporters.

Thropp is endeavoring to secure a fusion nomination for congress in the Bedford-Blair-Cambria district. He has the support of Blair and Bedford, but so far Cambria Democrats have not gotten into line. Thropp has been against the Republican party ever since he failed to receive a nomination to congress.

There was a good crowd at the Everett meeting. It was presided over by Dr. C. N. Hickok, the oldest Democrat in the county. He cast his first vote 61 years ago. Pattison complained because the Republicans were opposed to the people coming.

"They would put the Republicans in one place, the Democrats in another and the Prohibitionists to one side," said the ex-governor, "and tell each of the parties to fight its own battles."

Against Pattison's Interests.

Pattison is opposed to this because he knows that with a straight party fight he could not have a chance in the world, and hopes by constant scolding to win enough Republicans over to his side to make his election certain.

Speeches were made also by Guthrie and Maj. Joseph Veale.

It was almost 8 o'clock tonight when Bedford was reached. Shortly before the arrival of Pattison a squad of mounted men and women came to town from Manns Choice, seven miles over the mountains. They are here to boom the candidacy of John T. Miller for county treasured. Some of the men rode mules. These animals probably will be barred in the future, as it looks too much like dragging a national issue into the fight. There was a parade from the railroad station to the courthouse.

There was a large crowd at the court house and an overflow meeting had to be held. E. F. Kerr presided at the big gathering and Maj. McNamara was chairman of the meeting. Pattison, Guthrie, Veale and Mayne made speeches.

The Democrats are hopeful of carrying Bedford county. To make this possible they have to secure a fusion with the independents. Thropp has a barrel and a desire to shine in Washington society. The Democrats are taking advantage of his ambitions and his cash. If they can get him on the ticket against Congressman Alvin Evans of Cambria, they argue that from Thropp's strong box will come the "reform" argument.

May Get Koontz Into the Field.

Efforts is being made also to secure fusion in the senatorial district of Bedford, Somerset and Fulton. The Democrats have named Mr. Goff of this county, but he is willing to pull off in favor of Gen. W. H. Koontz of Somerset. The fusionists are now corresponding with Koontz and think they can get him into the fight.

Dr. W. C. Miller of Hyndman is the Republican nominee for senator. He is strong at home and has the full support of the organization in Somerset. Republicans here say he can easily defeat Gen. Koontz in the district.

The spellbinders tomorrow will conclude the first week of their barn-storming, with meetings at Tyrone, Hollidaysburg and Altoona.

Changes in the Itinerary.

HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The itinerary of the Pattison campaign party for next week has been changed by State Chairman Creasy at the request of the Democratic leaders of Westmoreland county, in which the state nominees were to have spent a part of next Wednesday. The Democrats have an idea that they can carry Westmoreland and it was today decided that the spellbinders shall spend one whole day in the county later in the campaign.

Representative Joseph W. Mayne of Allentown, who has been with the party ever since Monday, will be relieved tomorrow and his place taken by Representative Fred T. Ikeler of Bloomsburg and Col. Frank J. Fitzsimmons of Scranton. Maj. Moses Veale of Philadelphia will remain with the party indefinitely.

The Pattison party will start on Monday morning from Altoona and will hold day meetings at Cresson and Patton and a night meeting at Johnstown. On Tuesday the party will visit Somerset and Uniontown and hold a night meeting at Connelisville. A day meeting will be held at Beaver Falls and a night meeting at New Castle on Wednesday. Thursday there will be a day meeting at Waynesburg and a night meeting at Washington. Friday there will be day meetings at Kittanning and Pine Furnace and a night meeting at Punxsutawney. Saturday the party will visit Indiana for an afternoon meeting. In the evening there will be a meeting in Old City hall, Pittsburgh.

Ex-Attorney General Hensel of Lancaster and Robert E. James of Easton, gold Democrats, will speak at meetings to be held in Philadelphia, Scranton and Wilkesbarre during the last week of the campaign. Ex-Judge Gordon of Philadelphia has also advised Chairman Creasy that he will make several speeches late in October at such places as the campaign committee may designate.

Cowles to Be Promoted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 19.—Commander William S. Cowles, assistant chief of the bureau of navigation and aid to President Roosevelt, was examined in this city today for promotion to the grade of captain, in anticipation of a vacancy in that grade. Commander Cowles stands at the head of his grade and will be entitled to promotion on the first vacancy in the higher grade.

SLOCUM STATUE DEDICATED AT GETTYSBURG

New York State Pays Tribute to the Memory of the General.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC REUNION

Ceremonies Are Participated in by Govs. Odell, Murphy and Stone, Mayor Low, Veterans, National Guard and Soldiers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Gettysburg, Pa., Sept. 19.—The fine equestrian statue of Maj. Gen. Henry Warner Slocum, a tribute to his memory from the state of New York, was unveiled today on Gulp's hill, where his line was located during the historical battle. The governors of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the Seventh regiment of New York National guard, which acted as escort, and veteran infantrymen and artillerymen who served under Gen. Slocum attended the ceremonies of dedication.

The unveiling of the statue was the principal feature of the thirty-third reunion of the Society of the Army of the Potomac. At this meeting Maj.-Gen. John R. Brooke, U. S. A., retired, was elected president and Gen. King was elected secretary. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles was the principal speaker at the meeting.

The march to the battlefield began at 2 o'clock. The procession formed at Center square under command of Gen. Lewis R. Stegman of New York, and moved out Baltimore street to Culps hill. In the parade were the New York battlefield commission, Gen. Sickles and family, Gen. James C. Rogers and Col. Archabold E. Baxter, the orators of the day; the Seventh regiment of New York, escorting Gov. Odell and the Society of the Potomac; Gov. Murphy of New Jersey and Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania, the Gettysburg National Military park commission and retired officers and veterans. A detail from Second United States cavalry, Corporal Skelley post, G. A. R., of Gettysburg, two troops of Second United States cavalry and the Fourth battery of United States field artillery also participated.

Arriving at the monument a vast concourse of people was assembled. The exercises were opened with music by the Seventh Regiment band, followed by prayer by the Rev. W. T. Pray of New York and an address by Gen. D. E. Sickles as chairman of the New York board of the Gettysburg monument commission. After music by the Second United States Cavalry band, Gov. Odell of New York unveiled the statue and the United States battery fired a major generals' salute.

Gen. Rogers and Col. Baxter delivered orations and were followed by Gov. Odell, Govs. Murphy and Stone were introduced and made brief responses. Dewitt C. Sprague of Washington, D. C., read a poem dedicated to the occasion. After the benediction the Fourth United States battery fired a salute.

A public meeting was held tonight at which Seth Low of New York was the principal speaker.

Postoffice Robbed of $250.

JEFFERSON, O., Sept. 19.—Three masked robbers dynamited the postoffice safe here this morning, securing $250 and $800 in stamps, and escaped by train. Night Watchman Jones was bound and gagged.

SIXTH DISTRICT DEMOCRAT NAMED

COMMITTEE REFUSES TO INDORSE NOMINEES.

James F. Grimes, of "Ballot Reform" Renown, Has New Monopoly for Knoxville.

The committee appointed by the Democratic convention of the Sixth legislative district to fill vacancies closed its deliberations yesterday and split the fusion ticket by nominating a Democrat. The candidates on the Citizens party's ticket are U. M. Beck and R. H. Heath. Beck was indorsed, but Heath was thrown over and Caspar P. Mayer of Bridgeville was nominated.

The committee did the thing that was expected of them, for Mayer was chairman of the convention and appointed the committee. It held several meetings and Dr. John Furman finally enforced his ideas, which, he maintains, are those of the convention. Furman says the committee was practically instructed to name a Democrat, as Beck and Heath are both Republicans. The Sixth legislative district is the one in which County Recorder George M. von Bonnhorst lives.

The citizens of Knoxville and the rest of the Hilltop district are aghast at a new money-making scheme James F. Grimes has launched. Grimes is the leading stockholder in the Knoxville Land and Improvement Company and the companies that furnish a small supply of muddy water to the Hilltop and Chartiers creek boroughs. Lately he started the "Ballot Reform" party.

Grimes' New Monopoly.

The Knoxville Natural Gas Company was recently organized by Grimes to secure a monopoly of furnishing gas fuel in the district. It made a contract with the Tri-State Gas Company for a supply of gas at 12½ cents each 1,000 cubic feet. The company is now closing contracts with tenants of the land company to supply gas at 27 cents for 1,000 cubic feet, with a 2 per cent rebate on bills paid when due, a nice little profit of 100 per cent. It is now charged that those tenants who refuse to sign a contract to take their gas from Grimes' company have been notified that unless they comply they will have to vacate their houses next April.

The formal launching of the Citizens party's campaign will take place at Old City hall tonight. There will be no regular street parade, although it is probable that some of the clubs will march to the hall in bodies. A large crowd is expected from McKeesport, the home of J. J. O'Neil, the fusion candidate for county recorder.

Some Good Speakers.

James W. Brown, George Shiras III. and H. Kirk Porter, the Citizens candidates for congress; W. J. Brennen, W. B. Rodgers and Select Councilman E. H. Douglas will speak. The choir of striking Welsh anthracite coal miners will sing at the meeting. There is a large demand for stage tickets.

Candidates on the Citizens ticket spent a busy night, as they were due to speak at two meetings. The first one at which they spoke was the opening of the Nineteenth ward headquarters of the Citizens party in Penn avenue, east of Highland. The rooms are handsomely fitted up, are in charge of James M. Mellee and will be open day and night during the campaign. The candidates then went to Kean's auditorium in Butler street, Lawrenceville, where there was a Citizens demonstration. It was in the rolling mill district and hundreds of millworkers were present.

The Democratic campaign committee met at the Diamond street headquarters yesterday, continuing the preparation of details for the meeting to be held on Saturday night of next week, when R. E. Pattison and George W. Guthrie will speak.

Alleged Socialist Murderer Arrested.

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—It is reported that Tullio Murri, the Socialist and lawyer of Bologna, Italy, who is accused of the murder of Count Bon Martini, recently found assassinated in his house at Bologna, has been arrested at the frontier town of Ala, Austrian Tyrol.

THE PILOTS CORPORATION.

New York Capitalists Are in Pittsburgh Investigating Its Merits.

Edwin S. Grant of the United Pilots' Corporation is in New York on business and yesterday two capitalists arrived from the metropolis to investigate the merits of the organization. They called yesterday at the local headquarters of the corporation.

Some of the local pilots say that the object of the visit is to investigate the worthiness of the concern, in anticipation of putting some money into the enterprise. A number of Pittsburgh pilots have taken stock in the company. The purpose of the corporation is to attempt to control piloting on the western and southern rivers. The headquarters are in Cincinnati. J. A. Cruikshank, treasurer of the company, was a recent visitor to New York.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last night the gauge at Davis Island dam showed a depth of 1.7 feet and the river was falling.

The towboat Defender, which is at Middleport, is being repaired, but will not go on the docks.

The steamboat inspectors will today inspect the steam yacht Little John and the towboat Little Bill.

Capt. Newton Carter, a well-known Monongahela river boatman, has resigned command of the towboat Monroe.

Capt. W. L. Silbert hopes to have the repairs being made at Lock No. 1 completed within the next three or four weeks.

Monongahela rivermen say the valley is badly in need of rain. The water in the pools is getting exceedingly low, making navigation tedious.

Maj. Alexander J. Henderson, freight and passenger agent of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet line, is expected home today from Atlantic City.

Chief Engineer Boothman of the St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet Company has arrived at Howard's shipyard to place the machinery on the Hudson.

Wharfmaster Jenkins Jones writes from Atlantic City that he is having a lovely time and would like to move a portion of the ocean front to the Pittsburgh wharf.

There are about a dozen towboats at Browns station receiving repairs to boilers and machinery and the work is being rushed, so that the boats can go south on the first rise.

The Monongahela river, on the south side of the steamer is closed for quite a distance on account of false work being put in for the reconstruction of the Panhandle railroad bridge.

Dr. R. C. Craig, who was surgeon in charge of the Marine hospital service of the government at Pittsburg, has opened an office for himself and will practice medicine on his own account.

The Morgantown packet Gertrude arrived early yesterday morning and got away nearly on time. The boats of the independent line have been making as good time as the state of the weather will permit.

Capt. James L. Darragh, a retired steamboatman and an old and highly respected citizen of Little Rock, died at St. Vincent's infirmary, that city, the result of a surgical operation. He was 60 years old.

Capt. Robert Houlden, a Pittsburgh and New Orleans pilot, is said to carry the largest umbrella owned by any Pittsburgh man. He was about the river front yesterday hunting for rain. He had his umbrella with him.

The Rodgers Sand Company is furnishing outside towboats with a large amount of work just at present. The company will build another towboat, but it is decided to do the work this fall will not be let until next spring.

Capt. Edward Meeks of the Yazoo river Packet service is at Madison, Ind., and has made Capt. Pratt, owner of the steamer Golden Gate, an offer of $4,000 cash for her. This has not been accepted yet, but it is believed the sale will be closed.

Frank Johnson, the colored porter on the steamer Tacoma, has had a longer continuous term of service on the river than any man above Cincinnati. He has been on the river 50 years and all that time practically on the division between Cincinnati and Pomeroy.

During the coming meeting of the national board of steam navigation it is understood that an effort will be made to squelch out the gasoliner. Steamboats are not permitted to carry gasoline in any form or quantity, and yet they are to run in competition with these launches.

The little steamer Harbor No. 25 will go up the Monongahela river in a few days to get a shanty boat to house the large party of pilots which will leave early next month on a tour of inspection of the Ohio river. The boat will be inspected by the local steamboat inspectors before starting on her voyage.

H. L. Neel contractor, who has had the Monongahela and Western Dredging Company's dredge employed on his contract at South Eighth street for the American Steel and Wire Company, has completed the work of dredging and is at work laying the large water supply pipe which he expects to have completed in a few days. On account of his dredge outfit being employed on lock No. 4, Ohio river, he hired the Monongahela and Western Dredging Company's dredge to do this work.

MISS BESSIE WARD and Guy P. McCandless, whose engagement was announced some time ago, have selected October 15 as their wedding day. The ceremony will be a very quiet and only in the presence of immediate friends and relatives of the young couple. Miss Ward is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward of Baywood street. Mr. McCandless is the son of Dr. J. Guy McCandless, director of the department of public works. His sister is the wife of Stephen Stone, a son of Gov. William A. Stone. Mr. McCandless served in the last legislature. The ceremony will be performed in the home of the bride's parents in Baywood street at 6:30 o'clock in the evening of October 15. At 8 o'clock in the same evening and immediately following the ceremony a large reception for possibly 200 guests will be held at the home of the bride's parents. Following the ceremony the young couple will take an extended wedding trip to the Pacific coast. After December 1 they will be at home at No. 333 Evaline street. Invitations for the wedding have not yet been issued, but will come out within the next couple of weeks. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. A. E. Blake. Miss Daisy Sterne will be maid of honor.

Wedded in Allegheny.

Harvey Ale, of Pittsburgh was married on Thursday night to Mrs. Georgia Wood, in the First Presbyterian church of Allegheny. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 in the evening by the Rev. Dr. D. S. Kennedy, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Platts. The bride has for some years been a teacher in the Sewickley schools, while the groom has been connected with the firm of Alexander Laughlin & Co. The bride was beautifully dressed in a white silk mousseline gown with pink sash, and carried pink roses. The wedding party entered the church, preseeded by Lenna Wood and Henrietta Garret, as flower girl. These small children, one of whom was is the bride's daughter, and the other her niece, were gowned in white, and carried pink roses, with a small pillow, on which lay the ring which was used in the service. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Ale of Altoona, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Dixon of Greensburg; Mrs. Elliott and Miss Elliott of Fayette; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Creighton, Mrs. Sewall of Freedom, Mr. and Mrs. White of Sewickley, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Ben Avon.

Iroquois Club Dance.

Cards have been issued by the Iroquois club for a dance at the South Highland Auditorium, on Tuesday evening, October 7. This is the first of a series of four subscription dances which the club will give during the fall and winter. In past seasons the club has been very successful, and the arrangements, made, promise to make this season more successful than any in the past.

The committee in charge of the social program include Joseph Bialis, John F. Mueller and Frank G. Conley. The committee has also arranged for a series of monthly meetings at the homes of the members. The next meeting being at the home of Mr. Conley in Lehigh avenue on September 29.

Speers—Arthur.

Miss Elizabeth Speers, daughter of Solomon C. Speers of Charleroi, Pa., and Dr. W. C. Arthur of Bellevue were married yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the study of the Ninth United Presbyterian church, North avenue, Allegheny, the Rev. J. J. Milligan, pastor of the church, performing the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Lawrence of the Bellevue United Presbyterian church. A number of relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. After their wedding trip, from which they left in the evening, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur will reside in Cadillac, Mich., where he is stationed as a medical examiner on the Volunteer Relief department of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Tennis Club Banquet.

The members of the Coraopolis Tennis club gave their first annual banquet last evening at the Ridge Avenue hotel. The hall was decorated with American flags, red, white and blue bunting, palms and flowers. Covers were laid for 70.

C. W. T. Treadway was toastmaster. The toasts were as follows: "Tennis," E. D. Cornelius; "Coraopolis," L. A. Reed, and "The Ladies," John McMasters. A fine musical program was carried out.

The banquet was followed by a dance, with euchre, ping-pong and other amusements. The club is the leading social organization of the town.

Snyder—Silvis.

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Miss Francis V. Snyder, daughter of Henry Snyder of Vanderbilt and Attorney Z. T. Silvis of Greensburg, were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. J. Forrester, pastor of the Vanderbilt Methodist Episcopal church. They will make their home in Greensburg after October 1. Mr. Silvis is a member of the Westmoreland county bar.

Brighton Club Garden Party.

The fourth of a series of garden parties given by the Brighton Country Club of Allegheny, was held last night on the grounds of the club in California avenue, Allegheny. A large crowd attended, and the affair was a great success. The pretty grounds of the club were brilliantly decorated and illuminated, and the scene was one of great pleasure until a late hour. The series of parties given by the club have been a great success.

Notes of Society.

The employes of Calhoun park, after attending to the wants of other picknickers all summer, will hold a picnic of their own at the park today.

The two-time champions went up to Homestead yesterday afternoon and took a fall out of Howard Risher's Steeltown aggregation. The game was a rather clever exhibition and was pleasing to the 2,000 people who turned out to give the champions a welcome. The final score was 7 to 3, in the Pirates' favor.

It is extremely doubtful if the Homesteaders would have secured a run had it not been for a general shifting of Pirate positions in the eighth inning in order to create some fun. Honus Wagner at that stage dropped out and Ritchey went out to middle field, Leever taking Little All Right's place at second base, and it might just as well be remembered right here that the schoolmaster's strong point is in the pitcher's box, as he was never cut out for a fielder, and particularly an infielder, because he thinks too slowly.

The Pirates Played Horse.

Manager Fred Clarke and Tommy Leach also exchanged places, but this change worked all right, as Fred is a pretty fair infielder and Tommy is all right no matter where he is placed. Cushman, who was doing the pitching for the champs, entered into the spirit of the affair with the result that Claude Ritchey in one inning was forced to do more chasing after balls than he does in a half a dozen championship games. That one inning was enough for Ritch, and the ninth found him back in his old position.

If Cushman would only do the same kind of work in championship contests that he showed yesterday he would be a pitching wonder. He cut out his wildness and was as steady as a clock, giving only one base on balls during the game. Up until the eighth inning he held his opponents to three hits and during the contest struck out 11 batsmen. His work was extremely clever and only showed what he is capable of when he settles down to business.

Bowman did the pitching for Homestead, and outside of the first, second and fourth innings, when the Pirates bunched hits and secured all their runs, he pitched a very clever game. His good work is shown by the fact that he struck out six of the champions, and those that fanned the air were Zimmer, Clarke, Ritchey, Cushman, Sebring and Leach. The support accorded Bowman was fair, everything taken into consideration.

Runs Come in Bunches.

The champions scored their runs as follows: In the first inning after Sebring had gone out on a fly, Clarke singled and stole second and Wagner beat out an infield hit and also stole second. Clarke scored on Wagner's hit and Honus got in on Phelps' single to left. In the second a single by Conroy, a fumble by Garnier, a two-bagger by Sebring and a three-bagger by Leach netted three runs. In the fourth two more were scored on a succession of singles by Leach, Wagner, Conroy and Zimmer.

The Homestead team saved a shut-out in the eighth as a result of a fumble by Conroy, three-baggers by Torreyson and McCloskey and singles by Marshall and Garnier. During the game the champions took all sorts of liberties on the bases and no less than five were stolen, one by Clarke, two by Wagner and two by Conroy. The score:

THE CARDINALS SECURE THE GAME

THE ROCHESTER PLAYERS PILED UP ERRORS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROCHESTER, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The Rochester Athletic association team lost the game to the St. Louis National league team this afternoon as the result of costly fielding errors. A fumble by Weigley in the third inning, with two men out, was responsible for four runs being scored, while in the ninth inning the visitors were presented with three runs as the result of errors by Coleman, Lindsay and East.

The locals had much the best of the batting, getting three home runs, one three-base hit, four two-base hits and five singles, netting 28 bases, while the visitors hit two home runs and singles, a total of 16 bases. In the third inning Mulien, the Rochester shortstop, was struck by a pitched ball and was rendered unconscious. He was attended by Dr. H. M. Shallenberger, who found that Mullen had sustained a fractured jaw and that several blood vessels were ruptured.

The features of the game for the locals were the hitting of Grove, Lindsay, East and Weigley, a catch of a hot liner by Weigley resulting in a fast double play unassisted, and Mathay's fine work in center field, especially his running catch of a long fly against the fence. The features for the visitors were two fast double plays by Kruger, Farrell and Nichols, and Nichols' catch of Grove's hot drive. Both Pearson and Calhoun were given an ovation when they appeared on the field. Score:

WON BY NELSON.

The Boy Rider Did Not Show Effects of His Injuries.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19.—George Leander, plainly showing the effects of injuries received in the smash up on the same track last Friday night, was easily defeated tonight by Joe Nelson in a five-mile motor-paced bicycle race on the Coliseum bowl. Nelson's injuries, sustained at New Haven last Tuesday night, did not seem to affect his riding tonight. His time was 7:07 and 7:08.

The proceeds of tonight's race will be given by the winner to Bennie Monroe and Jimmie Hunter, who received broken skulls in the accident last week. Both patients are reported by physicians at Johns Hopkins hospital to be rapidly convalescing.

WILL BE PLENTY OF RACING.

Two Days' Grand Circuit Events Will Be Run Today.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Rain again today caused the postponement of the races at the Empire City track. The management announced that the two days' program will be decided on Saturday and that the first race will be called at 10 o'clock a. m. The double card consists of 10 races, including the $5,000 special between Prince Alert, 2:00¾, and Anaconda, 2:01¾.

W. U. P's First Practice Game.

Manager Rousseau of the Allegheny Athletic association and Capt. Martin of the W. U. P. have arranged a game of football to be played at university grounds this afternoon. A warm contest is expected, as the teams are evenly matched and well coached by the 'Varsity men. Manager Rousseau requests all his players to be at dressing rooms, St. Clairs terrace, at 2 o'clock. Game will commence at 3:15.

Among the Amateurs

The Pittsburgh College second team will open the season with Geneva A. C. this afternoon on the college campus.

The Quaker A. C. desire games with all out-of-town 105-pound teams. Open dates on and after November 1. Address Homer Roe, 113 East Jefferson street, Allegheny.

Etna A. C. plays the strong South Side A. C. at Etna today and a good game is expected, as both teams have been playing good ball. Manager Wade of the Etna team requests all the players to report at 1 o'clock sharp.

The Rhody Wallace club of Millvale will meet the Beaver A. C. of Allegheny at Vermont park, Millvale, today, and intend to take a fall out of the Allegheny boys. Battery for the Wallaces will be Bauer and Callahan.

The Verners and Cottage will play today at Friendship park and a warm contest is looked for. This will be the fifth meeting of the teams, each winning two, and both are claiming today's game. Irwin or Cappe will likely pitch for Cottage and Collins for the Verners.

The Geneva A. C. will line up against the Pittsburgh college on the latters' grounds. All players must report at 2:30 on college grounds. The Geneva would like to hear from all 90-pound teams within a radius of 100 miles. For games address J. More, No. 2412 Bedford avenue, city.

The star Fisher A. C. of the South Side will play the Glassport A. C. two games this afternoon at Glassport, Pa. Fisher A. C. would like to hear from Fisher A. C. from Allegheny for the Fisher grounds, corner South Ninth and Carson street. 'Phone 178 Main, 178 Grant Bell 'phone.

The Riter-Conley team will play the Park Steel Company team at Kennywood park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The following players are requested to report at the corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street at 1:30: A. Clark, J. Curran, H. Graham, E. Hull, Bowers, Morse, Gross, Kellar, Lucas, Hagar and Crumrine.

The Sewickley A. C. football team will play two benefit games this afternoon at Sewickley for the benefit of Pitcher McLane, who has been with the team all season. The first game will be with the Elmhurst Giants and the second with the Bellghoover A. C. There will also be base running, throwing and other contests.

The Sterling basketball team, last year's junior champions, have organized for the season 1902-03. Hilliger has been elected manager, James MacMahon captain and Johnny Thompson coach. The team will be selected from the following players: W. Bilinger, Fred Bilinger, Thompson, Bertges, G. Billinger and Sutter.

The Swissvale Athletic club will play its 46th game and close the season today by a game with the Westinghouse Electrics at Electric park, Wilkinsburg. O'Hara will pitch for Swissvale and Scott or Hart for the Electrics. O'Leary, formerly of the Westinghouse team, will play short for Swissvale today and Loper will do the catching.

Dalzell and the strong Allentown Athletes are scheduled to come together at Westinghouse park today. This will be the second time these teams have met in conflict, Allentown taking the first in a finely played game. Dallas will close a successful season today, having played 23 games, losing eight. J. Powell and O. Beckett will do battery work for Dallas.

H. L. A. C. and Millvale will meet at Millvale today and a hot contest can be looked for, as these teams have met but once this season, Homestead winning by the score of 1 to 0. Millvale is more than anxious to reverse this result of last encounter and fully expects to do so. Alexander Jones will pitch for Homestead and Bob Brucker will do the pitching for Millvale.

The Army A. C. would like to hear from all teams for dates in November. They are out to defend the 90-pound championship of Western Pennsylvania. No team at the above weight barred. Manager of Army team would like to hear from Oakland Reserves in regard to their game for September 27. Address all communications to George Sundermann, No. 4008 Butler street, Pittsburgh.

Something is sure to happen this afternoon when the Wilkinsburg A. C. and the Ready Reds come together on the Wilkinsburg grounds. This will probably be W. A. A.'s last game this season, and they will be out for a victory. All the W. A. A. players will please report at the grounds not later than 2:30 p. m., as the game starts at 3:30. Anderson and Bowersox will likely be the battery for W. A. A.

The Kittanning second football team has organized and will play their opening game September 27. Any 110 to 115-pound teams wishing games please address 211 Queen street, Guy Dickey, captain. The following players are to report for practice Monday at 7 p. m.: H. Armey, J. McMillan, P. Willison, J. Edwards, A. Kline, R. Dickey, W. Kline, F. Kline, B. King, C. Swan, C. Crytzer, O. French.

The Imperials will meet the Oneida A. C. of Mt. Washington today for the 13 and 14-year-old championship. If the Oneidas win the Imperials have still a claim, as the Imperials downed the Oneidas at the opening of the season. The following players of the Imperials are requested to report at corner of Wylie avenue and Chatham street at 1 o'clock sharp: Giegler, Ivill, Boyle, McClelland, Sweeny, Doran, Smith, Flore and Marks.

The Melvins open their season this afternoon with the Wilkinsburg Crescents at Wilkinsburg. The team leaves at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The players are requested to report before that time at Melvin's drug store. They play Pittsburgh High school Wednesday, September 24, at High school park, and South Side A. C. Saturday, September 27, at the Acorn grounds. Any 120-pound teams desiring games address G. A. L., 2460 Wylie avenue, city.

Mansion Athletic club will meet the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange team on the Acorn grounds, Duff street and Bedford avenue. First game at 1:30, second game called at 2:30 p. m. Eyerman and Kilgallen will do the pitching for the Mansions, while Simms and Miller will do the pitching for the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. All the players of the Mansions are requested to report at the grounds at 1 p. m. sharp. The M. A. C. will meet the Dyers A. C. next Saturday for two games.

The Lincolns of the East End will conclude a most successful season today, playing an all-star aggregation picked from the best 14 to 16-year-old talent in Lawrenceville at old P. A. C. park. The management of the Lincolns wishes to state in regard to the 16-year-old championship that it has written several teams claiming the title, but they have kept silent in each case. While the Lincolns are not claiming this title they think that their record for the season entitles them to same, having played and defeated the best nines in their class.

The Fairbanks play the Allegheny Steel and Iron Company's Steel Works' team, Tarentum. This will be the second meeting of these teams, the Fairbanks having won the previous game by the score of 9 to 5, and today's game, therefore, promises to be a hotly contested battle. Kommer will endeavor to take another fall out of the Tarentum lads, while Martin will probably oppose him on the rubber. The following players must report at the Chestnut street station of the West Penn railroad not later than 1:15: Draher, Kommer, Weltershausen, Cabell, Peiffer, Carney, Yoodt, Bardelang, Lipperi, Mangold and Heellerman.

Steel Works park at Homestead will be the scene tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, of one of the most stubbornly contested ball games of the season. At that time the W. W. Hills of the Superior and the Superior Athletic club of Thompson run will lock horns for a purse of $400. These clubs met a couple of weeks ago, but the game ended in a dispute, the Hills contending that they had not been treated fairly by the umpire. Later they issued a challenge to play the Superior club on neutral grounds and bet $200 that they would win. The Superior boys accepted the challenge and the contest will be played at the place and time mentioned above.

Bought Yesterday—Cured Today.—Mrs. O. C. Burt of 26 Broadway, New York, says: "I am surprised and delighted at the change for the better in my case in one day from the use of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. THE COURT RULES AGAINST FIGHT

INJUNCTION OF LOWER COURT IS SUSTAINED.

Court of Appeals Decides That Corbett and McGovern Were to Engage in a Prize Fight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKFORT, KY., Sept. 19.—The injunction granted yesterday by Judge Emmett Field of the Jefferson circuit court restraining the Southern Athletic club and others from holding the McGovern-Corbett contest for the feather-weight championship of the world at Louisville next Monday evening was sustained by Associate Judge James D. White of the court of appeals this afternoon, and the contest will not be held in Kentucky.

Judge White invited the full bench of the court to sit with him and hear the case, which all but one member did and the decision is one of the court, although the motion to dissolve the injunction was made before a single member of it. A majority of the court expressed the opinion that the glove contest which was enjoined in the lower court is a prize fight and that it is immaterial whether or not the purse was to be evenly divided. The six members of the court were divided equally on the most important legal question raised in the case, that of whether the chancellor had power by injunction to restrain the commission of a criminal act. The opinion of the court is brief. In full it reads:

"The majority of the court who heard the application to dissolve the injunction of Judge Field are of opinion that the contest which has been enjoined is a prize fight and that it is not material whether the victor in the contest is to receive more of the reward offered than the vanquished.

"The court is divided equally on the question whether the chancellor has preventive power to restrain the holding of such a contest. Chief Justice Guffy and Judges White and Burnham holding the negative and Judges Durell, Hobson and Crear holding the affirmative. The motion to dissolve is therefore denied."

The argument of the motion to dissolve consumed five hours and Judge White filed his opinion after 20 minutes' consultation with his associates of the court. The argument attracted many of the interested parties to the court chamber, among them Manager R. C. Gray of the Athletic club. He was sorely disappointed at the action of the court, but stated that it was final so far as his club was concerned. He said there will be no attempt to hold the fight anywhere in Kentucky, so far as he knew. The decision is, so lawyers say, so far-reaching that it will prevent all boxing contests in Kentucky in the future.

CALLS THE FIGHT OFF.

Louisville Club Will Redeem Tickets Sold—May Meet Before Another Club.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 19.—Robert C. Gray, manager of the Southern club, declared off the 20-round contest between Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, scheduled for next Monday night, as far as his club is concerned. Mr. Gray announced that the $30,000 worth of tickets which have been sold for the fight will be redeemed at any bank.

The Southern Athletic club is out about $5,000, including the forfeit of $2,500 put up to insure the bringing off of the contest.

Although the Frankfort decision is conceded to be a knockout blow for boxing contests in Kentucky, there is a belief in Louisville that the fight will be held Monday night. Today's injunction was against the Southern Athletic club and Mr. Gray and the latter announced tonight that his club had severed all connection with the event and submitted to the court's decree. This, of course, leaves the field open for some other promoter to take up the contest, as neither pugilist was enjoined by today's decision, nor was a ban placed upon boxing or contests in Louisville.

"WALL BOROUGH" LIKELY TO BE FORMED SOON

New Land Company Pays $50,000 for 50 Acres and Will Ask Charter.

MORNINGSIDE FRONTAGE CHANGES HANDS

Jackson Street Houses Bring $21,000—New Flats In East End Will Cost $42,000—Good Houses Going Up in Bellevue.

A new municipality, to be called Wall borough, is likely to result from a big real estate deal consummated yesterday. The deal was made by George B. Snyder, a realty broker of Wilmerding, who purchased for a company now forming, 50 acres of land at Wall postoffice for $50,000, or $1,000 an acre. The land was owned by Francis Wall, of Louisville, and is a part of the old Wall estate. It adjoins the borough of Pitcairn on the south, being separated from the immense shops of the Pennsylvania railroad by the railroad tracks. The company being formed by Mr. Snyder will have a paid-up capital of $100,000. Of this amount $50,000 has been used in the purchase of the land and the remaining $50,000 will be devoted to street improvements and to erecting at least 10 houses this fall.

A number of Baltimore real estate men are interested in the project and application will be made in a short time for a borough charter. There are at present over 100 families living in the immediate vicinity of Wall post office, and it is not anticipated that any difficulty will be experienced in getting the borough established.

Land Company Invests $56,000.

The Keystone Realty Company, which recently bought the James McKee tract of 13.86 acres in Stanton avenue, has resold the property to the Stanton Land Company, a corporation lately chartered and composed of a number of prominent business men. The consideration was $56,000 cash. The property adjoins the Seibert holdings in the Eighteenth ward and lies between McKee and Hawthorne streets, in each of which it has a frontage of about 1,900 feet. Both these streets are to be abandoned and a new street to be known as Eastwood avenue, will be opened through the center of the tract. There are 130 lots in the plan. The new street will be handsomely graded and sidewalks will be laid at once, preparatory to placing the property on the market. On the Stanton avenue frontage six new brick houses are to be erected to cost $7,000 each.

East End Deal of $21,000.

Leander Trautman has purchased from Samuel H. McKee an improved property in the Nineteenth ward for $21,000. The plot faces 84 feet in the west side of Jackson street, near Courtland street, and extends back a distance of 77.5 feet to Mellon street. Two brick houses are erected on the lot.

The transfer of four properties in the Twenty-sixth ward to Jones & Laughlins has just been made known. The total consideration was $22,000. The largest purchase, $7,000 was made from Johanna Thuroff. It consists of an improved lot, 20x74 feet, on the east side of South Twenty-sixth street, Twenty-first ward. Three other lots of the same size adjoining were bought from the following parties: Mary C. Becker, $5,500; Elizabeth A. Pfeil, $6,000; Margaret Jones, $3,500. It is said the transfers were made preparatory to turning over the land of the old company to the new corporation known as the Jones & Laughlins Steel Company.

Purchases Made Known.

By the final papers in the transfer of the W. E. Corey property, in Braddock avenue, Braddock, the sale of which for $35,000 was published in the Gazette last week, it appears that the purchasers are Edmunds & Williams, the Braddock hardware dealers. The lot measures 70x100 feet and is known as Nos. 609-613 Braddock avenue. A two-story frame building occupies a part of the lot. The will be torn down and the entire lot improved with a modern business block to cost at least $25,000. The deal was made by Albert L. Oskin.

Plans are being matured for the erection of another high class apartment house in East End. It will belong to George N. Powell and will be erected at the southwest corner of Maryland avenue and Elmer street. The lot measures 61x150 feet. The new building will be four stories high and cost about $42,000. Each floor will contain three flats facing in Maryland avenue, and two flats in Elmer street.

A Bunch of Bellevue Houses Ready.

Lennox & McWilliams, who bought the old Paden homestead in Bellevue, early in the summer, are just completing 10 fine houses in Sheridan avenue and have plans completed for 11 more to be built in James and Miller streets. All are solid brick dwellings of the reception hall type, and cost, on an average, $6,000 each. The whole plot measures 320x1,280 feet and has been graded and improved with sewer and water connections, making the one of the most attractive residence plots in Bellevue.

The same contractors have the foundations started for two 11-room brick houses in Sprague avenue, Bellevue, to cost $8,000 each. They also have under way six brick houses of eight rooms each, in J. Walter Hay's University park plan, in the Tenth ward, Allegheny.

It was learned yesterday that C. H. Halcomb, who recently bought a handsome home site in the Beechwood boulevard near Fifth avenue, has abandoned the idea of building a palatial house on his purchase and has put the property on the market to be sold. The tract comprises 3.5 acres and is considered one of the choicest residence sites in the city. Until Mr. Halcomb's retirement from the Crucible Steel Company he fully intended to build a residence that would cost considerably over $50,000, it is said, but he now has an open for some other home fancier to purchase and improve.

Permits Amounted to $114,300.

That a considerable amount of good building is still being projected for this fall and winter is proven by the building permits that are issued daily. Yesterday was banner day, the aggregate estimated value of the buildings proposed being $114,300. The largest of the permits was for the two-story stone residence of Julian Kennedy which will be built in Forbes street, East End, at a cost of $60,000. Following this came a permit for a stone residence issued to Fair & Robinson, in Sheridan avenue between Jackson and Callery streets, Nineteenth ward, to cost $15,000; a frame dwelling for L. H. Turner in Atlantic avenue near Harriett street, Twentieth ward, to cost $4,000; the Second Cumberland Presbyterian church building, a frame structure, at the corner of Penn and Brushton avenues, Twenty-first ward, to cost $12,000; a brick house for John R. Hays at the corner of Milton and Elgin streets, Nineteenth ward, to cost $11,000; and repairs to the building at Nos. 427-429 Third avenue owned by Burgwin Bros. which are estimated to cost $3,800.

Contractors Are Cautious.

An instance of the very careful figuring done by contractors came to light yesterday. A leading architect down town advertised for bids on a $10,000 residence. Seven contractors submitted estimates on the job, and it was found that none of the figures ran under $11,000. The lowest and highest bids were only $8,000 apart, and this was due chiefly to the fact that one contractor had figured on a commission of only 5 per cent for himself instead of the 8 or 10 per cent, which is customary. Two of the bids were within $1 of each other, and on a number of the specifications the bids were the same. While contractors are now bringing their figures down to the lowest possible point consistent with the prices of materials and labor, their estimates are still too high to be accepted by many prospective builders, as was the case with this set.

Architect M. Nirdlinger, who has lately opened an office at No. 609 Fitzsimmons building, will receive bids September 28 to October 5 on the erection of a colonial brick veneered house for Attorney George B. Lewis in California avenue, Avalon. The estimated cost is put at $8,000. The same architect is receiving bids on a $5,000 brick house for Mrs. O. K. Hall in the same street.

Sewickley Lots Popular.

Sewickley: Joseph P. Rankin & Co. sold for Charles S. Wisner to Addison S. Altaffer of the First National bank of Allegheny, a lot 50x66 feet on the north side of Thorne street, Sewickley, for $2,500. The purchaser will improve with a brick residence. This makes $18,000 worth of lots which have been marketed by this firm this week.

Avalon: The Allegheny Real Estate Company sold for Albert J. Gould to B. C. Miller, the Avlon contractor, two lots 35x100 feet each, in McKinley avenue, Avalon, for $1,700. The purchaser will build two frame houses.

Wilmerding: George B. Snyder sold for Edward Cook to A. J. Pilley an improved lot, 40x100 feet, in Margaretta avenue, Wilmerding, for $5,000. The same broker sold for Mrs. Mary Lewis to J. W. Alms an improved lot, 30x110 feet, in Welsh avenue, for $3,200.

West Ingram: W. L. Scott & Co. sold for A. M. McWilliams lot No. 95, in the Wood-Harmon Co.'s plan in West Ingram for $300.

Main street: Isabella Kerr sold to Charles T. Seibert an improved lot, 57x84 feet, on the north side of Main street, Seventeenth ward, for $5,350.

Elizabeth street: James W. Barker sold to Ira Edmundson a lot 48x117 feet, on the north side of Elizabeth street, near Glenwood avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $1,536.

A. P. V. & C. R. R. Purchase.

Edwards alley: Joseph Hippell sold to the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company an improved lot, 23x60 feet, on the south side of Edwards alley, near South Eighteenth street, Twenty-sixth ward, for $7,700.

Gertrude street: Sarah A. Armstrong sold to Clara M. Schiller an improved lot, 25x115 feet, on the west side of Gertrude street, Twenty-third ward, for $5,000.

Coltart square: John Davies sold to Kate Davies an improved lot, 35x90 feet, in the south side of Coltart square, Fourteenth ward, for $6,375.

Amber street: Rosie and James Foster sold to John Sheran an improved lot, 40x110 feet, on the northwest side of Amber street, near Friendship avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $8,000.

Larimer avenue: W. A. Wingenroth sold to Rocco Deprettis an improved lot, 24x102.5 feet, on the north side of Larimer avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $5,650.

Messrs. Black & Baird, the Fourth avenue real estate brokers, report the following sales closed during this week: Colonia plan to M. J. Eastman and Mrs. J. M. Weddell lots 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, consideration $6,100; to J. C. F. Matz lots 69 and 70 for $1,700; to F. P. May, lots 32, 66, 67, 68, 69, $1,150; G. M. Mitchell, lot 56, for $850; also lot No. 126, Espy farm, sold to A. E. Hance for $800.

The Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Co. sold a property at the corner of Rural and Beatty streets, Nineteenth ward, lot 24x107 feet on which is a frame dwelling of nine rooms, for W. T. Liljigren to W. M. Johnston, for $5,100.

NO CESSATION IN PROGRESS OF TRADE ACTIVITY

High Rates for Money Have Little Effect on Business Operations.

CROPS ONLY SLIGHTLY INJURED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

"Domestic trade continues active, high rates for money having thus far failed to check industrial operations or unsettle confidence. Stringency is considered only temporary and chiefly of importance to speculators while large imports of gold promise relief.

"Crops are making encouraging progress, despite some injury from frost. Labor disputes are few, the anthracite coal strike being the only one that retards progress, and each week shows some increase in output. Fall distribution of merchandise has begun unusually early, while the volume of orders already placed indicates much the heaviest aggregate on record. At the south and west conditions are especially favorable, shipping departments working vigorously, and payments are promptly made. Traffic congestion causes complaint, yet railway earnings thus far available for September show a gain of 4.9 per cent over last year's returns and 15.17 per cent over 1900.

Liberal Buying Abroad.

Official returns of foreign commerce during August show the improvement in exports over the two preceding months that was indicated by the weekly movement of merchandise and staples and imports far surpassed the corresponding month in preceding years. This liberal buying in foreign markets testifies to well-sustained domestic consumption, particularly as to iron and steel, but imports of coal are abnormal and will be still more of an element in subsequent statements.

Relief comes slowly to consumers of coke, although each week brings a new high record of output. Stocks are becoming burdensome in the Connellsville yards, but facilities for transportation show little improvement despite numerous promises that coke shall have precedence over other freight.

The worst effect is the increasing importation of pig iron. Great Britain alone sending 70,000 tons during August, while arrangements are now being made for remote deliveries. Steel is also coming in freely, German producers accepting orders at gradually advancing quotations.

Many Orders Ahead.

Estimates of the tonnage on the books of the leading domestic concern fall little short of 5,000,000 tons, covering deliveries nine months ahead, while new contracts for railway and structural shapes are constantly offered. The abnormal condition of this industry bears testimony to the unprecedented expansion of business in the United States, and it is unfortunate that such heavy purchases abroad are made necessary by the inadequate supply of fuel. Recent advances in tin and copper were not maintained, supplies proving fully equal to demands.

Cotton goods are more firmly held as the raw material develops strength and light stocks in first hands give the market additional support. Woolens and worsteds are notably quiet because leading concerns have sold their entire product of staple goods.

Failures for the week numbered 190 in the United States against 157 last year and 25 in Canada compared with 29 a year ago.

When you buy a "cheap" article you get what you pay for—cheap goods.

Mrs. Craigie's New Novel
Love and the Soul Hunters
By
JOHN OLIVER HOBBES.
Author of "The God's, Some Mortals, and Lord Wickenham," "The Herb Moon," "School for Saints," "Robert Orange," etc., etc.

In this new novel Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes) has made, according to her own statement, the great effort of her life. It is the most brilliant creation of an author whose talent and versatility have surprised readers and critics in both Europe and America for several years.

"There is much that is worth remembering in her writings."—Mail and Express, New York.

"More than any other woman who is now writing, Mrs. Craigie is, in the true manly sense, a woman of letters. She is not a woman with a few personal emotions to express; she is what a woman of rare is—an artist."—The Star, London.

12mo, Cloth. Price, $1.50, post-paid.

Three Other New Novels

A Romance of a Strange Country
THE INSANE ROOT
By Mrs. Campbell Praed.
Author of "Nadine," "The Scourge Stick," "As a Watch in the Night," etc.
A strange and fascinating story with a similar motif to that of Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," and a weird treatment resembling that of Bulwer's "Strange Story."
12 mo. Cloth, 380 pages, $1.50, post-paid.

THE SEARCHERS
By Margaretta Byrde.
A delightful novel bearing the impress of a fervent belief that the secret of life is a noble one, and of a fervent desire to pursue it. The character delineations is full of blended humor and seriousness, and the plot is managed boldly and triumphantly.
12 mo. Cloth, 452 pages, $1.50, post-paid.

Vol. IV. of "The Hour-Glass Stories."
THE HERB DOCTOR
By Robert MacDonald.
A novelette of artistic literary merit, narrating the varied experience of an American girl in capturing a titled husband.

Mrs. Kingsley's New Novel
The Needle's Eye
By
FLORENCE MORSE KINGSLEY
Author of "Titus," "The Transfiguration of Miss Philura," "Prisoners of the Sea," "Stephen," etc.

"The Needle's Eye" is a remarkable story of modern American life—not of one phase, but of many phases, widely different and in startling contrast. The scenes alternate between country and city. The pure, free air of the hills, and the foul, stifling atmosphere of the slums; the sweet breath of the clover fields, and the stench of crowded tenements are equally familiar to the hero in this novel. The other characters are found in vine-covered cottages, in humble farm-houses, in city palaces, and in the poorest tenements of the slums. Many of the situations in the novel are exceedingly dramatic. Others sparkle with genuine humor. This is a story to make people laugh, and cry, and think.

NIGHT SERVICES RESUMED IN ALL CITY CHURCHES

Local Pastors Plan Interesting Services for Sunday Evening Worship.

WILKINSBURG GETS A NEW CHURCH

Important Meetings of Salvation Army Officers in Pittsburgh. A Sermon to Commercial Travelers—Many Other Topics.

Regular morning and evening services will be resumed in all the local churches beginning tomorrow. All the pastors have returned from their vacation jaunts. For the evening services many pastors have inaugurated attractive series of special sermons.

The members of the United Brethren congregation, the Rev. G. W. Sherrick, pastor, will lay the corner stone of their new church building, at Coal street and South avenue, Wilkinsburg, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The pastors of the neighboring churches will attend and deliver addresses before an open air meeting. The congregation expects to occupy the new church early next spring.

The Buena Vista Street Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, will be reopened tomorrow. The church has been remodeled throughout and is now one of the most attractive houses of worship on that side of the river. In the morning addresses will be delivered by the Rev. J. J. McIlyar, who was the first pastor of the church in its present location, and by the members of the official board.

The Rev. W. Rowland Thompson, pastor of the Eleventh United Presbyterian church in the West End, will preach a special sermon in the morning to the teachers and patrons of the public schools, and in the evening will point out some of the dangers of city life in a special sermon to young people.

The Rev. B. Gwernydd Newton, pastor of the Welsh Congregational church, has returned from his trip to Europe and will resume his usual services.

Special meetings will be held tomorrow morning and afternoon in the Salvation Army barracks, No. 25 Diamond street, by Maj. W. T. Bonnett of Cleveland. In the afternoon he will give a special talk on the work of evangelization in South America and will wear the native costume of the Gaucho. Maj. Bennett spent 10 years in South America and was the pioneer in the Spanish speaking work in the Argentine and Uruguay republics. On Monday the officers of the Salvation Army in West Virginia and Pennsylvania will meet here in conference and hold a jubilee meeting in the evening.

A feature of the evening services at the South Side Congregational church will be a sacred concert by the Dr. Mason Glee club of Wilkesbarre, Pa., among the singers being several striking miners of the anthracite coal regions.

The fourth annual service for the Commercial Travelers' association of Pittsburgh and vicinity will be conducted by Pastor E. Edward Young in the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow evening. All traveling men and their friends in this region are invited to attend. Isabel Schiller, soprano, from New York city, is to sing at both morning and evening services.

FREE TO MILLIONS.

A Valuable Little Book Sent Free for the Asking.

Medical books are not always interesting reading, especially to people enjoying good health, but as a matter of fact scarcely one person in 10 is perfectly healthy, and even with such, sooner or later sickness must come.

It is also a well-established truth that nine-tenths of all diseases originate with a breaking down of the digestion, a weak stomach weakens and impoverishes the system, making it easy for disease to gain a foothold.

Nobody need fear consumption, kidney disease, liver trouble or a weak heart and nervous system as long as the digestion is good and the stomach able to assimilate plenty of wholesome food.

Stomach weakness shows itself in a score of ways and this little book describes the symptoms and causes and points the way to a cure so simple that anyone can understand and apply.

Thousands have some form of stomach trouble and do not know it. They ascribe the headaches, the languor, nervousness, insomnia, palpitation, constipation and similar symptoms to some other cause than the true one. Get your digestion on the right track and the heart trouble, lung trouble, liver disease or nervous debility will rapidly disappear.

This little book treats entirely on the cause and removal of indigestion and its accompanying annoyances.

It describes the symptoms of Acid Dyspepsia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Slow Dyspepsia, Amylaceous Dyspepsia, Catarrh of the Stomach and all affections of the digestive organs in plain language easily understood and the cause removed.

It gives valuable suggestions as to diet and contains a table giving length of time required to digest various articles of food, something every person with weak digestion should know.

No price is asked, but simply send your name and address plainly written on a postal card to the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., requesting a little book on Stomach Diseases and it will be sent promptly by return mail.

STEEL OFFICERS EXULT IN THEIR LEGAL VICTORY

Waiting for Copy of Court Decision Before Executing Bond Scheme.

SMALL DIFFERENCES IN THE HODGE CASE

The Only Material One Is the Claim That the Value of the Corporation's Property Is Less Than Bonds and Stock.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 19.—The announcement that the court of errors and appeals had rendered a decision in favor of the United States Steel Corporation in the Berger suit, which sought to restrain the combine from converting $200,000,000 preferred stock bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent into 5 per cent bonds, was favorably received today in financial circles.

At the offices of J. P. Morgan it was said the Berger suit was the important one, and that it embraces practically all of the features of the pending Hodge suit. A steel official said the victory foreshadows how the Hodge suit would end. When asked whether the United States Steel Corporation would now be able to go on with its bond conversion plan, he said:

"We have not received a copy of the decision yet. Until we do we can make no definite statement as to our next step. I can say, however, that it will be a matter of a short time only when we will be able to go on with converting our preferred stock into bonds and be marketing the proposed issue of $50,000,000 additional bonds."

Difference Between the Suits.

Mr. Lindabury, counsel for the United States Steel Corporation in New Jersey, said:

"The only difference between the Hodge suit and the Berger suit is this: In the Berger suit it was alleged that four directors were interested in the syndicate formed to float the bonds. In the Hodge case it was alleged that there were 11, with this further difference: In the Berger case no question was raised as to the value of the steel corporation's property; in the Hodge case the plaintiffs alleged that it was less than the amount of the bonds and preferred stock. This, if true, would not have justified the conversion plan under the act of 1902. The steel corporation is able, by the reversal of Vice Chancellor Emery's decision, to carry out its plan unless the court should hold that the new points in the Hodge case are material and established."

The announcement that the steel corporation has won a victory in the New Jersey courts was followed by a sharp upward movement in the steel shares. However, the rise was not fully sustained. On transactions of something like 54,000 shares, the common stock sold from 41 to 42⅝, closing at 41⅝, a net gain for the day of ⅜ of a point. The preferred closed with a net gain of ⅛ of a point. About 31,000 shares changed hands.

Gould Comes Back a Bull.

George Gould reappears out of the west upon the stock market scene in a very bullish frame of mind. He is convinced that the prosperity now prevailing will be cumulative and has undertaken to persuade all of his friends and professional associates accordingly. On Thursday he imparted his views at considerable length to the leaders of the Hawley-Davis party. Bullish enthusiasm possesses the man.

His proselyting is thought to have had a great deal to do with the strength of railroad stocks in today's session of the stock market. About all he has done since getting back to the street has been to promote the bullish opinions. Those who have heard his views at first hand have been greatly impressed. His speech is most convincing.

The Hawley-Davis party, with the leaders of which Mr. Gould seems to be on intimate terms, is the strongest bullish force now present in the market.

Steel Plant Improvements.

Extensions and improvements of iron and steel plants during the next two years, is carried out on anything like the scale now contemplated, will involve the expenditure of more money than has ever been spent within a similar period for similar purposes in any American industry, and more—it goes without saying—than will be spent during that particular period in any other field of industrial activity.

The various amounts to be so expended by the several big iron and steel companies of course can be only approximated. An official of the United States Steel Corporation calculates that within the next two years the combine will spend something like $35,000,000 upon extraordinary improvements.

Three New Steel Companies.

Three concerns whose charters permit them to manufacture iron and steel in various forms were incorporated in New Jersey today. The Berkshire Iron Company has a capital stock of $10,000. The Passaic Steel Company has a capital of $3,000. The Barnett Equipment Company will manufacture car wheels. It is capitalized at $100,000. The incorporators are Edwin W. Hines, Orange, N. J., and Richard N. Barnett and Stephen D. Barnett, Newark, N. J.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Carbonate Silver Extraction Company is working the tailings at the Iron Hill in Carbonate camp, S. D., by the cyanide process. The stuff carries an average of 12 ounces of silver to the ton and 80 per cent of the value is extracted.

A 10-stamp mill is to be installed on the Brooklyn, near Ouray, Col. The low-grade ore from the mine is being dumped and about three cars of high-grade, running from $40 to $80 gold, are shipped to the smelter at Durango. The net profits from these shipments during August was $2,709.

Net profits of the Mountain Pride at Breckenridge, Col., were over $2,000 for August. The main vein has been opened in the lower level and outputting is now proceeding on a much larger scale.

The Leland Mitchell group in Mohave county, Ariz., has passed into the hands of M. P. Gilbert of Salt Lake and Oscar A. Turner and J. W. Wodside of Philadelphia. The consideration was $500,000.

The Uncle Sam at Tintic, Utah, has opened a body of quartz on the 300-foot level that runs from $15 to $60 to the ton in gold. The find is in new territory and is the first gold found in the mine.

Boise, Ida., reports that operations have started on the Headlight, which adjoins the Monarch on the west.

Copper, iron, mica and good coal have been discovered on the surface within three miles of Santa Fe, N. M.

A syndicate of American and Mexican capitalists has been organized with a capital of $11,000,000 gold to acquire and operate several large mines in Western Mexico. Part of the project is the building of a large smelter at Durango.

The Metal Market.

Tin here was more or less influenced by adverse London cables, where prices declined 2s 6d to £121 7s 6d for spot and to £118 7s 6d for futures. Local values dropped about 15 points, spot closing at $27 30@26 40. Demand was very light, and there were few offerings of copper, but little inquiry. Prices were easy and lower. Standard, spot closed at $11 00@11 25; lake, $11 05@11 75; electrolytic, $11 55@11 65 and casting, $11 50@11 60. English copper closed without change from yesterday, spot at £53 and futures at £53 5s. Lead ruled steady on a fair inquiry from consumers at 4¼c for spot. London was unchanged at £10 18s 9d. There were no new developments in the matter, prices holding steady, with spot at 4.15@4.17½c here and at £10 6s@10 7s 6d in the English market, the latter being a decline of 2s 6d. The local iron market was quiet and steady at former quotations. Warrants, not quoted. No. 1 foundry northern, $23 00@25 00; No. 2 foundry northern, No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, $22 00@23 00. English prices were unchanged, Glasgow at 57s 10d and Middlesboro at 58s 9d.

The Money Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—If tomorrow's bank statement does not make a strong showing, speculators who bought stocks today will be disappointed. The buying was based on the expectation that the surplus reserve of the banks has been replenished as a result of the week's events. The publication of the usual preliminary estimates of the cash movements of the week somewhat chilled the hope of a good bank statement, as a decrease in cash reserves of upward of $3,000,000 was indicated. Of this amount the sub-treasury has absorbed some $2,000,000, including deposits of currency for telegraphic transfer to the interior.

The regular movement by express on routine banking operations makes up the rest, but it is not improbable that there have been special movements of money not included in these routine operations. The shipment of several million dollars from Chicago reported as made last Saturday might figure as such a transaction, and other reports have come from other interior centers of various amounts shipped to New York to take advantage of the prevailing high rates for call loans.

It is never possible to forecast accurately the changes in the loan item, but it is confidently believed in the street that there has been a large contraction in the loan account during the week.

St. Paul the Leader.

The payment of subscriptions on the Oregon Short Line bond issue on Monday would result in some loan contraction. The engagements of gold during the week also figure as a transfer of loans from the local banks to foreigners.

The stock market has not reflected any heavy liquidation during the week. The steadiness of the call money market today in face of the demand for loans to carry over until Monday was strong indication that the position of the banks is strengthened.

The leader of the market today was easily St. Paul, which was 5½ points over last night at one time, with a sympathetic effect on the whole list. The movement was unexplained, but the early tendency of Missouri Pacific to keep it company revived rumors of an alliance between the two systems. There was a setback in Missouri Pacific when the July statement of earnings appeared, showing a decrease in net of $263,196. The stock lost most of its gain and the other southwesterns turned rather heavy in sympathy.

Rock Island Conspicuous.

The unfavorable cotton reports were also an influence upon that group. The fact that a 4 per cent dividend is included in the price of St. Paul was given as an argument for its strength and the old comparison with the price paid for Burlington, which was 200, was also revived. The continued rise above 200 of Rock Island furnished an additional parallel. The latter stock was conspicuous for the number of cash transactions, as the right of exchange into new securities expires tomorrow and there is no stock delivery on the exchange on Saturday.

The contracts for the new securities were active and strong on the curb. The reversal by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals of the vice chancellor's decision against the stock conversion and bond issue plan of the United States Steel Corporation caused a spurt in its securities.

The Pennsylvania group was strong and Canadian Pacific showed the effect of continued large earnings. The upward movement of a number of minor industrials was due to special causes. Considerable realizing was accomplished on the advances and the market closed irregular and below the best.

The bond market was quite active and strong, especially for the Consolidated Tobacco 4s. Total sales, par value, $3,670,000. United States refunding 2s, the new 2s, new 4s and 5s advanced ¼ and the old 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

BOUGHT STOCKS ON STRENGTH OF BANK STATEMENT

Wall Street Expects That the Surplus Reserve Is Replenished.

THE MARKET WAS LED BY ST. PAUL

Missouri Pacific and Rock Island Were Also Conspicuous. United States Steel Corporation Securities Were Active.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 19.—If tomorrow's bank statement does not make a strong showing, speculators who bought stocks today will be disappointed. The buying was based on the expectation that the surplus reserve of the banks has been replenished as a result of the week's events. The publication of the usual preliminary estimates of the cash movements of the week somewhat chilled the hope of a good bank statement, as a decrease in cash reserves of upward of $3,000,000 was indicated. Of this amount the sub-treasury has absorbed some $2,000,000, including deposits of currency for telegraphic transfer to the interior.

The regular movement by express on routine banking operations makes up the rest, but it is not improbable that there have been special movements of money not included in these routine operations. The shipment of several million dollars from Chicago reported as made last Saturday might figure as such a transaction, and other reports have come from other interior centers of various amounts shipped to New York to take advantage of the prevailing high rates for call loans.

It is never possible to forecast accurately the changes in the loan item, but it is confidently believed in the street that there has been a large contraction in the loan account during the week.

St. Paul the Leader.

The payment of subscriptions on the Oregon Short Line bond issue on Monday would result in some loan contraction. The engagements of gold during the week also figure as a transfer of loans from the local banks to foreigners.

The stock market has not reflected any heavy liquidation during the week. The steadiness of the call money market today in face of the demand for loans to carry over until Monday was strong indication that the position of the banks is strengthened.

The leader of the market today was easily St. Paul, which was 5½ points over last night at one time, with a sympathetic effect on the whole list. The movement was unexplained, but the early tendency of Missouri Pacific to keep it company revived rumors of an alliance between the two systems. There was a setback in Missouri Pacific when the July statement of earnings appeared, showing a decrease in net of $263,196. The stock lost most of its gain and the other southwesterns turned rather heavy in sympathy.

Rock Island Conspicuous.

The unfavorable cotton reports were also an influence upon that group. The fact that a 4 per cent dividend is included in the price of St. Paul was given as an argument for its strength and the old comparison with the price paid for Burlington, which was 200, was also revived. The continued rise above 200 of Rock Island furnished an additional parallel. The latter stock was conspicuous for the number of cash transactions, as the right of exchange into new securities expires tomorrow and there is no stock delivery on the exchange on Saturday.

The contracts for the new securities were active and strong on the curb. The reversal by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals of the vice chancellor's decision against the stock conversion and bond issue plan of the United States Steel Corporation caused a spurt in its securities.

The Pennsylvania group was strong and Canadian Pacific showed the effect of continued large earnings. The upward movement of a number of minor industrials was due to special causes. Considerable realizing was accomplished on the advances and the market closed irregular and below the best.

The bond market was quite active and strong, especially for the Consolidated Tobacco 4s. Total sales, par value, $3,670,000. United States refunding 2s, the new 2s, new 4s and 5s advanced ¼ and the old 4s ¼ per cent on the last call.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says: Pool and clique operators and their following among the traders resumed operations on rather an extensive scale in the stock market yesterday. There was a substantial increase in the volume of business and prices scored general advances, some of which, and that of St. Paul, of more than 5 per cent were of notable proportions.

The advances were unaccompanied by any marked change in the money situation, except such as resulted from sympathetic influences, but there were a number of satisfactory developments, which encouraged the professional operators, and the banking interests showed no disposition, as earlier in the week, to check the reviving speculation.

The chief influencing factor in the market was probably the steadiness of the money market about the rates of the preceding day. All the loans made Friday carry over until Monday. The leaders argued that the steadiness foreshadowed a relatively more favorable bank statement.

The decision of the court of errors and appeals of New Jersey in favor of the conversion plan, in one of the impending actions, had a favorable effect on sentiment, and was regarded as foreshadowing a satisfactory outcome for the company in other litigation.

The announcement that Secretary Shaw was to increase the public deposits by $10,000,000 was regarded with much satisfaction.

The spectacular performance of St. Paul, however, had more to do with stimulating the market than any of the news developments. The stock from the outset was made the feature of what appeared to be a concentrated movement. The street credited the activity to aggressive operations by the Standard Oil party, and in quarters which are regarded as generally well informed on the subject the belief was not discredited.

The activity of Missouri Pacific, coincidentally with St. Paul, led to the revival of reports of closer alliances between the two properties. This was denied by St. Paul interests, and Missouri Pacific, though active, made but trifling response to the bullish information with which the pool flooded the street.

London prices came lower quite uniformly throughout the international list. Foreigners again sold on balances, putting out, according to report, about 18,000 shares, made up of St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Atchison and Southern Pacific. A feature of the list trading was the activity of United States Steel common and preferred. Both stocks were bought by traders on the favorable news from Trenton.

The Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Coffee futures opened steady, with prices unchanged to five points lower, the decline being a matter of sympathy with cables. Europe and the bull leaders were light buyers during the forenoon and prominent local spot houses the chief sellers. Afternoon business was fair with the close steady. Importers offered September and October freely at five points under last night, but found few takers. The market closed quiet, with prices

Local Stock Market Was Less Active, but Prices Were Higher

MORE BOOMS BROKE OUT IN BANK ISSUES

Several Reached New High Records, While Others Made Big Gains.

U. S. STEELS STRONG ON WINNING SUIT

Common Stock Sold Over 2,300 Shares—Electrics Rallied—Bull Tips on Equitable Trust—Window Glass Lower.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was less active than during the two preceding days, but the tone was, as a whole, considerably firmer and prices at the close exhibited decidedly more gains than they did declines. The features were again in the banking group, with another added in U. S. Steel issues. In the banking group three issues sold at new high prices and four advanced to new high records bid. While the recent favorites still attracted much attention there were evidences of a boom breaking out in some issues that have been neglected for some time. The three banks which sold at new high records were Columbia National, which opened at $395 and closed at $403, an advance of $13. After the sale the stock was bid up $4 more to $407 without offers. Diamond National sold at $440, an advance of $13 50, and closed strong at $441 bid, with offers at $450. North American Savings opened at $120 and made a new high record by selling a small lot at $123 50. The close was firm at $122, an advance of $4 for the day. Enterprise National at $115. Farmers Deposit National at $1,400, Federal National at $144, Peoples National at $450 and Real Estate Trust at $317, closed firm and unchanged, though Enterprise National was $3 higher at $118 bid at the close. Cosmopolitan National bank was $1 lower at $108, while Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust, which advanced $1 to $255 Thursday, thereby making a new record, was $5 lower yesterday at $250. There was evidence of a new boom in Allegheny Trust Company, which advanced $5 to $160, and in American Trust Company, which was $2 higher at $125 at the close. The newest boom, however, appeared near the close in an issue which has been neglected for several months, which has been a source of surprise to a good many knowing ones. This was in Equitable Trust Company, which at one time sold at $190 and was afterward bid up to $191. The last sale previous to yesterday was May 15 at $165, since which time there have been only one two quotations on the stock. For the last few days there has been a standing bid of $165, with offers at $175. Yesterday, shortly before the close, an order appeared on the market and one house got 80 shares, paying $179 for 30 and $179 50 for 50, the close being an advance of $5 50 for the day. It is stated by an official that the company is now and has been for some time earning at the rate of 16 per cent per annum on its capital stock, though it only pays a regular annual dividend of 6 per cent. Within the last few days it is reported that private sales have been made at about yesterday's figures, and it is also said that some kind of a deal looking towards a merger or combine of some sort has been discussed, but President Sproul when questioned about this would only admit that some suggestion or plan had been mentioned to him. He, however, confirmed the statement of the earnings of the company. There are tips out that the stock is on its way easily to $200, while some say it may go to $250. Its price, based on its earnings, is certainly not on a parallel with other institutions of the kind. In the industrials the feature was in United States Steel common, which was strong and active, though the close was ¼ lower at 41¾, leaving a gain for the day of ⅝. The advance was due to an announcement that the court of errors at Trenton had reversed the decision of Vice Chancellor Emory and had given permission to the incorporation to go ahead with their plans, involving the issue of $250,000,000 of bonds and the conversion of $200,000,000 worth of preferred stock into those bonds. There has probably been no greater bull news than this in the market for many long months. It is taken as a indication of how the Northern Securities Company's suit will go and removes from the market a great restraining factor. In the general list Westinghouse Electric seconds were somewhat firmer and closed with a gain of ¾ at 111¾. American Window Glass common was quite dull and somewhat easier at 62, a loss of ¼. Crucible Steel was fairly active and ¾ higher at 23¾, while the preferred was firm and unchanged at 86¼. Pittsburgh Coal common was fairly active and firm, both it and the preferred showing fractional advances. River Coal common was a shade easier. Bonds were dull but steady.

The following is a complete summary of yesterday's official transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. It shows the change in the closing selling prices, compared with the last preceding sales, the total sales of each security, the opening, high, low and closing prices and final bids and offers:

Rails firm. Erie, Harriman says. Union Pacific common will sell at 125. On merit and on prospects it is fully worth this price. Take on Denvers, New York Central, Southern Pacific and soft coalers on any reaction.—Josephs.

We have reason to believe that the copper situation is stronger than it appears on its face and that improvement now going on will soon be reflected in higher prices.

Both Southern Pacific and Atchison are quiet, but being absorbed. I think both are a purchase, especially Atchison. There are large buying orders just under the market.

Directors of National Banks To Discuss Doubling the Capitals.

The board of directors of the Monongahela National bank will hold a meeting next Tuesday, the 23d, to discuss and take action on a plan to increase the capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The business of the bank, which is located at Sixth avenue and Wood street, has grown to such an extent that this step is considered necessary, as it will enable the bank to more properly care for the interests of its patrons and to attend to the demands of its new friends. The announcement that the directors are contemplating such a step will be all the more surprising when it is recalled that the capital was increased early in the year from $250,000 to its present figure of $500,000. The last statement of the bank, just published, shows that it has a surplus fund of $500,000 and undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid, of $38,430 77. The individual deposits amount to $1,771,463 08, while its total resources and liabilities are $4,192,046 02. It was organized May 1, 1883. The officers and directors now are: President, James W. Grove; cashier, John D. Fraser; directors, Mr. Grove, Theophilus Sproull, C. C. Hax, Andrew J. Armstrong, Alex. M. Scott, George M. Jones, Thomas J. Stevenson, Charles A. Jamison and John D. Fraser. It has not yet been determined at what price the new stock will be issued, but it is understood that it will be about $300 per share, par value being $100 per share. The difference between the par value and selling price, $200, will be applied to the surplus, making that item $1,500,000. The stock sold September 12 at $285, and that price was bid for more. The bank now pays 8 per cent per annum.

It is reported on excellent authority that prominent interests have practically secured control of the Fifth Avenue bank, and that plans are under way to largely increase its business. It is understood that the capital will be increased either from $100,000, as it now stands, to $250,000 or $500,000. The par value of the stock is but $50 a share, and the last sale was in June, at $70, but $80 has been bid within the last day or two. Knowledge of the proposed change is probably the cause of the advance in the stock. The bank pays 6 per cent annually in dividends. It is located at 1549 Fifth avenue. Its officers are H. H. Niemann, president; J. H. Aufderheide, vice president, and L. G. Klauss, cashier. The directors are these and H. E. White, Sr.; Peter Gettman, G. F. Kim, J. R. Voskamp, A. H. Riesmeyer, George Toerge and John C. Kohne.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

In Calhoun county, W. Va., the Berea grit development on Yellow creek, Center district, is making a creditable showing. Few of the wells have proven failures and the producers show an average of about 30 barrels a day. The best producer found in the district has just been drilled on by the Yellow Creek Oil Company and is this company's No. 6 on the Bennett heirs' farm. The well produced 140 barrels the first 24 hours after being drilled into the pay.

When this pool was discovered, more than a year ago, it was regarded as a Ganis sand development, and it was not until some time later that the first well was drilled deeper and the lower formation found to be the more productive. The Berea grit wells have very good staying qualities and those who held on to their leases after the Gant zsand proved a failure, stand a good chance to make a winning.

On Big Knot run, Ritchie county, the production of the Keener sand gushers is still outstanding between 1,500 and 2,200 barrels a day. Shooting the John Freeland No. 1 and No. 1 Elroy Wagner in on Wednesday brought the aggregate output of the 12 wells up to the figures last named, as shown by the gauge yesterday. Of this total Mallory Bros. & Co.'s four wells on the Freeland farm furnished 1,050 barrels, and the Three Jows Oil Company's four wells on the Wagner farm 750. The Drillers Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 2 on the George Ryan farm are producing 250 barrels a day. The South Penn Oil Companies Morgan-Hemsworth No. 1, 100 barrels, and Fla., the South Penn Oil Company has completed No. 6 S. K. Wetricks and has a 20-barrel producer in the fourth sand.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Quotations all held steady and without change yesterday. Receipts were moderate and were easily absorbed by the demand. Corn continues to rule high, with not much offering.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 10 cars hay, 2 cars corn, 2 cars rye, 1 car corn and oats, 5 cars oats, 1 car feed, 1 car wheat; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car rye; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 2 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 1 car oats. Total receipts, 29 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw, corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Straw—Oat, $7 00@7 50; wheat, $7 00@7 50; rye, $8 50@9 00.

KILLIAN TO ASK PARDON BOARD TO RELEASE HIM

TWO MASKED BURGLARS ESCAPED

Peter Griffin and "New York Shine" Were Never Captured. Killian Serving a Life Sentence. Lawyers and Detectives Dead.

Attorney Rody P. Marshall will apply to the pardon board during its October session for the release of Alexander Killian, serving a life sentence in the Western penitentiary for the sensational murder of Mrs. Ann Rudert, at Tarentum, during an attack by three masked robbers on her husband's jewelry store the night before Christmas, 1889. Killian was defended by "Glorious Old Tom" Marshall and his son, T. M. Marshall. Nearly every person connected with this famous case has died. District Attorney Johnston, Detective Gilkinson, Thomas Marshall and Patrick Fitzgerald, and most of the members of the jury that convicted him have passed away.

Of the three men, "New York Shine," a negro, and Peter Griffin, an escaped convict, have never been captured, while it is asserted by Attorney Marshall that the third man is also missing and has never been apprehended. He alleges that Killian was not guilty and was only convicted on his record, and the fact that he had been given jewelry by one of the men for the use of his skiff.

Griffin's Utter Disappearance.

Griffin disappeared as though the earth had swallowed him, and is still at liberty. He had escaped from Dixmont, where he was feigning insanity by sawing through a bar of his cell, shortly before the robbery and murder.

Killian had been a convict. His confession at the time, that he knew the men who committed the crime, the fact that his skiff was used, and an old satchel was found in his joboat across the river, together with jewelry, which he acknowledged having buried on the river bank, were used as evidence against him.

Mrs. Rudert was shot in the window of the jewelry store about 9 o'clock on the evening of December 24, 1889. Just before the robbery three masked men ran up the main street of Tarentum, turned into the jewelry store and while one commanded Paul O. Rudert, the owner, to hold up his hands, another broke in the window and still another, all wearing red and white handkerchiefs as masks, scooped in the contents of the window. Mrs. Rudert ran toward them while Mr. Rudert ran back for his revolver and came on the scene just as one of the thieves shot Mrs. Rudert through the head, killing her instantly.

Killian Had to Suffer.

The following day Killian was arrested at his boat across the river. He was seen to bury jewelry on the river bank. He told Coroner McDowell his story and afterward reiterated it on the witness stand. Killian said that Griffin came to him to borrow his skiff to bring two friends across the river. He refused to lend it to him, but was finally persuaded, on the promise that no crime would be committed. Late that night the man returned, told Killian his skiff was down the river with a broken oar, and gave him some jewelry to pay him for it. He thought something was wrong, and buried the jewelry, because he did not want to be caught with it in his possession. He proved a fairly good alibi, saying he had not been in Tarentum that evening, but was at home. After he was arrested, an old satchel was found in his cabin, but he said he bought it at Pittsburgh and used it to sell silver wash, which he manufactured himself.

Got Life Imprisonment.

The jewelry turned out to belong to Rudert, and Killian was convicted of murder in the first degree. Tom Marshall always believed him innocent, and after the hardest kind of work by T. M. Marshall, Jr., his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

ASSAULTED YOUNG GIRL.

Mt. Washington Shoemaker Convicted of a Serious Offense—Doctor's Fine Remitted.

Dr. Charles Gangloff was fined $10 and costs in criminal court yesterday for failing to appear as a witness in the case against Benjamin F. Rollins. Later, however, the fine was remitted. Dr. Gangloff gave the court a suitable excuse for not being present.

Rollins was called for trial late Wednesday afternoon to answer for a serious offense alleged to have been committed on May Kruger, aged 13 years, of Mt. Washington. It developed during the trial that the child was sick as a result of Rollins' action, and that Dr. Gangloff attended her.

Dr. Gangloff testified that the child's sickness was due to a gunshot wound, but Assistant District Attorney William D. Grimes produced witnesses who testified that he had told them otherwise. The case was continued yesterday morning. Dr. Gangloff was wanted again but he failed to appear. An attachment was issued, with the above results.

Rollins, who is over 50 years of age, was convicted, and will be sentenced next week.

Rodger Fenny was convicted of a charge of robbery preferred by Andrew Logan, but sentence was not imposed. The defendant was tried for the same offense March 6, but the jury failed to agree, and he was to be given a new trial. Shortly before the day set for the trial Logan, who is a railroad brakeman, had his right leg cut off in a wreck and the case was postponed. Yesterday, after a period of seven months had elapsed, he was present to prosecute the case.

Fenny was accused of assaulting the prosecutor on Bedford avenue February 8 and robbing him of $40.

SAYS IT WAS NO SECRET.

Defendant in a Suit Alleges That the Plaintiff Imposed Upon Him.

An answer was filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 2, in the suit of Thomas Wendling against Alford G. Wormser, an action to recover $500 on two notes.

It is alleged the plaintiff claimed to possess a secret method of manufacturing a varish for asbestos cloth, when it was agreed that the defendant should form a company. To protect the plaintiff, the defendant alleges, he gave him the two notes. Wormser says that after an investigation he found the same prescription was being used by numerous other manufacturers, and that he refused to have anything to do with it.

Desertion and Surety Cases.

The following desertion and surety of peace cases will be heard in criminal court this morning: Charles F. Patton, James Steen, B. Cody, James McRoberts, John R. Rhoams, Harry W. Hart, Harry W. Hart.

DENIED HE WAS SHORT.

Hearing in Suit in Which Partners Accused Manager of Owing $5,200.

Judge R. S. Frazer held a hearing in the equity case of Fred O. Harley against Samuel H. McKain, Dr. W. W. McCleary and A. M. McKain, to obtain an accounting of the affairs of the Lincoln Avenue Pharmacy, Ltd., of Bellevue. The testimony heard was similar to that set forth in the bill and the answer filed some time ago.

Harley was deposed as a member of the firm, and his business associates accuse him of being short $5,200. Harley denied this, and claimed his partners threatened him and never gave him an opportunity to make an account.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

R. Lindsay Coolman, Albert A. Pope and John A. Miller were appointed receivers in the case of the American Wood Rim Company against the American Cycle Manufacturing Company in this district.

A petition was presented in quarter sessions court by a number of property holders of the McMunn estate for annexation to Crafton borough, in accordance with an order passed by the borough council. The property consists of about 15 acres and adjoins the borough.

A petition was filed in common pleas court No. 2 for the appointment of a sanitary agent for Stowe township in accordance with a resolution passed by the school board. It is stated smallpox is prevalent in the township and it is necessary to guard against an epidemic.

In the case of the Mercantile Trust Company against the Pittsburgh & Western Railway Company, L. F. Lowe filed a petition asking that he be discharged as receiver of the defendant company and allowed $4,000 as compensation. His prayers were granted by the court.

In the United States district court, a petition in bankruptcy was filed against J. A. Dewar of Finleyville, Washington county, by certain of his creditors, who allege that he allowed judgments to be obtained against him while insolvent and that his property was levied upon by the sheriff.

An answer was filed to the petition of Margarette Glimber to get possession of Clara Schwab, a minor, from Joseph Middler and wife. The latter deny they are restraining the child of her liberty, and say they obtained possession of her from an adopted daughter of the petitioner.

An answer was filed by Murdoch, Kerr & Co. to the bill in equity of Sarah E. Leiter to compel the defendant to keep iron shutters closed. The defendant says the shutters are of wood covered with tin, and that they are strongly fastened. It is denied the firm's employes throw rubbish out of the window.

In the United States circuit court testimony was taken before Examiner H. D. Gamble in the equity suit of John H. Rising against the Twyford Vehicle Company, an action to compel the defendant company to give an account of their financial standing. Rising is a stockholder in the company and alleges its affairs have not been properly conducted.

Executions were issued as follows: Pennsylvania Loan association vs. James Taylor, $942; William J. Sheridan vs. E. M. Stone, $259 18; George Eckert vs. Charles Gardner, $65; Dr. George L. Ahlers vs. same, $142 32; Leopold Vilsack vs. Isabella Kelly et al., $11-371 50; Thomas M. Tobin vs. Theresa Pfeilhof, administrator, $1,027 80; John W. Bowser vs. Ludwig or Lewis Hamm, $546 83; Charles W. Jones, use, vs. John K. Mackeral, $1,690 26; W. T. Pierce vs. Robert T. Thuma et al., $7,270.

Penrose the Friend of Temperance.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The eighteenth annual convention of the Lawrence County Women's Christian Temperance union closed a two days' session tonight. More than 100 delegates were present. The women indorsed United States Senator Boies Penrose, saying he had always used his best endeavors for temperance legislation. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. H. E. Butler; vice president, Miss Belle Braham; recording secretary, Mrs. Susan Lechner; treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Cooper.

Reform Strikes New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Mayor Jackson and Chief of Police Horner today began a crusade against vice. All disorderly houses are to be abolished. The police were instructed to notify the keepers of unlawful places to close and vacate at once.

THE CONSCIENCE OF THE POWERS STIRRED BY HAY

Great Britain First to Answer His Note, and Falls Into Line.

THE FIRST STEP IS TO GET INFORMATION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—So far only one answer to the state department's identical note to European powers concerning the Roumanian Jews has come to hand. This was from Great Britain and consisted of a brief acknowledgment with a promise to look into the subject matter, which promise appears to have been kept by the prompt issue of an invitation by Great Britain to Germany to open negotiations on the subject.

It is presumed that the other nations addressed will return their acknowledgements shortly. If they all are of the same mind as England, it may be that a conference will be called of representatives of the powers signatory of the treaty of Berlin to bring pressure to bear upon Roumania to live up to her obligations under that treaty.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The British foreign office this evening gave the Associated Press authority to announce that his majesty's government had communicated with all the signatory powers of the Berlin treaty with a view to developing their attitude and purpose in relation to the Roumanian Jews, as called to the attention of the powers by Secretary Hay.

America Given Full Credit.

One of the highest officials of the foreign office said:

"It should be understood that our action follows and supplements the action taken by the American government, which is entitled to full credit for seeking to alleviate the condition of those oppressed people. Mr. Hay's note was addressed to all the signatory powers, and now Great Britain desires to ascertain how the others feel on the suggestions made and what action is to be taken."

PARIS, Sept. 19.—Max Nordau, vice president of the congress of Zionists, said today of Secretary Hay's note:

"It is magnificent. After a period of darkness, during which America seemed to be immersed in Monroeism and the furtherance of her own material interests, she has stepped forward and taken a glorious step in behalf of suffering humanity. She has torn the mask from Europe's face.

"Secretary Hay's circular compels the European powers who signed the treaty of Berlin to do their duty or stand convicted of conniving at the extermination of a quarter of a million of my brethren by the barbarians of Roumania.

"Secretary Hay's note must bear fruit. Europe must now recall to Roumania the fulfillment of her duties and obligations, or bear the open shame."

Powers Will Seek Information.

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—The protest of the United States on behalf of the Jews of Roumania was received in official circles with mingled feelings. It is admitted that the position of the United States is just, but it is argued that the conditions in the Balkans at the time of the signing of the Berlin treaty and now are two entirely different matters.

It is considered probable that the first step of the powers will be to instruct their representatives at Bucharest to furnish precise information as to the present condition of the Roumanian Jews. Meanwhile, Austrian officials are sceptical of any good resulting from the intervention of the United States.

The Deutches Volksblatt, an anti-semite organ, characterizes the note of the United States as "impertinent meddling in affairs which are no concern of hers." The Neue Freie Presse blames the signatory powers for their failure to enforce the provisions of the Berlin treaty, and adds:

"That it is reserved to America to admonish the European powers concerning the obligations to civilization is cruel irony to the pride of European humanity, which has bowed itself so impotently and pitiably before Roumania's barbarities."

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—The better class of Berlin newspapers today represented by the Vassische Zeitung and the Tageblatte, applaud Secretary Hay's note. The anti-semitic journals dispose of the note with scornful paragraphs. The Neueste Nachrichten asks: "Why does not the United States meckle Russia, which treats the Jews much worse?"

Nine Drowned in Ship Collision.

LISBON, Sept. 19.—The French steamer Thomas sank a harbor steamer here today. Nine persons were drowned.

Weather—Fair. Saturday, Sept. 20, 1902.

The B. & O. and the P. & L. E. railroads will bring out-of-town people to the Exposition today. There will be crowds. Lots of people want to hear that famous women's orchestra. After doing the Exposition give some little time to the sights of this store. The display of Autumn fashion is worth it.

Open Today Until 6 P. M.

for the first Saturday in over two months. The store is full of delightful Autumn fashions—especially in the women's Wrap and Suit Departments of the second floor, and the Millinery department of the third floor.

No day like Saturday for seeing what is new.

Children's Millinery.

We are going to make a spread today on children's millinery. Will you bring the girls, big and little, and let them tell you what they like?

The trimmed Millinery for girls is especially fine, and so very becoming.

We are especially proud of the display of children's broad brim Hats—those snappy felt and velvet hats with great long streamers. Have them in all colors, $3.50 and $4.50.

Then there is a great new lot of boys' and girls' Tams. This fashion for the very young people will never lose its popularity. Assorted plain colors to match coats. 75c, 85c, $1.

For the bigger boys, nobby new Automobile Caps, $1 and $1.25. And the Golf Caps at 35c, 50c, 75c and $1.

And we would like women to take some time today for looking over the new styles from Paris, and also what our own milliners have created.

Lots of cloth and felt Street Hats, those broad brimmed flats trimmed with wings, full of style, $3.50, $5, $8 and $10.

Women's tailor-made Cloth Toques, dainty and pert, at such considerate prices at $2.50 and $5.

Heavy Cotton Waists.

One of the best things about these cloth waists is that you can wash them just as often as you think they need it. No wool about them, and yet they are comfortably warm.

New ones of basket weave cloth, tucked front and plain back, tucks stitched with black, and only $1.25 to pay.

Of this new style waist we have complete lines vestings, Bedford cords, panamas, basket weaves and oxfords, ranging from 95c to $6 each.

Special Sale of Keiser Barathea Silk Four-In-Hands for Men.

We bought and will have on sale today about one hundred dozen Four-in-Hands to sell at the very special price, for this grade of neckwear, 50c each.

The identical qualities and patterns as used in all $1 neckwear. The only difference is in the quality of lining.

Colors are light, medium, dark, black, white.

They are not to be duplicated anywhere either in quality or variety, for a like price.

Football Requisites.

About the Balls first. We have Spalding's Footballs, as well as other good balls not so well known, and the prices range from 75c easily along to the finest for $4.

Speaking of that $4 Football, it is the genuine inter-collegiate ball, and a better pig skin was never seen in a football.

Boys and Their New Fall Suits.

A suit for less than $5 isn't of much account. Some of the $5 suits are pretty trashy, too. But we have a suit for that price that we dare say it would trouble you to duplicate for less than $7.50. It was made for romping boys, hard-on-their-clothes boys.

Made of different excellent cloths, all the colors boys like, seat and knees of trousers doubled. The coat is double breasted.

All the different styles in a price range from $6 to $12.50, including the swell Norfolk suit and single-breasted coats with vests.

We venture to suggest to parents that they never saw a larger or more complete assortment of clothes for boys since they had put their boys in knee trousers.

Latest Styles in Fall Raincoats for Women.

We have always believed that women who like to look smart and neat, even on wet and dreary days when compelled to be out, appreciate efforts to help them to do so. That is why we give so much thought to the style of these raincoats—they're nobby enough for a sunny day.

Our display of new Raincoats is an interesting one, and if you have any notion of a raincoat for this fall our extremely low prices will probably make you a purchaser.

These we are telling you about are made and tailored by men. They represent the newest designs from English cloth mixtures, both smooth and rough, and are absolutely rainproof. You can choose at $10, $12.50, $15 and up to $28.

For the special price of $10 we have a splendid assortment of thoroughly rain-proof Ulsters in mixed cloths; new shapes—a sightly garment that others sell for a great deal more money. But we bought them favorably, therefore the benefit is yours.

"THE BIG STORE"

COPYRIGHT 1902 BY C. L. BOSTON

A Quarter of a Million Invested In Clothing Made By the Crack Manufacturing Tailors of the Country.

If our stock were merely the largest in the city, we should not for that reason consider ourselves entitled to your patronage. The fact of the matter is, we keep no bigger stock than we have to. If that means a stock three times larger than any other in this city, it is because our clothing business is treble that of the next largest house. This, however, is a mere incident, indicating only that this is the favorite "Men's Store" in Pittsburgh. The part that interests you most is the QUALITIES—AND THE PRICES. Our immense outlet enables us to sell the best qualities for the same prices asked elsewhere for medium qualities, and the medium qualities for no more than others ask for shoddy, which latter, by the way, is excluded from our stock altogether. Take, for instance, those

New Fall Suits and Top Coats At $8.50 and $10.

They are what other dealers call their "FINE" goods, and which they have ticketed $12 and $15. They are All-Wool, to be true, such as Fancy and Black Cheviots, Fancy Mixed Oxfords, Fancy and Black Worsteds, etc., in Suits; and Light Colored Whipcords and Herringbones, Plain Black Cheviots, Oxford Greys, etc., in Overcoats—good and dependable, but scarcely "fine." If you want truly FINE and FASHIONABLE Clothing, then try on some of our Custom Tailored Suits & Top Coats at $15, $18, $20, $25 & $30.

These are the very acme of quality and style—garments on par with the most expensive Suits and Overcoats made to measure by the first tailors in the East. We invite every fastidious and particular dresser in town to call and try on a few of these garments.
